REMEMBER AND FORGET.

BY MONROE H ROSENFELD.

Remember all the pleasant hours
That dawned our lives to bless;
Remember all the joys and flow'rs
And words of tenderness.
But all the sadness and the pain,
The dreary, dark regret,
And all the tempest and the rain,
Oh, dearest heart, forget!

CHORUS:

Oh, days will come and days will go,
And tides will ebb and tides will flow;
Remember all the joys that glow,
But all the ills forget!

Remember all the cherished dreams
Of love that we have known;
Remember all the sunny gleams
That o'er our hearts have shone;
But all the frowns that come to blight
The moments since we met,
The bitter words, however slight,
O, dearest one, forget!

Remember ev'ry smile so sweet,
Each glance of love divine;
Remember all the bliss complete
That has been yours and mine;
But all the sorrow and the tears
That may our lives beset,
The weariness, the doubts, the fears,
Oh, promise to forget!

JERRY'S SECRET.

BY K. R. K.

On a bitter cold December evening I sat in Pat Murphy's saloon in Stuartville, a little mining village at the foot of Mount Diablo, in California.

At a round table in the middle of the warm room sat six bearded men. The saloon keeper, a middle aged man with a smooth, red, full moon face, leaned over the bar and took part in the talk, which revolved about all sorts of trifles.

Having tried in vain to interest myself in the contents of a greasy newspaper, I turned attention to the conversation.

After a while the door opened, and the new comer was greeted with a loud: "Hello, Jerry, good evening!" Without replying to the greeting the latter unbuttoned his long bearskin overcoat, seated himself with the rest, and ordered a glass of whiskey.

Jerry was a man of about forty; half giant, and passed for a strange fellow. He lived all alone in an old board hut at the end of the village. There he sat every evening at the window and smoked his pipe, but as soon as darkness had set in he went to the saloon, where he generally remained until midnight. Some of his neighbors declared that he was moonstruck. They said at the time of the full moon they had seen how he ascended at midnight to the top of the hill at whose foot his hut stood, and looked for a whole hour on the white streaks of fog which rose in the valley over the San Joaquin River.

Those present, whom the whiskey had already cheered, began to banter Jerry.

"Well, Jerry, what's Jane McDermott doing?" asked John Houlahan.

"What has Jerry to do with Jane?" replied Tom Murray, harmlessly, at the same time winking with one eye.

"You don't know that?" rejoined Houlahan, in an overacted tone. "Every child in the village knows that Jerry, when he comes home from work, always goes astray and regularly, by a very remarkable accident, passes the McDermott house, where every time the pretty widow happens to stand at the window."

By an astonished "Ah!" the others sought to provoke the teased man to speak; but the latter only stared silently and gloomily before him.

"The devil!" began Tom Murray again, "that wouldn't be a stupid trick, for Jane McDermott is a trim little woman, has a neat house, and I know for certain that her late husband left a good number of bright twenties."

"Boys, let's drink to Jerry's speedy entrance into the harbor of matrimony!" cried Frank Moore. "Long life to the couple! Drink with us, Jerry!"

"Go to hell with your damned nonsense!" cried Jerry, fiercely, striking the table with his clinched fist, so that the glasses danced.

"Be quiet, boys," said the saloon keeper. "Don't get so wild all at once, Jerry; it wasn't meant ill. Of course it isn't agreeable when one thinks he's got a little secret, and then finds out that ——"

"Hold your jaw!" broke in Jerry. "I've got no secret—not as you mean!"

"He's got no secret!" whispered John Houlahan.

The others laughed. Jerry wanted to fly in a passion again, but he bethought himself better, and said:

"To make you leave me alone with your damned nonsense, I'll tell you my secret. Fill the glasses first, Pat."

A loud hurrah was the answer; and after the glasses were filled Jerry began:

"I was born in Waterford County, in the South of Ireland, in a little valley near the banks of the Suir. My parents were very poor. The fruits of their sweat were reaped by a wealthy English lord. When I was seven years old I became cowherd for Mr. Walton, a rich farmer. My four older brothers—I was the youngest—were at sea. It was also my greatest wish to be a seaman. But when I was fifteen my father died, and for my mother's sake I remained. When, then, after five years, my mother died too I could have seen my wish fulfilled, but now love kept me back."

"Love!" exclaimed John Houlahan, with a scornful whistle.

Jerry leaned back in his chair and said:

"Very well, then I'll tell no more—I'm not your fool!"

"Hold your bill, John!" cried Frank Moore, angrily, "and let Jerry tell his story!"

The others expressed themselves similarly, and Jerry continued:

"In the Walton house served a girl named Mary McBride. She was the prettiest girl in the whole of the Suir Valley. When I, as a stout fellow of eighteen, entered the kitchen one day and saw her for the first time it seemed to me as if a beautiful vision stood before me. From that moment on I thought only of Mary McBride, dreamed of her, and had but the one longing—always to be near her. I loved her as a man can love so passionately only once in his lifetime. My boldest dream came true—she also loved me. Two happy years passed away for us. Our plan was, as soon as we had the necessary means, to emigrate to America. This, to be sure, didn't go fast. Mary had to support a sickly mother from her wages—her father had been lost at sea—and I earned only a very little. But we were still young, and hope made the future shine for us with a rosy light."

"By thunder! that sounds just as if I had read it somewhere in a novel!" interrupted John Houlahan, laughing.

"All the farm hands at Walton's were jealous of me, but I concerned myself little about it. I could have matched the whole crowd had it come to a fight. It was the third Summer that I had known Mary. Then Ralph, the only son in the family, came home from college to recruit in the fresh country air. He seemed to need it enough. He was about my age, tall and slim, with a sickly pale face. His eyes looked sleepy, and about his lips an expression of pride and contempt was as if frozen fast. His sleepy eyes could glow, however, and his stiff lips give a sweet smile—and that happened as often as he caught sight of Mary. I soon saw this—had to see it—for he was always around her, like a fly around a piece of sugar.

"I called Mary to account, and warned her. She laughed in my face and said: 'You are only jesting, Jerry! You certainly are not really jealous of this frail dandy?'

"No, I wasn't exactly jealous, but the boldness of this dude irritated me, and if he hadn't been my master's son he would already have felt the power of my fists.

"Weeks passed. It had struck me lately that the other farm hands wore malicious and sneering faces in my presence. One evening I entered the kitchen unexpectedly. All the servants sat there talking around the long table. The loud talk and laughter suddenly ceased on my approach. I had distinctly heard the name of my girl mentioned.

"The striking silence and the disdainful smile in the features of every one nettled me, and I asked: 'Who speaks here of Mary McBride, my intended?'

"'May we not speak of the honorable maid?' replied Mike Looney, my most hateful rival, spitefully. 'But if you insist on knowing what we said—we simply remarked that now you would probably marry soon.'

"'And if we did so,' I made answer, 'whose business would it be?'

"'Oh, it's nothing at all to us!' he went on, laughing. 'But we only thought that by such a step you would be doing our young master, Ralph, a great favor.'

"I didn't guess what he was driving at and replied: 'What do you mean by that?'

"'Well,' he said, not addressing me, but the others, 'I think the child ought to have—a father—a name!'

"Now I understood him, and was at once as if paralyzed. My knees shook, and the blood shot hot into my temples. I was obliged to hold fast to the corner of the table. Then I was seized with an ungovernable desire to knock down the slanderer with my fist. A push and the table fell to the floor with a crash. The farm hands had sprung back frightened, and now raised their fists threateningly. But that wouldn't have stopped me; I would have fought them all, if the thought hadn't flashed through me: 'What if it was true!'

"Mike Looney, who had cowardly crept away behind the others, saw that his words had struck home. 'If you won't believe me,' he said, 'hide yourself sometimes in the washhouse, and if you are lucky you will see your Mary hugged and kissed by some one who surely isn't called Jerry.'

"I rushed out, followed by the scornful laughter of my companions.

"It was a quiet Summer's night. The moon had already risen, but still stood behind the mountains, whose shadows lay over the valley. As I approached the wing of the house in which the maid servants had their rooms Ralph Walton met me. I stopped, and the thought flashed through my brain to clutch him by the throat and call him to account. As if he had foreseen my intention he quickened his steps and disappeared through a side door. While I still stood on the same spot the door of the maid servants' quarters opened noiselessly, and a white figure stepped into the open air. In spite of the darkness I recognized Mary. She hastened over the court towards the outbuildings. I glided after her. She stopped at the entrance to a coach house, in the upper story of which were the bedrooms of the men. So she was looking for me. I also approached the entrance, and when she recognized me she said in a somewhat excited tone: 'You are the very one I want to see, Jerry; I have something to say to you. Come with me to your room!'

"As if confused by a dream, I went ahead up the stairs to my little room, where I lit a candle.

"Mary had stopped at the door. She held one hand concealed under her apron, and pulled with the other, embarassed like, on her bodice; at the same time she looked down steadily.

"'What do you wish?' I asked, at last.

"Surprised, almost frightened, she looked up; indeed, my voice sounded strange to me myself.

"'Jerry,' she began, timidly, 'you know we wanted to go to America as soon as we could—as soon as we had the money for traveling together?'

"'Very true,' I replied, eyeing her fixedly.

"'Here it is,' she said, drawing her hand from under the apron and laying a number of gold pieces on the bed.

"I was thunderstruck; the thoughts whirled in confusion through my head; then I remembered the words of Mike Looney, the scornful laugh of the others, and I cried out hoarsely:

"'Where did you get the money, Mary?'

"Mary didn't answer. A dark flush shot into her cheeks, and when she then looked at me bashfully she turned very pale.

"'Mary,' I began again, and was surprised myself at the calmness with which I spoke these words—'speak, Mary, is the money from Ralph Walton?'

"She remained silent. Her lips quivered like a child's, when it's on the point of crying. It told me enough.

"A hot fury boiled up in me. Scarcely knowing what I did, I snatched up the gold pieces, and with the words, 'Vile wretch!' threw them with all my might into the girl's face.

"She staggered back against the wall, her head fell on her bosom, but not a sound came from her lips. I shook like in a fever, and had to lean on the bedpost for support.

"Finally Mary slowly raised her head. Her face was deadly pale. On the left temple a dark drop of blood trickled down. Without looking up, without saying a word in reply, she walked away.

"As if bewildered, I sat on the edge of my bed and mechanically counted the gold pieces scattered on the floor.'

"'Didn't you pick them up? How many was there?' John Houlahan interrupted the narrator.

Jerry looked at the questioner a moment with flashing eyes, and then said:

'Take care, John—if you interrupt me again I'll fling this glass at your head! Do you understand?'

Then he continued:

'The candle was almost burnt out when the door opened, and Mary again entered. She eyed me so strangely that I was nearly frightened.

"'Jerry,' she said, in a low tone, 'I will tell you how I came by the money. I received it from Ralph Walton. Since the first day of his presence here he has persecuted me with shameless propositions. I hated him, and more than once I struck him in the face when he came too near me. One day he said to me: 'Don't be so coy, Mary; all I ask is only a little kiss now and then. I'll tell you what, for every kiss I will give you a gold piece—a bright gold piece!'—a bright gold piece! I had never possessed one. Then I thought how long one must work—work hard to earn such a gold piece—almost a whole year! Above all I thought of you, Jerry—of you, of our love, of our plan of emigrating to America, and—I took the gold. I didn't think it was wrong—I swear it to you by the Holy Virgin, Jerry, I didn't know that. Can you forgive me, Jerry?'

"I hardly minded her last words. A boundless jealousy had seized me. I raved and overwhelmed her with abusive words, as my blind rage suggested them to me. She should disappear from my sight, I would go to sea and never set eyes on her again.

'She leaned against the wall, as if broken. Not a whisper came from her lips. Finally, she straightened herself, and, without looking up, tottered out of the room.

"In an instant I felt as if I must call her back, as if I couldn't let her go so. But my wretched anger hadn't cooled yet and kept me from moving from the spot. I heard how she stopped below—heard her heavy breathing, as if choked with sobs—already I wanted to spring after her; then she went on, and I let her go.

"The completely burnt down candle flickered up once more and went out. I threw myself on the bed. The other farm hands came stamping up the stairs. I heard them talking and laughing in their rooms a while longer, then all gradually grew still.

"No sleep would come to my eyes. A strange uneasiness took possession of me. I continually saw before me Mary's white face, with the dark streak of blood on the temple—saw her eyes fixed so strangely on me. My anger cooled and not till now did I remember what I had said to her. I trembled with fright. In my blind rage I had mortally insulted her by my rude words—the girl who had sinned only out of love for me. These thoughts left me no more peace; I must go to her and beg her pardon.

"I slipped softly down the stairs, over the court to her window, and knocked on the panes. When nothing stirred, I knocked louder. Mary didn't appear. I couldn't blame her for being angry at me and not wishing to come to the window. I stood on my tiptoes and looked into the room. The moon shone brightly on the white linen of the bed; it was untouched—the room was empty.

"My heart began to beat violently. I hastened over the court in search of Mary. Near the hedge fence I thought I noticed a form. When I hurried there it was only the big watchdog, who came up to me wagging his tail. It was a wonderfully calm night. Only the stamping and pawing of the horses in the stalls could be heard, and in the distance the barking of a dog echoed through the whole valley. A sweet odor of hay came from the meadows bordering on the fence, and a white streak of fog, hanging over them, marked the course of the Suir.

"Suddenly I discovered against the white veil a dark shadow, which moved slowly. A terrible suspicion crossed my mind. With a mighty spring I jumped over the fence, and ran as fast as my feet would carry me towards the river. The dark shadow had disappeared. I stopped, and called as loudly as I could: 'Mary!' Only the echo of my own voice answered me.

"I soon stood on the bank. Far and near not a living thing was to be seen. Purling and roaring and playing with the moonlight the waves hurried by. Then, near the bank, something dark rose out of the glimmer.

"A spring, and the cold waters closed over me. I was a good swimmer. I soon reached the object—it was a woman's body. It didn't take me long to land with the burden. The bright moonlight showed me Mary's white face.

'I laid her on the soft slope of the bank. When she then lay there so quiet and motionless a dreadful anxiety seized me, and I gave a far echoing cry. Then I knelt down beside the dear creature, stroked the wet hair from her forehead, and cried and whispered: 'Look at me, Mary—look at me only once!' But the eyelids remained closed. I pressed my ear on her breast, on her heart, and listened, holding my breath. The heart stood still, only my own beat with violent, painful strokes, and I sprang up and roared like a wild beast. I wanted to throw myself into the water. But then I thought again it couldn't be possible, she must wake. Voices struck my ear. I paid no attention to them.

"'He drove her into the water—he's her murderer!' I heard somebody cry out. It was Ralph Walton. A wild rage took possession of me. I sprang at him, grasped him by the breast, and hurled him with a powerful push into the river. The farm hands accompanying him shouted, and one leaped after him.

"'He's mad—bind the murderer!' cried Mike Looney. I felt myself seized by the arms, tore myself with a mighty jerk loose, and plunged headlong into the stream.

"I wanted to die, but the impulse of self preservation was stronger than my will. I reached the other bank and rushed aimlessly on. How I got to Waterford, and from there to Liverpool, I no longer recollect exactly—that time weighs like a dark dream on my memory.

"I became a sailor. But the rough life on the sea didn't please me. When it stormed and roared, and the masts cracked, then it was tolerable; but I could not bear it when the silvery moonlight shone on the murmuring waters. When I, after some years, landed in San Francisco I deserted and became a miner. So—now fill the glasses once more, Pat!"

"Now you know my secret, and the devil take the one who ever comes to me again with his stupid chattering about Jane McDermott?"

The glasses were filled often, for each one wished to prove to Jerry, the poor old boy, his sympathy by a treat.

It was about midnight when the company separated in a very elevated mood, to give expression to which most of the tongues, however, were already too heavy.

A week later it was whispered about that John Houlahan, who was a widower and made love to pretty Jane McDermott in a striking manner, had been wofully beaten by Jerry. Soon afterwards it was said that Jerry and Jane would become a couple before long. The rumor was not a false one, for after six weeks Jerry was a happy husband.

A SURE THING.

"I dunno's as I kin git my money back," said Mr. Cornstossel, as he ruefully rubbed his brow; "but I must say as how I ain't going to recommend any customers to that concern."

"Have you been making investments?"

"I sent a dollar to a man who advertised that he would tell a sure way to make money fast."

"Didn't you get any answer?"

"Yes. He says 'put glue on it.'"

Monday Night's Openings in All the Big Show Towns.

GOLDEN GATE GLEANINGS.

"By the Sad Sea Waves," "May Blossom," "Straight From the Heart," "The Circus Queen," "Where's Matilda?" and "Love in Harness" Make Up the Present List of Attractions.

[Special Dispatch to The New York Clipper].

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 18.—At the Columbia Theatre every inch of seating and laughing room was occupied last night by a well pleased audience, that greeted the first appearance here of Matthews and Bulger in "By the Sad Sea Waves."

MOROSCO'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"Straight from the Heart" pleased a large house last night.

TIVOLI OPERA HOUSE.—In consequence of its great success Geo. Lask's "The Circus Queen" will be retained here until further notice.

NEW COMEDY THEATRE.—Since the departure of amateur companies and amateur society lady actresses, and the advent of popular prices, this cozy theatre has gained a strong foothold with the masses. The welcome sign, S. R. O., has been often displayed during the past fortnight and bids fair to again be seen during the engagement of Clara Thropp and her operatic company, which appeared here last night in "Where's Matilda?" to a delighted audience. Fan souvenir matinees are given here every Saturday, each lady in attendance being presented with a beautiful fan. Bon bons and La France roses are given away on Wednesday and Sunday matinees.

ALCAZAR THEATRE.—In consequence of its great success and large business "The Wife" is retained until further notice. "May Blossom" is underlined for an early production, in which Marion Barney will appear. Florence Bradford appeared in the place of Gertrude Foster.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.—Edwin M. Royle and company, Louis M. Granat, Felix and Barry, and Ray Burton appeared here for the first time on Sunday, 16, to the fullest capacity of the house. Booming business here always.

ALHAMBRA THEATRE.—Robert Downing, George C. Boniface, Moreland and Thompson, the Cuban Opera Co. and Solaret appeared in specialties, to excellent advantage, at a very entertaining performance that opened the second week of Harry Jackson's management. Business is nightly improving.

BALDWIN THEATRE.—The Frawley Company had an overflowing house last night to witness "Love in Harness."

THE CALIFORNIA THEATRE will reopen 23, at popular prices, viz., cheapest seat, 35c.; highest, 50c. The opening bill will be "The Airship."

NOTES.—Irene Franklin and Lottie Rogers are strong favorites at the Olympia Music Hall.....Madge Daley is the new soubrette at Morosco's.....Charley Hall will open his new theatre at San Jose next week.....John Morrissey will have "Hamlet" in vaudeville at the Orpheum.....Lillian Stewart, late of the Corinne Opera Co.; Raymond and La Metts, King and Franks, Sankey Bros., Agnes Castor and Marino were the leading attractions at the Chutes and, with the six baby alligators, the unrivaled Zoo, and occasional balloon ascensions, all tended to attract the thousands that have passed the turnstiles during the past week.....James H. Love has returned to this city, and has gone to the French Hospital to undergo a surgical operation.....A. H. Hagan has organized a gigantic "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co. for a tour through the entire West.....Wallace's Circus, museum, menagerie and Roman hippodrome, larger, and, if possible, greater than ever, opened an eight days season here last Saturday night. The principal performers are the Nine Nelsons, the Angelos, the Seven Stirks, the Ten Dellameads, Mlle. Nordia French, the Sisters Vortex, the Three Petits, and Leon and the singing cattle, Trilby. The horses excel in number and appearance any circus that has hitherto visited the city, barring Chiarini, in "Auld Lang Syne."

FROM OTHER POINTS.

The Masonic Temple Roof Garden, Chicago, Opens for the Winter Season—The Big Cities Offer Nothing New, But Business Continues Big.

[Special Dispatches to The New York Clipper].

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Jubilee week started out with pouring rains, but this merely held the houses down to somewhat near their capacity. Saturday night almost every house in town was turning away crowds. Sunday night the houses were packed and Monday night was the same, a large proportion being strangers.....Modjeska gave an interesting performance at the Grand as Cleopatra, in "Antony and Cleopatra." The Polish actress brought out more of the intellectual side of the Egyptian Queen's character than most of the others who have played that part. The house was filled..... The Masonic Temple Roof Garden reopened for the winter season with no room to spare. Yutakmee's appearance and singing made a hit. Truly Shattuck showed she was still a favorite and Fox and Foxie did some clever tricks.....Julia Marlowe could not do any more business than she did the latter part of the first week and the first part of the second at the Columbia, in "Countess Valeska."..... "Secret Service" continued to pack Powers' as it started in its fourth week....."The Evil Eye," at McVicker's, began the second week to good business.....The Dearborn was filled to the limit by "A Woman-Hater" and vaudeville.....Hopkins' had no room for more. "Blue Jeans" was the drama, and Leonida's dogs and cats headed the specialty list....The Lincoln nearly reached the limit of its capacity with "Hearthstone," Tony Farrell playing the leading part....."Yon Yonson" filled the Alhambra, "Humanity" packed the Adelphi, and the Bijou had no vacant seats when the curtain rose on "How Hopper was Side Tracked."..... "Chattanooga" stirred the blood of big crowds at the Academy....."Held by the Enemy" did quite well at the Lyceum, reopened by the L. J. Howard Stock..... "Always on Time" drew well at the Court.....The Clark Street Theatre threw open the doors again and offered "The Victorian Cross," to a fair crowd.....The Cohans, at the Chicago Opera House; Felix Morris, at the Olympic, and Joseph Hart and Carrie De Mar, at the Haymarket, headed bills which left nothing but standing rooms.....The Great Northern did a big business, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney drew heading the list of performers.....Miaco's "City Club" crowded Sam T. Jack's..... "The Vanity Fair" Co. did a first class business at the Gaiety.....Rayman's Women Burlesquers did fairly well at the Savoy.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 18.—There was a distinct lack of novelty in the bills offered at the theatres last night, and although the attendance was good in the majority of the houses, the aggregate was not very large..... "The Jolly Musketeer" at the Broad, "The Old Homestead" at the Chestnut Street Opera House, "Why Smith Left Home" at the Chestnut Street Theatre, and "Kate Kip, Buyer," at the Walnut, were continued attractions that were well patronized.....The New Park Theatre Stock Co. opened to a well filled house. The company contains excellent material, and gave a capital performance, though the play, Sardou's 'Helena,' is not worthy of much commendation. The scenery and accessories were splendid, and the organization altogether makes a strong bid for popular approval. ....."The Princess Nicotine" was given by the Southwell Opera Co., at the Grand, to good attendance, and those in the cast earned much applause. .....Marie Wainwright, in "Shall We Forgive Her," had a large audience at the National.....The Forepaugh Stock Co., in "Human Hearts," thoroughly deserved the big business which was awarded them yesterday.....The performance of "The Mulligan Guards Ball," at the People's, was well attended..... The stock at the Girard gave an excellent performance of "Mr. Barnes of New York," which delighted a crowded house.....'Northern Lights," by the stock, at the Standard, drew a good house.....Keith's had the usual crowds yesterday, and the splendid vaudeville was highly praised.....A big crowd at the Auditorium greeted Russell Brothers, in "Maids to Order," which scored well.....Dumont's Minstrels had a splendid audience at the Eleventh.....The Gay Masqueraders crowded the Lyceum twice yesterday.....The afternoon and evening attendance was big at the Trocadero, with the Knickerbockers as the attraction.....The European Sensation drew well at the Kensington..... The novel features at the Museum attracted big crowds.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 18.—There was an S. R. O. air about several of this week's openings that looked prosperous. Monday night the theatres had to divide honors and patronage with James Whitcomb Riley, who amused a brilliant audience at Music Hall..... One of the dramatic treats of the year was the presentation of "The Moth and the Flame," at the Grand. Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon are Cincinnati favorites, and Clyde Fitch a playwright whose creations have been given box office as well as critical endorsement. Despite the heavy storm a large audience enthusiastically received the play which Lyceum habitues had praised so highly. There were six curtain calls after the church scene .....W. H. Clarke has joined the opera company and took the role of Mephistopheles in "Faust" at the Auditorium.....There were jammed houses everywhere Sunday.....'Hogan's Alley" stood them up at Walnut Street.....Aisles were crowded with standers at Heuck's, where Weber & Fields' "Pousse Cafe" Burlesque was seen.....The event of the night was the Neill Stock Company's interpretation of "The Senator" at the Pike, where Lila Vane made her first appearance. She was cast for Mabel Denham. The company scored a signal triumph.....At the Star the Brady Stock Company revived "The Corsican Brothers." .... Vaudeville is proving magnetic at Fountain Square, where business is great..... The Tammany Tigers opened well at the People's.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Charles Frohman's Empire Theatre Stock Company opened to a large audience at Rapley's National Theatre, in "The Conquerors," for the first time here. A big week is assured.....The International Grand Opera Co. opened its season last night, at Nixon & Zimmerman's Lafayette Square Opera House, presenting "Carmen," in English, in magnificent style. The house was filled with a brilliant audience..... Stuart Robson, with an exceptionally fine company, began a week's engagement at Luckett & Dwyer's Columbia Theatre, presenting "The Meddler," never heretofore seen in Washington, to a large and well pleased house.....Davis & Keogh's spectacular drama, "Lost in Siberia," inaugurated the opening of Ormund & Butler's Grand Opera House last night, to a very large following. The cheap scale of prices at this house served as a strong magnet, and the play was in every way satisfactory....."When London Sleeps," although frequently seen here before, drew to the capacity of Rapley's Academy of Music, pleasing the clientele, as always heretofore.....The Black Crook Extravaganza Company opened the week at Kernan's Lyceum Theatre, filling the house at the matinee, and standing room only at night.....Jennie Yeamans headed a fine bill at Grieves' Bijou to the capacity both afternoon and night.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 18.—The week opened to average business all along the line. The relapse from the rush of the Fall festivities is over, and the season is on the way for steady business.....The Century had a fine audience on the opening night to see Henry Miller in "The Master." "Heartsease" will be put on in the last half of the week.....At the Olympic Ward and Vokes, in "The Governors," opened to good business.....The Imperial's excellent stock company drew well on the opening night with "The Crust of Society." Minnie Seligman, as Mrs. Eastlake Chapel, is filling one of her old parts.....Another house which was above the average in attendance Sunday and Monday night was the Grand, where the stock company presents "Charley's Aunt." The vaudeville includes Solaret, Sisters Hawthorne, Annie Lints ant others.....Havlin's was well filled to see "The Hear. of Chicago." The mechanical effects pleased the crowd .....The Columbia retains Henry Lee this week, and also features Pauline Hall. Other favorites are Ford and Francis, Hugh Houton, Carr and McCloed, Wills and Loretto, Constantine Sisters and Jess Dandy. The Royal Burlesquers started in a week of good business. The specialties are clever and bright. "An Alderman's Election" is a principal feature.

BOSTON, Oct. 18.—The start in for our amusement week of Oct. 17 was pleasant last night for all interested. On the regular list there were five changes, the list as arranged for the current week being as follows: Grand Opera House, Thos. E. Shea, in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde;" Columbia Theatre, "John Martin's Secret;" Castle Square Theatre "Men and Women;" Hollis Street Theatre, "The Little Minister" (fifth week of Maude Adams); Boston Theatre, second week of "The White Heather;" Park Theatre, "The French Maid;" Tremont Theatre, Frank Daniels, in "The Wizard of the Nile;" Boston Museum, John J. McNally's farce comedy, "A Reign of Error," and at the Bowdoin Square a dramatization of the opera of "Faust."....Keith's Theatre held good paying patronage during the day and night, and the other low priced places drew a fair quota.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 18.—At the Alhambra Theatre Hanlons' "Superba" packed the house twice Sunday. People turned away. Pierrot's "Trip with the Army to Cuba" was neatly rendered in shadow pictures.....At the Davidson Theatre the stock company presented "Alabama," to good houses. Mr. Paulding's Col. Preston drew repeated applause. Miss Robeson, as Carey, was charming.....At the Bijou Theatre "The Commodore" played to full houses at both performances..... The Pabst Theatre Stock Co. played to the usual good houses Sunday in Helgas Hochzeit comedy.....At the Trocadero Theatre burlesque did a land office business.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 18.—In spite of a freezing rain all the houses had big business Sunday.....At the Grand Primrose & Dockstader's Minstrels simply caught the town. In scenic display, vocalism and comedians it is conceded to be the best we have ever had here. Lew Dockstader received an ovation.....At the Orpheum two packed houses saw a strong bill, headed by Towzoon, in Arabs; Mme. Puanka and Favor and Sinclair. .....At the Gillis Ruscoe & Holland's Minstrels played to big business. It sustained its reputation of the best negro minstrels on the road.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 18.—Willie Collier opened at Macauley's to a fair house.....Meffert Stock Co., at the Temple, presented "Camille" yesterday to two moderate audiences.....The Sunday opening at the Avenue of "The Grip of Steel" was good. Last night's attendance was only fair.....Fred. Ri'er's Moulin Rouge Co turned people away Sunday. Last night's attendance was fair.

WASHINGTON.

Seattle.—At the Seattle Theatre the Henderson Company began a four nights' engagement Oct. 12, in repertory. Matthews and Bulger, in "By the Sad Sea Waves," gave immense satisfaction to S. R. O. 10, 11. "The Air Ship" company comes 16-18, Kellar 31

THIRD AVENUE THEATRE.—Lincoln J. Carter's "Under the Dome" company opened a week's engagemen 9, to the usual packed house. "The Heart of Chicago" company did a record breaking business week of 2. Murray & Mack bring "Finnigan's Ball" week of 16. "The South Before the War" is underlined for week of 23.

CORT'S PALM GARDEN is doing immense business with Mantel Sisters, Conchita, Jennie Riggs, Esmeralda Sisters, and Queen City Orchestra.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Business continues good at this house, and the following appear on the bill: Tom Rooney, Tom Martin, Jno. Morrison, Frank Montrose, Willie Mackin, Billy Morse, Wally Watts, Maude Margeson, Eva Brandt, Jessie Forrester, Edith Lawrence, Lillian Howe, Emma Bell, Montgomery and Farrell. John H. Merritt, Miss Billie Carlisle, Nina Farrell.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.—Jim Magrath, Edith Gerald, Theo. Price, Maud Raymond, Wm. Weston, Delray Sisters, Pete Gerald, Guy Durrell, Walter J. Brooks, Geo. Barr, Laura Winston, Carrie La Rose.

HATTIE HOWARD, of the Delmonica Music Hall, Victoria, B. C., who has been confined to her bed for the past few months, is visiting friends in this city,

Spokane.—The fifth annual Spokane fruit fair, which opened Oct. 4 and continues for two weeks, eclipses by far any of the previous efforts, both as to the exhibits and for attendance. The average daily attendance for the first week was fully 10,000. Thousands of visitors from all parts of the country are viewing the fair.

AUDITORIUM.—Fruit fair week, with its thousands of visitors, has resulted in the prevailing attractions drawing big business. The R. E. French Dramatic Company presented "Hands Across the Sea" and "A Fair Rebel," 10, 11, to the full capacity of the house. Matthews and Bulger, in "By the Sad Sea Waves," came 6-8, with matinee to S. R. O. business at each performance. "The Air Ship" played to crowded houses 4, 5

COMIQUE.—Crowded houses ruled week of 3. A novelty satire, "Opinions of the Press," by Pearl and Cassidy, was put on for the first time, and is making a decided hit. The new faces are Emma Cotrely, Antonio Von Gofre, Lillie Wagel, Ira Wolston and Minnie Merle.

COEUR D' ALENE.—The same big business ruled at this house as at the others, when an attractive bill was rendered. This week promises a repeater. The openings are Sadie Taylor, Nick Williams, Zeno, May La Bose and the Verdier Sisters.

ST. LEON'S AUSTRALIAN SHOWS pitched its tents here 4 for a ten days' stay and is doing a good business, giving two performances daily.

MICHIGAN.

Detroit.—At the Detroit Opera House Louis Mann and Clara Lipman will be seen all this week in "The Telephone Girl." The latter half of the past week was taken up by "A Female Drummer," the chief character being taken by Johnstone Bennett. The piece, a musical comedy, has little to recommend it. Miss Bennett makes all she can of her character, and wins praise; but were it not for the brilliant vaudeville talent in it, it must certainly have fallen short of being a success. The attendance averaged fair. Coming: "Shenandoah" 24-29, then follows Henry Miller 31-Nov. 4.

LYCEUM THEATRE.—This week, "Casey's Wife." Last week "On the Wabash" drew out very good attendance. The piece was ably presented, and seemed to please immensely. Next week, "Devil's Island."

WHITNEY'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—This week, "A Guilty Mother." Last week "The Girl I Left Behind Me" was a big drawing card, and the public took to it like any other thing that offered," and filled the house at every performance. The piece was spiritedly presented, and the climaxes were thrilling and effective. Next week, "Have You Seen Smith?"

CAPITOL SQUARE THEATRE.—This week, Sheridan's "Faust" and Metropolitan Burlesquers. Last week this house was dark. Next week, Rose Hill English Folly Co.

WONDERLAND THEATRE AND MUSEE.—Curio hall: Mons Delkano will eat fire and walk on red hot irons with his bare feet; the biograph, with new and interesting pictures. On the vaudeville bill will be the Misses Cook and Clinton, the clever rifle experts; the Morello troupe of acrobats and their dogs, "Bob" and "Pete;" Mazlotta, a musical specialist, and Lotta Gladstone, in unique mimicry and monologue.

Grand Rapids.—At the Powers Opera House "Pudd'nhead Wilson," Oct. 14, 15, played to crowded houses. Coming: "Human Hearts" 25, 26, 'On the Wabash" 27, 28. "Miss Francis of Yale" 29, Minnie Maddern Fiske Nov 3.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"How Hopper Was Side Tracked," Oct. 9-12, played to good business, as did "Humanity" 13-15. Coming: "Daughters of the Poor" 16-19, "Have You Seen Smith?" 20-22.

SMITH'S OPERA HOUSE.—Week 17, the Australian Beauties.

Lansing.—At Baird's Opera House "Pudd'nhead Wilson" came Oct. 10, to fine business. "Cuban Creole" had a poor house 14. "On the Wabash" is billed for 18, Redpath Grand Opera Co. 20.

Kalamazoo.—There have been no attractions since my last report. Coming to the Academy of Music: "The Lost Paradise" 21, "On the Wabash" 26, "Vanity Fair" 27.

OREGON.

Portland.—The Marquam Grand's Fall season will be opened Oct. 13 by Matthews and Bulger, in "By the Sad Sea Waves." Other attractions for the near future are "Sowing the Wind" and Frank Daniels.

CORDRAY'S THEATRE.—The David Henderson Stock Co. closed the second and last week of its engagement 8. The week's business was good. "The Heart of Chicago" opened 9 to a crowded house, many people being turned away. "Under the Dome" comes 16.

PORTLAND INDUSTRIAL EXPOSITION.—Crowds attended nightly week of 3. The engagement of the Hegelmans, aerial artists, has been again prolonged. Sam. Marx's Colored Plantation Co.; Henry Maurice Cannon, flat man, and Bennett's Military Band, of San Francisco, are still among the attractions. The wargraph, by Edward Shields, and songs by Charles H. Whiting, baritone, illustrated by Edward Shields' views, have been nightly attractions since 6. Aimee and Marie Austin, aerialists, begin an engagement 12.

PERCY G. WILLIAMS and Thomas Adams Jr., owners of the property, are booming Sergen Beach, L. I., as a residence district, and state that several members of the profession are already located in that portion of Greater New York. James McIntyre, of McIntyre and Heath, owns the prize residence of the addition, others who are property owners there being Mazus and Mazette, the Brownings, Harry Deaves, Richard J. Knowles, and Sheridan and Forrest. They are making special inducements for professional purchases in the way of liberal terms of payment.

IOWA.

Des Moines.—Foster's Opera House has enjoyed two nights and matinee of Modjeska in repertory, including "Mary Stuart" "As You Like It" and "Cleopatra." Business was fair at advanced prices, Oct. 14, with good matinee and excellent business 15. "Mistakes Will Happen" saw a fair house 12 and a better one greeted "A Texas Steer" 11. Roland Reed, in "The Voyagers," comes 21, "A Milk White Flag" 22

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—"Alone in Greater New York" played to nominal box office receipts 13-15. "Shantytown" saw poor business 10-12. Ferris' Comedians come 17 and week, "Yon Yonson" 28, 29.

Cedar Rapids.—At Greene's Opera House, Oct. 11, "Mistakes Will Happen" pleased a large audience, who thought the play and cast needed no improving. Haulon's "New Superba," 13, had big business, and gave universal satisfaction. Coming: Roland Reed, in "The Voyagers," 20; "White Squadron" 22, "A Milk White Flag" 24. "Heroes of '98" 29, "Humanity" 31, "What Happened to Jones" Nov. 3. Julia Marlowe, in "The Countess Valeska" 4.....Harry A. Smith, of the Roland Reed Co., was in town 14.

Burlington.—At the Grand Ferris' Comedians put in week of Oct. 10 to excellent business and pleased. The Peace Carnival, 12, 13, drew enormous crowds. Specialty people on four elevated stages entertained immense audiences. The ban's constantly employed Coming: "Uncle Tom's Cabin" 19, "Daughters of the Poor" 21, "O'Hooligan's Wedding" 26, "Humanity" 27.

Council Bluffs.—At the Dohaney Theatre the season's opening attraction will be the comedy, "Mistakes Will Happen," and the date of opening Oct. 15. Sadie Raymond, in "The Missouri Girl," will be seen 16. The house has been thoroughly renovated, and presents a clean and attractive appearance. George Bedee, who goes this season in advance of "The Missouri Girl," was here last week and renewed old acquaintances.

Dubuque.—At the Grand Opera House, Oct. 19, Roland Reed, in "Voyagers" "What Happened to Jones" is also booked for an early date. The Star course of entertainments, under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. opens 18 with Rev. Russell H. Conwell, lecturer.

Marshalltown.—At the Odeon "Shantytown" had a large house Oct. 7. "Coon Hollow" did fair business 12, pleasing a good audience. Bookings: "Muldoon's Picnic" 15, "Alone in Greater New York" 17, Hoyt's "A Milk White Flag" 20.

Keokuk.—At the Keokuk Opera House Dorothy Lewis, in "Alone in Greater New York," drew a top-heavy house Oct. 11. Fulgora's "Shantytown" has a good advance outlook for 17 Davis & Busby's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co. comes 18, "Lost in London" 25, and "The Late Mr. Early" 27.

WEST VIRGINIA.

Wheeling.—The Knights Templar Conclave, at Pittsburg, attracted immense crowds to the Smoky City last week; to such an extent, in fact, that there was a noticeable falling off in the attendance at the local theatres.

OPERA HOUSE.—Digby Bell, in "The Hoosier Doctor," had a full house Oct. 10. Mme. Scalchi Concert Company came 13, to good business. "The Dawn of Freedom" followed 15, to fair business. Smith and Rice's "Misfit Marriage" comes 19.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The Wilson Theatre Company held the boards 10-15, attracting good audiences at each performance "On the Suwanee River" 17-19, "Gettysburg" 20-22.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

Charleston.—At Owens' Academy of Music Wilson Cleveland Minstrels drew a good house Oct. 14. "Remember the Maine" did well 15 and matinee. "A Parlor Match" comes 22. "Knobs o' Tennessee" 24, 25, "My Friend from India" 27.

—The Claire Tuttle-Yerance Entertainers, while at Milan, O., visited the old home of Thomas A. Edison as guests of his sister, Marian Edison-Page.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia.—During the week just past the popular priced theatres had crowded houses every night, while the higher priced attractions succeeded in drawing audiences of a size sufficient to fill their respective houses. The list of novelties this week is very small indeed, being confined to the introduction of a new stock company.

BROAD STREET THEATRE.—The excellent performances of "The Jolly Musketeer," which have been well

World of Players.

— W. T. Wynn thus entertainingly writes us from Santiago de Cuba under date of Oct. 2: "Santiago is, in my judgment, another Klondike, on a different basis. The city has normally a population of about 70,000, but at present there are less than 35,000 persons here, which is an improvement on the number even since I landed here, a little over a month since, and the population is gradually increasing. To begin with, the soil is very fertile, and two or three crops of almost anything which can be raised in the U. S. can be brought out of the ground here every year, and when Yankee ingenuity becomes aware of this fact this province will be more than a bonanza, in my opinion, for industrious people of every vocation. We are now (I mean the U. S. V. Signal Corps, under Captain J. E. Brady, chief signal officer) constructing and operating both telephone and telegraph lines all over the island, and within a short time hope to have direct communication with all the inland towns and cities. The city has both a military and civil governor, and, with the exception of the 'boys in blue,' who parade the streets, and the vehicles belonging to Uncle Sam, which are constantly on the 'go,' one would never think that anything but peace had ever reigned supreme here. It is true that there is some sickness here, but now that the 'rainy season' is over, or about over, everything looks bright for a prosperous future for the town and the whole province. New sewerage and other improvements and construction work is rapidly being pushed along, and, on the whole, the city has a decided look of prosperity about it. All of the Americans and a great many of the natives seem to be well supplied with the 'long green,' and upon my word I think that all we need is something in the theatrical way. Two or three days ago my old friend Jesse W. Foster, representing Gardner's Great American Circus, gave me a pleasant surprise by allowing me to take his latest copy of THE CLIPPER, dated Sept. 17, and I assure you it was quite a treat to peruse its columns again. Mr. Foster's attraction is billed to appear here very soon, and among his list of people there is some good talent, and I look forward to its advent with pleasure. Will give you the 'roster' and write up after the show opens. Our mail service as yet is very unsatisfactory, but is steadily improving, and ere long will be very good. The old theatre here is at present used as a barracks for the soldier boys, but presume it will in the near future be remodelled and made one of the paying and appreciated institutions of the city. The farce comedy, 'Gilhooley's Dream,' of which I am the author, had all people engaged, and was almost solidly booked for this season previous to the breaking out of the war, but, owing to the condition of the country after war was declared, I deemed it right, in order to protect the interests of those associated with me, to cancel everything, which we did. Many, and in fact nearly all, of the local managers of houses in Pennsylvania and Ohio, where we were booked, advised this. I hope after a while to produce it down here. Of course, I cannot do it while I am in the service of the United States, but when I am discharged will give it my personal attention."

— Notes from Maxam & Sight's Comedians: This company had been working fifty-two weeks without a rest, Oct. 1, and the event was marked by the exchange of numerous presents among the members of the company. Among the presents was a gold watch and chain for Mrs. Maxam, and a gold headed cane for Mr. Maxam. The roster: W. K. Maxam, J. W. Sights, A. W. Fordyce, Wm. Griffin, Bert Smith, C. B. Radford, Pauline Sights and Mittie Maxam, W. K. Maxam, business manager; J. W. Sights, stage director; Bert Smith, pianist, and C. B. Radford, advance. This coming season we shall tour Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

— "Two Kinds of Women," J. M. Barry's new comedy, will be acted at matinees at the St. James Theatre, London, this Winter. In the night bills, after "The Ambassador," by Mrs. Craigie, has run its course. Mr. Alexander will put forward Shakespeare's "Henry V."

— "The Girl from Ireland" opened at Smith's Theatre, Bridgeport, Ct., Oct. 6.

— Sir Alexander Mackenzie is composing the incidental music for Irving's revival of "Richard II," and Edwin Abbey is designing the scenery and dresses. Ellen Terry will play the Queen. She will also have a prominent part in the Sardou "Robespierre," and will, of course, be Roxane when Sir Henry does "Cyrano de Bergerac." Gossip now says he will do the Rostand play in a version made expressly for him by some poet whose name is not to be divulged yet a while. Sir Henry says that he and Miss Terry will make one more professional visit to this country.

— Howard Gould, of the famous Gould family of millionaires, was married Oct. 12, in this city, to Katherine Clemmons, the actress.

— Notes from Mills' "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Co.: We have just closed our tenting season, and will lay off for a few days' holiday in Toronto, Ont. Our trip through Eastern Ontario was the most prosperous this company has had for some years. We will play in halls for the Winter season. Our route will be through Western Ontario and Northern New York State, after making a few stands in Michigan, Indiana and Ohio. All the boys are well and send best regards to the OLD RELIABLE.

— Beatrice Renner has signed with "The Real Widow Brown" Co. (Western), playing a part and doing her specialty.

— Roster of Fitz & Webster's "A Breezy Time" (Eastern): Fitz & Webster, proprietors; Fred E. Le Comte, manager; Walter Moss, advance; John G. McDowell, stage manager; Phil Rade, assistant; Robt. Gibler, musical director; Thomas Nyland, Henry Comody, Al. White, Prett Reed, Frank Minnes, Chas. King, Frank Smith, Carl Fleming, Jessie Bertman, May June, Julia Jaras, Fannie Morris and Lillie Clifton. The company was tendered a banquet by the Elks, at Muskegon, Mich., Oct. 7.

— Myra Collins is resting at her home in Kansas City, Mo., where she has been ill for some time. She will not be able to work again for several weeks.

— Richard Mansfield has received the following letter from the author of "Cyrano de Bergerac:" "DEAR SIR: I want to declare publicly that it is with my authorization that you are to play 'Cyrano de Bergerac' in the United States of America. I have given this authorization only to you and Mr Irving, and you both have recognized voluntarily my author's proprietary rights in my work. I thank you for it. If there are any American managers un crupulous enough to take my piece and act it against my will, protecting themselves behind a law which seems to permit actions so dishonest, I protest before the great American public. I know all the care you have brought to the transaction and the production of 'Cyrano de Bergerac' and I send you, along with my thanks, the assurance of my distinguished consideration. EDMOND ROSTAND."

— Sam Bernard ends his first venture as a star Oct. 29, at the Bijou, in this city. May Irwin will then take possession of the theatre, and introduce to this city her new play, "Kate Kip," which she has appeared in throughout the country with success. Mr. Bernard will go to the Casino, and be featured in the new production of "A Dangerous Maid." The management, appreciating the fact that "The Marquis of Michigan" has not proved successful, have canceled all their out of town engagements.

— The Rumley Sisters joined the Marks Bros.' No. 1 Company at Saginaw, Mich., Oct. 1.

— Barr and Evans closed with "O'Hooligan's Wedding" Co. Oct. 8, to open with "Muldoon's Picnic" Co. Oct. 10, to play Mr. and Mrs. Muldoon.

— Selden Stetson Dramatic Co. state that they turned people away at Prairie Depot, O. Miss Selden was presented with a diamond necklace by Mrs. Charles Wuersten, of Warren, Ind.

— Anthony Hope's romantic drama, "The Adventures of Lady Ursula," was successfully produced Oct. 11, under the management of Charles Frohman, at the Duke of York's Theatre, London, Eng. The play was enthusiastically received, Evelyn Millard and Herbert Warring, who have the principal parts, being frequently recalled.

— Spenser Walker has signed for the season to play the eccentric comedy in A. H. Woodhull's "Uncle Hiram."

— Mae Lowery closed with Hoyt's "A Day and a Night" Co. Oct. 8.

— Edward Owings Towne, a lawyer, was sentenced in Chicago, Ill., Oct. 11, to an indeterminate sentence in the Joliet Penitentiary, and to pay a fine of $1,500 on a conviction, for having conspired with James Mowatt to wreck the Lumbermen's Building and Loan Association. Towne has dabbled in playwriting.

— Lew H. Carroll closed at Sam T. Jack's Oct. 15, and has signed with Davis & Keogh.

— Robert Hilliard, who has played the part of John, Earl of Woodstock, in a new melodrama, "Sporting Life," since it was first produced at the Academy of Music, tendered his resignation as a member of the company Oct. 11. R. A. Roberts succeeded him.

— Manager M. C. Anderson, of the Walnut Street Theatre, Cincinnati, O., wires THE CLIPPER thus: "Gilmore and Leonard broke their last season's record and the house record for this season Sunday, Oct. 16, turning people away before 7.30. Show an immense hit."

— Grace Filkins, now playing with the "War Correspondent," will resume the role of Celia Pryse, in Charles Coglan's production of "The Royal Box," when that company leaves Baltimore, Md. Katherine Grey, who has been playing this role since the opening of the season at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, will retire from the cast in order to carry out other plans which she has in view.

— Charles Frohman has arranged to open the Madison Square Theatre every season during his management of that house with a play by George H. Broadhurst, author of "What Happened to Jones," "The Wrong Mr. Wright" and "Why Smith Left Home." Mr. Frohman, however, acquires no proprietary rights in the plays. In consequence of this arrangement "Why Smith Left Home," despite its success on the road, will not be seen in New York till next September.

— Mrs. Arabella S. Archer, the actress who has brought suit for divorce against her husband, Herbert Archer, has been granted by Chancellor McGill, of New Jersey, until Nov. 7 to publish the notice of suit to her husband, his answer to be filed by that time.

— Four members of "When London Sleeps" Co. have formed a club, which they call "The Heavy Acting Association." A. C. Henderson, president; F. A. Yelvington, vice president; Harry Surles, treasurer; Frank I. Frayne, secretary. The main thing that supports this association is the fines imposed on its members by the president.

— Rentfrow's Jolly Pathfinders were presenting "The Middleman" at the Grand Opera House, Muncie, Ind., Oct. 12, when the curtain used in giving the stereopticon views caught fire in the rear of the balcony. The smoke caused some person to cry fire, and it required hard work by the house employes to prevent a stampede, the doors being locked.

— James T. Murphy and Gladys Le Moine's engagement with the "Next Door" company terminated at Waverly, N. Y., Oct. 8.

— Ella Mae Watson, an actress, has obtained an order to show cause in the Supreme Court why Thomas Watson should not be compelled to pay her alimony and a counsel fee in an action she has brought against him for an absolute divorce.

— John T. Hanson and Maybel Drew are rehearsing a new act which they expect to produce next season. They are with Rice & Barton's farce comedy, "McDoodle's Flats," playing two of the leading roles, Mr. Poodle and Mrs. Poodle, respectively.

— Miller, Steel & Co.'s Dramatic Sensation, headed by Rachelle Renard and John A. Preston, is now in its seventh week, presenting sensational and popular standard dramas, and is reported meeting with success. Scenic productions of "Lost in London," "The Mystery of Chesterton" and "Ingomar" are features. Specialties by Margaret Devereaux, Chas. A. Clark, Charleise, Fred Dilger, the wargraph and illustrated songs, make a continuous performance.

— Lillian May Crawford is playing leads with the comedy, "My Neighbor's Wife."

— Billy Stanford recently closed with Ferris' Comedians and joined the Gibneys Co., to do specialties and characters.

— Bertha Boardman Elton, who appeared as the widow with Bobby Gaylor's Company, has left that company and joined Hoyt's "A Stranger in New York" for the season.

— The Ferd De Voss Co. report doing excellent business. The vaudeville portion of the show consists of a "Queue Carnival Dance," in which all the ladies are represented in rainbow costumes. Coon songs and cake walks are also a feature. The entire company was banqueted at Baraboo, Wis., in honor of Miss De Voss, by F. D. Rich.

— William Mill's Donaldson, of the Donaldson Lithographic Co., is a candidate for Congress from the Sixth District of Kentucky.

— Tolson & MacDonald Co Notes.: "We opened in Pensacola, Fla., to S. R. O. The company reorganized in Jacksonville from the Peters & Green Comedy Co. The roster at present is: C. C. Tolson, Thos. MacDonald, Hamstead Prince, Ben Le Rush, Geo. A. Lawrence, R. B. Tuttle, Miss Gay Errol, Lorena Tolson, Isabelle MacDonald, Alice Kempt, Fred W. Poe, and Jack Kenny, agent."

— Wm. H. Crane opens in E. W. Presbrey's new comedy, "Worth a Million," Nov. 15, at the Knickerbocker Theatre, this city.

— Joseph Jefferson and others prominent in the theatrical profession are arranging the preliminary details for a testimonial to be tendered to C. W. Couldock, which it is expected will take place some time next month.

— Big Four Comedy Notes: We have been playing to the biggest business of any company that has played northeastern Iowa for three seasons. Wardes, transformation dancer; Geo. L. Powell, comedy and banjo work; James Bavis, descriptive ballads; Juanita Powell's new songs, and Little Dot's cake walk, are our special vaudeville features.

— Notes of the Gibney-Hoeffler Co.: We closed a big week's business at Hillsboro, Mich., Oct. 8. We played to twelve hundred paid admissions at our Saturday matinee, with opposition of Pawnee Bill's Circus. We opened at Lancaster (O.) Fair week, to the capacity of the theatre. Billy Stanford, wooden shoe dancer, and Bonnie McCullough are new comers this week. This show is making a good impression through this State, as we have time offered in larger cities, and return dates in towns we have played. We have already booked five fair weeks for next season.

— Manager Hall, of the Hall-Winter Co., on learning that Co. H, One Hundred and Fifty-seventh Indiana Volunteers, was called to Indianapolis Oct. 10, invited the entire company to attend the performance of "Under the Sea," and gave them the very best in the house. There were just an even one hundred in the company.

— Davis & Busby's "U. T. C." Co. includes R. J. Thrusham, Jennie Thrusham, Wm. Huntington, C. F. Ackerman, Don Franck, Clyde Bates, Mabel Conner, Little Ruth, John Holmberg, Harriet Connor, F. McGillard, Nellie Nickerson, Geo. Hawkins, Bertha Crosby, Richard Thomas, Mattie Thomas, Jinks France and Georgie Connor.

— Carl J. Breetz and Edgar Treville are members of the Hall Winter Co.

— Miller, Steel & Co., have secured from Dittmar Brothers the exclusive Eastern rights for "The Pay Train" and "The Captain's Mate," together with all the special scenery and printing for both plays.

— Franklin Jones writes to THE CLIPPER thus: "Owing to the late war with Spain I found it quite impossible to continue my starring tour in E. O. Towne's Spanish costume comedy, 'In Old Madrid,' a play in which I appeared for three seasons. I have been engaged by Fred Peel for the part of Rody Casey, in R. J. Donnelly's new comedy, 'Casey's Wife,' and will begin rehearsals with the company at Cleveland, O."

— Claire Tuttle Yerance Entertainers, under the management of F. L. Yerance, are touring through Ohio. Roster: Prof. Chas. H. Oxenham, electrician and Edison moving picture expert; Agnes Cameron, Lilly Bonney, Sadie Jennings, Harry Marto, F. Bennett, Clarke Earle, Claire Tuttle-Yerance and F. L. Yerance. Advance agent, C. Earle; manager, F. L. Yerance.

— R. M. Samuel joined Williams-Cameron Stock Co. as musical director Oct. 10. The company is booked up to May, playing week stands through Arkansas, Kansas and Missouri. The roster: Josie Cameron, Mable Von Wiethoff, Naomie De Gauson, T. J. McGrath, L. Von Wiethoff, Harry F. Hadgins, Mail Conroy, W. Williams, proprietor and manager; J. W. Goodwin, stage manager; R. M. Samuel, musical director.

— Harry L. Webb and Cora Wilmont are doing their new act with the "Side Tracked" Co.

— T. H. Dobson, late manager of Danl. A. Kelly, and James L. Ring, late treasurer Holliday Street Theatre, Baltimore, Md., have formed a partnership, and will put out a revival of "Rip Van Winkle." Samuel W. Glenn, the veteran comedian, who played the part of Rip at his theatre, Norfolk, Va., in 1856, has been engaged for Rip. Wm. H. Bokee, Miss Lewis and a thoroughly capable company will form the support. Special scenery and effects will be carried.

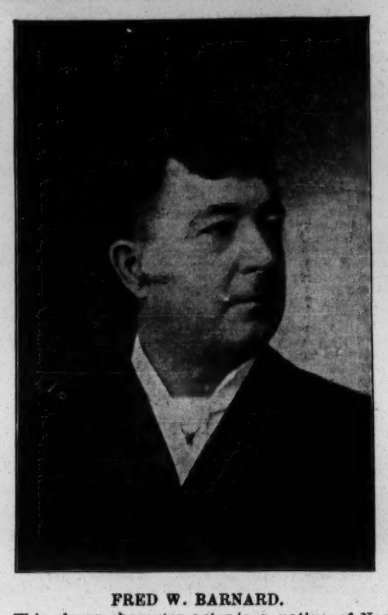
— The Stevens Comedy Co. is playing in Indiana. The following people are with the show: Harry A. Stevens, manager; J. E. Pigman, Ray Bankson, Lizzie Chambers, Harry B. Raymond, Al. Reed, Ralph Reynolds, Maud Adam, Myrtle Mathews, Baby Pearl, and E. D. Sabin, agent. Rosa May Doty leaves the company Oct. 19 to join her husband, with John Griffith.

— Roster of the Maxwell's Co.: Geo. H. Maxwell, sole proprietor; A. A. Mudge, business manager; Felix A. Vincent, Frank C. Carter, Nat Lemingwell, Fred Beaudet, Lee Mitchell, Leo J. Lunn, Prof. Geo. Emery, Eos Duffryn, Carra Melbourne, Virginia Goodwin, Emma Duffryn and Little Ethel.

— The new South Fork (Pa.) Theatre had a favorable opening Oct. 10-12 by the Sam Pitman Comedy Co. "La Belle Marie," "The Electrician" and "The Fortune Hunter" were presented.

— The Carson Comedy Co. is in its twenty-eighth week in Canada. Roster: James Carson, manager; Mrs. Carson, treasurer; Agustus Stanstell, Richard Earlsbon, Blanch Lax, Robert Doyle, Conley and Clair, John Delaney, Marion Sims, Cecil Clair and little Dot Clair.

— Prof. Chas. H. Oxenham has joined the Claire Tuttle Co.



FRED W. BARNARD.

This clever character actor is a native of New York State, but for the past ten years has traveled in the West with such stars as Katie Putnam, Aiden Benedict, the late Thos. W. Keene, and others. At present he is stage director of Corse Payton's own company, and is playing characters. He will in future make this city his permanent home. Mr. Barnard made his debut at the age of sixteen in McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, Ill., in which his father was leader of the orchestra.

— H. Stanley Lewis, formerly of Davis & Keogh's forces, was a CLIPPER caller Oct. 15, he being in the city in the interest of Welsh Brothers' attractions. Mr. Lewis will remain in an official capacity with Welsh Bros., but will go with their "Uncle Tom's Cabin" instead of "Old Southern Life," as stated last week. The two private cars, Dixie and Blue Grass, are being thoroughly refurnished and put in shape for the "Uncle Tom" production. Two bands (white and colored), a fife and drum corps, seven gold embellished floats and sixteen Shetland ponies will be features of the parade, and about fifty people will be carried. Mr. Lewis is designing a highly original first part for "Old Southern Life," representing "The Drill of the Black Marines at the Charleston Navy Yard," introducing a massive model of the battleship New Orleans.

— Frank G. Connelly, last season treasurer of the Thomas W. Keene Co., was reported in March last to have disappeared with considerable of the company funds, while the engagement at McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, Ill., was being played. Nothing further was heard of him until it became known to Manager Hanford, of the company, that a "floater" had been found in the Chicago River, the corpse giving every evidence of foul play having resulted in death. Mr. Hanford sent an agent to the morgue to claim the remains, identification having been made possible by a pin found attached to the vest upon the corpse, but before the party arrived the body had been claimed by another and shipped to St. Louis, Mo., whence all further trace was lost. Mr. Connelly was formerly city editor of The Philadelphia (Pa.) Times, and was afterward for many years associated with John Forepaugh as a partner in the management of Forepaugh's Theatre, in the same city.

— Jack Burke's "Turkish Bath" Company will give their initial Eastern presentation of the three act musical farce, "A Turkish Bath," at Danbury, Ct., Oct. 20. He claims this Western farce comedy success is entitled to a front rank on its merits. It will be elaborately embellished and staged with special scenery, costumes and effects, vivaciously produced and refreshened through the introduction of specialties by a proficient company, under the direction of Fred W. Bayley. Jack Burke is proprietor and manager, Fred Harvey, representative; G. B. Alexander, stage director; George Cragg, musical director; Billy Naylor, electrician; George Gillett, master of transportation; Richard Gorman, Jerome Cee, James Taggart, Burt Clifton, Marie Heath, Nellie Gorman, Aline Campbell, Jennie Cole, Maude De Leon, Jessie Randolph and the Sisters Sargent.

— Manager Edward Thurnear, of the Herrmann the Great Co., writes to THE CLIPPER thus: "Just a line to say business the past week has been elegant in such towns as Sioux City, Ia.; Grand Island and Hastings, Neb., and Cheyenne, Wyo. I look forward to big week in Denver, beginning Sunday. Mrs. Herrmann, I am proud to say, is doing immense in her new Japanese magic, and assure you it will create a sensation when we get East."

— Edwin Gordon Lawrence, in the Russian military drama, "For Her Sake," under the management of Sam C. Miller, will open season at Hoboken, N. J., Nov. 3, playing only cities and a few one night stands in New England and the West. New scenic effects and costumes have been added and a thoroughly competent cast secured. Of the old members C. H. Montgomery, stage manager; Frank Munnell, and W. H. Govey, master of properties, have been retained.

— Charles F. Tingay's comedy drama, 'Down the Slope," a story of Klondike, reached its three hundredth performance at the Royal Princess' Theatre, Glasgow, Scotland, Oct. 1. Mr. Tingay and his wife, Ada Gray, return to America shortly, and he will tour the play over here.

— Frank Opperman has been released from the "His Better Half" Co., to join the "Under Sealed Orders" Co.

— Max Reno joined the Sanford Dodge Co. at Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 13. He will look after the in erests ahead.

— Frederick Rashland writes: "I closed with 'The Air Ship' Co., owing to illness. I am now fully recovered, and will be featured with a repertory company for the rest of the season."

— Thomas D. Miles, after two weeks' absence, has rejoined "The Air Ship" to assume the Irish comedy part of Tim Tammury, which he originated.

— Harry Keefer, Isabelle Fenton and Wilber Mack have joined the Frederick H. Wilson company.

— Lillian Floyd has left the Seymour Stratton Comedy Co., with which she has been for two months.

— Lottie Burke, of "The Air Ship" Co., was compelled to lay off week of Oct. 10, being so hoarse she could scarcely speak. Her part, that of Mut, the office girl, was assumed by Maryland Tyson at a day's notice, with much credit.

— E. J. Gardner joined the "Uncle Josh Spruceby" Co. at Morristown, N. J.

— H. H. Schmidling writes that Gay Rhea opened at Emporia, Kan., Oct. 10, to the largest house in the history of Emporia for a 10, 20 30c. show. Every seat was sold at 4.30 P. M., Monday.

— Fred De Noe has joined Murray & Mack's "Finnigan's Ball," to play the tramp part. Business in the Northwest is extremely good.

— Roster Glick & Blair's "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" Co.: Glick and Blair, Mrs. Lelia Glick, Allie Brown, Little Sadie Glick, Mr. Secore, C. H. France, Chas. Derr, band leader; Chas. Wessler, leader of orchestra; Joe Milligan, Geo. Rialto, Joe Roscoe, H. Burgett, Louis King, League and Children, and Chas. Everts, with uniformed band and orchestra.

— Notes from Bryan's Comedians: Business is fine with the show, and we are playing to better business in the cities we played last season than we did on our last visit. The S. R. O. sign is getting to be a common occurrence. In Hastings, Mich., we played the biggest week ever done in the town, having the S. R. O. sign out four nights straight, and in Ionia, last week, we had it out three nights before eight o'clock. M. C. C. Sutton and Maurice Mann left us Oct. 8, to join the "Chip of the Old Block" company, and the vacancy was filled 10, in Ludington, by James Green and wife. William Benjamin, our suave drummer of last season, also joined 10, to play alto in band and trap in orchestra. Our company now numbers twenty-two people.

— The Kinsey Comedy Notes: We opened in Attica, O., Oct. 3 (fair date), playing to the capacity of the house four nights of the week. Business continues excellent. This will make our seventh week. Our roster: Morris L. Kinsey, proprietor and manager; Ed. Lewis, advance; Chas. Kenawll, musical director; C. Miller, master of transportation; Spenser Walker, Harry De Long, M. L. Kinsey, Franklyn McNarry, C. C. Miller, Ed. Lewis, Ormond Laurrell, Beth Kinsey, Neva Satterlee, Amy French and Baby Madge.

— Minnie Lee and daughter are with "Peck's Bad Boy."

VIRGINIA.

Richmond.—The London Gaiety Girls gave a very unsatisfactory performance at the Academy of Music Oct. 10, when a large audience was in attendance. "A Parlor Match," 11, attracted a fine house, and was well received. Chas. Coghlan, in "The Royal Box," was enthusiastically greeted, 13, by a large audience. Curtain calls were numerous. The International Opera Co. sang "Carmen," 14 in a delightful manner to a well-filled house. "Romeo and Juliet" and "Il Trovatore" were the offering matinee and evening 15, but the attendance was small. The house remains dark the current week. James Kidder Warde Co. 25.

PUTNAM'S THEATRE COMIQUE.—The vaudeville bill presented by the management last week was pleasing to the clientel of this resort and fair business resulted. For the current week: Saville and Young, Ward and Willard, Nelson Sisters, James Woodville, and Gibson and Melborne.

MARGER E MA BELLE is doing well at the Old Dominion Hospital where she is receiving the best medical attention. She sat up for a short while 15 and should she not suffer a further relapse will be able to leave for her home in New York the latter part of the week.

Norfolk.—The attractions at the Academy of Music for the past week were of such a nature as to warrant a general outpouring of the theatrical going public and as a consequence business was highly satisfactory. "The Parlor Match," the first on the boards, appeared Oct. 10, to a packed house. The musical treat of the season was the International Grand Opera Co. which followed 12, 13 and matinee and Norfolk's fashionable people turned out in full force. Advanced prices prevailed. Chas. Coglan, in "The Royal Box," closed the week 14 with matinee 15. The company, which was exceedingly well balanced, rendered the play in a most satisfactory manner. The attendance was good. Booked: The Lees, hypnotists, 17-22; James Kidder Warde Combination 24.

BIJOU THEATRE.—New people week of 17: Burk and Grey, Stella Clifford, Johnson Sisters and Belmont Sisters.

ATLANTIC GARDEN.—In addition to last week's people, Price and Watson will be seen at this resort week 17.

FRANKLIN THEATRE.—New people week 17: Lawrence Jenkins, Edith Le Marr, Birdie Witt and Lew Pistel.

THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE, which was under the management of John A. Avery, owing to some misunderstanding has been closed.

KENTUCKY.

Louisville.—At Macauley's Theatre Manager Macauley furnished the patrons of this house a delightful week of light opera for the opening of the season, the Boston Lyric Opera Co., in repertory, being the attraction. The attendance was fair throughout the week. Coming: Willie Collier, in "The Man from Mexico," 17-19; "The Old Coat" 20-22.

TEMPLE THEATRE.—The Meffert Stock Co. presented "The Ensign" last week in an elaborate manner. The attendance was enormous at every performance. For week of 17 "Camille" will be the attraction.

AVENUE THEATRE.—Murray and Mack, in "Finnigan's 400," was as funny as ever, which attracted good audiences during the engagement. For week of 17, "Grip of Steel."

BUCKINGHAM THEATRE.—Clark Bros.' Royal Burlesqueis proved to be a first class attraction in every respect. The performance opens with the olio. The first on the programme was Bixley and Weston, who were very clever; Four Mignani Family, Dot Davenport, Adele Leno, Arthur, William Galpin, the Cosmopolitan Trio, Tenley and Simonds and Howard and Emerson. For week of 16, Fred Rider's "Moulin Rouge."

BIERD'S CONCERT HALL.—March and Charles, De Varo, Charles and Tillie Sells, Donna Sol, Sadie Connors, Nina Mason, and Mable Parker. Business good.

ROBISON'S OLYMPIA.—Morris and Parker, Lundie and Rickford, Dora De Neen, Burns and Shick, May Brown and stock. Business good.

NOTES.—Despite a very cold day, which made overcoats a necessity, two tremendous crowds greeted the Forepaugh-Sells Bros.' Circus 13.....Marsh De Varo, of the De Varo Bros., was granted a divorce from his wife, Gertie Hasson, 15, by Judge Miller, of the circuit court, in this city.....Jessie Putman closes at Robison's Olympia 15, and leaves to play the Coliseum, Terre Haute, Ind.

Paducah.—Horton's Opera House has been dark now for two weeks, with no immediate future bookings.....Clark's Combined Shows are here 17-20.....Pawnee Bill's Wild West Shows 22.

RHODE ISLAND.

Providence.—At the Providence Opera House, Oct. 10-12, James O'Neill made his annual visit and presented "When Greek Meets Greek" and "Monte Cristo." The latter piece has been seen here for many seasons, but the former was new here. Mr. O'Neill always draws large audiences, and this visit was no exception to the rule. The Bostonians, 13-15, gave some very creditable performances and enjoyed good patronage. For the present week the management offer two more first class attractions, the first half of the week being given to James K. Hackett, in "The Tree of Knowledge." This is Mr Hackett's first appearance here as an actor, but he is well known, and will, doubtless, do well. The rest of the week Chauncey Olcott in "Sweet Inniscarra." This is also new to the theatregoers of this city. On the week to follow comes "The Badet Girl."

KEITH'S OPERA HOUSE.—This newly made house will reopen its doors at noon on 24, and will be a complete revelation to its former patrons. The seating capacity has been enlarged by four hundred new seats, thus making it the largest seating capacity in the city. The house goes on the Keith circuit, and will have all the bookings made for the other Keith houses.

OLYMPIC THEATRE.—Hurtig & Seamon's Bowery Burlesquers, 10-15, gave one of the best shows which has been at this popular house. The company was good, the business was excellent, and the S. R. O. sign was out early almost every evening. For the current Manager Spitz offers Reilly & Wood's Big Show. Weber & Fields' "Dainty Duchess" Co. 17 and week.

INSTITUTE THEATRE.—Rice & Barton's Extravaganza Co., 10-15, filled the bill to the fullest degree. The show was the best they ever brought here, and the business was first class. Taking the week all around, it was a highly successful engagement. This week, Matt J. Flynn's Big Sensation. Week of 24, Fred Rider's New Night Owls.

ALLEN'S STAR THEATRE.—Bennett & Moulton Repertoire Co., 10-15, gave satisfaction. The business was good, in fact, has been since the house first opened. This week, Henry Chanirau, in "Kit, the Arkansas Traveler," and "The Octoroon." On the week to follow comes "Down on the Farm," a new one here.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Manchester.—At the Opera House "The Heart of Maryland" drew a crowded house Oct. 12. Brooke's Marine Band followed 13, and another crowded house was the result, and Chauncey Olcott, 14, played "Sweet Inniscarra" to a pleased audience that was fully as large as any of the week. Bookings: Week of 17, Geo. W. Wilson's Repertory Co.

PARK THEATRE.—Business at this house was very good during the whole week. The Bon Ton Burlesquers, 11, 12, and Henry Chanirau, in "Kit the Arkansas Traveler," for the rest of the week, being the attractions. Bookings: Grant's Southern Plantation Cake Walk 20-22, the Sporty Widows Burlesquers 24-25, "A Cheerful Idiot" 27-29, "A Country Merchant" 31-Nov 2, "A Wheel of Fortune" 4-6.

THE CENTRAL STREET THEATRE is dark until Oct. 24.

NOTES.—Sadie Handy, of "The Midnight Alarm" Company, left that company here Saturday night, going direct to Minneapolis, where she will join Wm. Gillette's Company.....Manager Hurst, of the Park, is introducing a new innovation at his Saturday matinees in presenting the ladies attending with souvenirs. This week a freshly cut American rose was the gift.....On Oct. 14 John Dudley, a member of Hoyt's "A Stranger in New York" Company, attempted suicide by slashing his throat with a razor at the Rockingham House, Portsmouth, this State. He may recover.....Alfred G. Starkweather, for over fifty years a leading clown in many circuses, died 14, at Nashua, N. H., near this city. He was seventy-six years old, and had been retired from the show business for several years.

WYOMING.

Cheyenne.—At the Opera House, Herrmann the Great Co., Oct. 12, to fair audience. Performance gave excellent satisfaction. Coming: "A Texas Steer" 17, The Magniscope Exhibition Co. 21, 22, Clara Thropp 25.

EDMUND STANLEY.

This well known and deservedly popular tenor singer began his career on the light opera stage with the A. C. Wilbur Company, assuming the role of Nanki Poo, in "The Mikado," and later he joined the McCallum Opera Co. in the West, in which organization he sang the leading roles in "The Beggar Student," "Three Black Cloaks," "The Bohemian Girl" and many other operas. He was so highly successful that the late Col. John A. McCaull sent for him to sing the part of Leonetto when he put on his grand production of "Boccaccio," some years ago, at Wallack's Theatre. In a brief space of time he succeeded Eugene Oudin as tenor of the McCaull company and attained success in the opera, "Clover." When De Wolf Hopper severed his connection with the McCaull organization Mr. Stanley was chosen for his support. This was eight years ago, and the fact that he remains with Mr. Hopper at the present time speaks volumes for his ability as both actor and singer. In the years that Mr. Stanley has been connected with the Hopper forces he has been cast as Jocriece, in "Castles in the Air;" Lamacus, in "The Lady or the Tiger;" Jean, in "Wang;" Arthur Barrington, in "Dr. Syntax;" Verrada, in "El Capitan," and Prince Boris, in "The Charlatan," the latter being his most successful role. He is one of the best of light opera tenors.

OHIO.

Cincinnati.—Jack Frost was a welcome visitor late in the week Every director of amusements in town has been awaiting the coming of Autumn. There was a drop from midsummer heat to regulation furnace weather. In consequence thereof a healthy increase in the population about the box offices brought smiles to many a manager's face. Robinson's Opera House is still dark. John D. Davis denies that he will reopen it and run it for the Robinson estate. "There was a lot of exaggeration in the recitals of the troubles of the Keene Stock Co.," said that gentleman. "That yarn that Mrs. Keene lost $40 000 was a beautiful bit of fiction. She did not have more than $4 500 cash to invest. The plays were magnificently mounted, but the company had too big a salary list to live. Just when business could reasonably be expected to pick up capital was exhausted, and the refusal of the company to play without their salaries precipitated the crash. I had to issue an attachment to secure the rental." The Robinson estate will rent the house if possible. John A. Avery, who has returned from Norfolk, Va., is figuring on assuming control of the house.

OUR LONDON LETTER.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 5.

The surge and swirl which for well nigh a month marked the opening of the theatrical season here has now completely simmered down. The successes are going strong, and the questionable hits are struggling to keep afloat, or one by one going under. Take it all in all the proportion of good fortune enjoyed by the managers is decidedly noteworthy, and the failure list remarkably small, in view of the many ventures which have been floated.

Undoubtedly the most complete collapse has been that of the much paragraphed "Land of Nod," the venture in dramatic authorship of Albert Chevalier, which was withdrawn after a single week of business conducted in a North Pole temperature. I had thought that it would have a slight success on the ground of curiosity to see the famous music hall performer in new characters, but such was not the case, and his introduction of several of his popular character sketches did not aid matters, from a box office point of view. Olga Nethersole's very expensive production, "The Fermarant," is also to vanish after Oct. 8, and the experiment has been a costly one. A very wealthy newspaper proprietor is reported to have been the mainstay of the speculation. Another comparative failure at the start "The Royal Star," which succeeded "La Poupee," at the Prince of Wales, has now been greatly brightened up and given more "go" by the introduction of new scenes and incidents. The announcement that it would be taken off and "La Poupee" revived is now denied, and the management has been writing to the papers, asking for 'fair play" and hinting of 'enemies." Under the changed conditions it has a much better chance than as first produced. Mr. Lowenfield, the manager of the Prince of Wales', is said to have also secured the English rights of "Mon Enfant" a Paris success, in the farce comedy line, and to be looking for a West End theatre in which to produce it.

The second edition of "The Belle of New York" has been warmly received. The changes are not very noticeable, but have been widely noticed, and will attract old patrons to return for another visit. Young W. P. Carlton, the baritone, who is a son of the well known W. T. Carlton, has won immediate success and so has little Mlle Pretto, whose dancing on her toes secured three or four encores on her first appearance. Another change in the cast is that of Helen Whiting who came from New York with the other recruits and who has been given the part of Kissie Fitzgarter. One enthusiastic critic says: "The Belle" is now more riotous and maddening than ever. There are no dulcet and decorous facinations about her, for her blandishments are those of a handsome and brilliant virago who seizes you by the shoulders and shakes your admiration out of you."

"The Three Musketeers" bids fair to become a bore, owing to the tempestuous conditions which have arisen in the theatrical teapot concerning its various rival forms. As your readers know Henry Hamilton wrote a brisk and successful version which was produced, with Lewis Waller as D'Artagnan, in the suburb of Camberwell. Mr Waller's personal success was very great. Another version, written by Sydney Grundy for Beerbohm Tree, is now being rehearsed on the road, and is due at Her Majesty's Theatre when Mr Tree opens his season, Nov 3. Mr Waller is to play the Duke of Buckingham and Mr. Tree D'Artagnan. They are in perfect professional accord, and all the rumors to the contrary appear to be false, as Mr. Waller has just re-engaged himself to Mr. Tree for three years. The Hamilton version is to be run as a rival to the Grundy version, however, and will open at the Globe Oct. 15, with Kyrle Bellew a D'Artagnan Paul Authur and Robert Taber had both been mentioned in connection with the part. Thus will be seen the old partners, Mr. Bellew and Mrs Potter, in the rival casts for she is to be the Miladi in the Grundy version. Mr Tree has been making speeches on the stump, printing Mr Waller and the Hamilton version and writing to the papers denying rumors relating to their relations and adding that he has offered to let Mr Waller play D'Artagnan in the Grundy version in the provinces. In the meantime several travesties and burlesques of the play are in preparation and the outlook begins to be favorable for a public verdict of "too much of a good thing." In the Grundy version Frank Mills the American actor, who was seen here recently as the acrobat in "Sue" will be cast as Vicomte de la Fere in the prologue and as Athos one of the musketeer trio, in the play proper. The part of Richelieu will be in the hands of Franklin McLeay.

Nothing "great this whole" very fair. "The Charity Ball" will be given 17 and week.

STAR THEATRE.—The Broadway Burlesquers an excellent organization headed by John Kernell and Lottie Gilson were the attraction week of 10 and were greeted with fine audiences at nearly every performance. Miss Gilson still holds her old time sway over the Star's patrons and Mr Kernell rides in almost the same seat The olio consisting of Wacker-Baker Trio, Mitchel Sisters, Mathews and Harris, and Fields and Lewis, give a good show The after piece, "A Naughty Trip to Wicked Monte Carlo," is a clever skit well put on and the good looking girls are superbly dressed. Weber & Field's "Glad Hand" Co. appears 17 for week. "The Conquerors" 24

CUBS.—Fred H. Brandt, assistant treasurer of the Opera House, surprised his many friends by becoming a benedict Sunday Oct 9 the happy bride, May Gleesen, being one of Cleveland's loveliest debutants Several of his friends headed by Treasurer Fred Coan, presented the young couple with a magnificent and entirely complete array of household silverware.....Cleveland's Annual Horse Shoe will claim popular attention Nov. 8-12. James Whitcomb Riley reads 19.

Bonacieux, and Mrs. Tree will play Anne of Austria. The revival on the stage of the famous story has already resulted in several new cheap editions of the book being published and apropos of the latter fact I am glad to be able to report that R. N. Stephens' novelized version of "An Enemy of the King" the play he wrote for E. H. Sothern, has met with much success in England, and has already reached a second edition.....Madame Melba has given up her contemplated visit to Australia for the present.....In a slight autobiographical sketch of his earlier career the famous old tenor, Sim Reeves, states that he was made choir master of a church at the age of fourteen years.....Olga Nethersole will sail for New York Nov 5.....In spite of the continued success of "The Little Minister," at the Haymarket, it will be withdrawn to make way for a modern comedy by Henry Arthur Jones, called "The Manœuvres of Jane," Oct. 29. It is fully intended to revive "The Little Minister" later on.....A special meeting to consider an offer of Passmore Edwards to build a suitable orphanage for the Actors' Orphan Fund will be held at the Haymarket Theatre Nov. 15.....A negro lion tamer, named Frana Montano, was injured in one hand by an angry lion at Leeds, Sept. 28. .....Paderewski has been visiting in Switzerland the family in which his son has been brought up. He was given in their charge when but a few days old, owing to his mother's death, and is now a youth of nineteen. .....The fund relating to the public subscription to the Sim Reeves' Fund in my letter of Sept 1 should have read £1 200 not $1,200.....It is said that Dan Leno is to receive £300 a week for playing in "Orlando Dando," and £5 extra for each encore he receives Milton Bode, the provincial manager, who has engaged him at these terms, now has a salary roll of £1 600 a week for his various cos..... Saharet is allowed considerably more latitude when dancing at the Folies-Bergere, in Paris, than she was at the Palace here. Another great hit at the Folies-Bergere is a ballet called "The Rape of the Sabine Women"..... Madame Rhea is reported to be in a critical condition from cancer at Montmorency, France.....Jimeny," an elephant belonging to Bostwick's menagerie, died last week She was second in fame only to Jumbo in England, and was known to be over 100 years old She had been to Windsor Castle three times and was valued by her owners at £2,000 She was nearly nine feet high..... Harry Warner, a young son of the well known actor, Charles Warner, made his debut on the stage last week, playing the Rev. Francis Eden to his father's Tom Robinson, in "It's Never Too Late to Wend."..... The provincial tour of Augusta Van Biene, in "A Broken Melody," has been the most successful he has ever played.....Courtney Thorpe is on tour as a member of a company playing "The Temptations of a Great City."

A NEW PLAY

"On and Off."

The first performance of the English adaptation of Alexander Bisson's three act farce, "La Centralieu des Wagon Lets," under the title of "On and Off," occurred Oct. 3, at Nixon & Zimmerman's Lafayette Square Opera House, Washington, D. C., by Charles Frohman's Madison Square Theatre Comedy Co. The story deals with the time worn mother in law question, and, while she is partly the cause of the trouble, the particular offender is a dead man, or, in fact, two dead men, for both of the charming girls in the play lost their affinities about two years before the action begins. It is the continual reference to their angelic creations that drives a poor fellow to seek to conduct himself so that his wife may get a divorce. He leaves his home to avoid clashing with "Benjamin," his wife's first husband, who is being constantly dug from his grave and pointed out as a shining example for a husband and son in law and then he makes love to a simple village girl, telling her he is divorced, but when his day of freedom from "Benjamin" is about to come he finds that his "simple village girl" also has a departed ideal, a poet with divine eyes and stately manner. His sins and double dealing are found out after he has been compelled to stand by and see a man whom he has impersonated make love to his wife, and to finally see the same man, whose name by chance, is the same as his own win the affections of his "simple village girl." The second Mr Godfrey calls on the first to demand the latter's reason for assuming his position. The husband explains his trouble with "Benjamin," and says that he assumed the supposed position as a sleeping car inspector in order that he might be away from home and with his "village girl" as much as possible. The wife happens in and Godfrey is forced to introduce his visitor as a boyhood friend. The latter is struck by the beauty of the wife, proceeds to tell her that her husband is deceiving her, and for the sake of arousing jealousy she allows him to kiss her. Many complications arise. The mother in law is a believer in the supernatural and the son in law secures a phonograph which speaks as St. Michael and tells the family to get rid of him at any cost. Godfrey's supposed friend however, happens to get on to the little scheme and by changing the record in the machine causes no end of trouble. In the final scene the truant husband is boarded in Baden, as it were, his wife, mother in law and father in law calling upon him while he is on one of his visits to the "village girl" and her family. Godfrey is shown up in his true colors before he is aware of his family's presence and a scheme is entered into and carried out that makes him believe that he is crazy. This end is accomplished by a change in the personnel of the breakfast table every time this unfortunate Godfrey leaves the room. To discover if his mother in law is real, he uses a seltzer siphon with telling effect. Then matters are all straightened out satisfactorily. The cast: George Godfray, Edward Holland; Alfred Godfray, Fritz Williams; Brumaire, Samuel Reed; Du Patty de Clam, Byron Douglas; Martel, James Kearney; Randolphe, Ruben Fax; Madeleine Godfray, Amelia Bingham; Madame Brumaire, Maggie Fisher; Madame Martel, Anita Roth; Rosa Martel, Katherine Florence; Lisette, May Lambert; Julie, May Gallyer; Alice, Augusta Glose.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

St. John.—At the opera house Bob Cole and Billy Johnson, in "A Trip to Coontown," opened Oct. 10, to a full house. They give a good clean show, and if applause is any criterion to go by they certainly pleased. Those deserving of special notice outside of the principals are Bob A. Kelly, Tom Brown, Lloyd G. Gibbs, Jim Wilson, Invia Roan and the Freeman Sisters. The show opens at Calais, Me., 17, for three nights, and from there go to Quebec, Can.....Geo. W. Gallager, in advance of the "Devil's Auction" Company, arrived in town and has been busy decorating the store windows and billboards with handsome lithographs. Mr Gallager has also done some good press work in the interest of his show, which comes 17 for four nights and matinee.....At the Mechanic's Institute 13,14, Gwilym Miles, assisted by Miss Jump, elocutionist

NEW YORK CITY.

Last Week's Events.—There were several valuable additions last week to the list of metropolitan attractions. Viola Allen and Joseph Jefferson were added to the already large number of stars, the Castle Square Opera Co. entered the field of grand opera, and an Italian opera co. which won favor here last Spring returned for a brief visit. In spite of the fascinations of the new comers the continued attractions experienced no diminution of patronage, and business all along the line was good.....The continued attractions for the week ending Oct. 15 were: John Drew at the EMPIRE, E. H. Sothern at the LYCEUM, Richard Mansfield at the GARDEN, Francis Wilson at the BROADWAY, "The Fortune Teller" at WALLACK'S, "The Turtle" at the MANHATTAN, "Hotel Topsy Turvy" at the HERALD SQUARE, "A Day and a Night" at the GARRICK, "Sporting Life" at the ACADEMY OF MUSIC, the Castle Square Opera Co. at the AMERICAN, the Lilliputians at the IRVING PLACE, "The Marquis of Michigan" at the BIJOU, the stock company at the MURRAY HILL, "The Runaway Girl" at DALY'S, "Hurly Burly" at WEBER & FIELDS', the stock company at the THIRD AVENUE, and "A Brace of Partridges" at the MADISON SQUARE, the one last named having closed upon that date.....The one week stands closing Oct. 15 were: "The Secret Enemy" at the PEOPLE'S, "A High Born Lady" at the STAR, Wm. H. West's Minstrel Jubilee at the GRAND OPERA HOUSE, "Way Down East" at the HARLEM OPERA HOUSE, and "The Wheel of Fortune" at the METROPOLIS.....Variety entertainment was furnished at TONY PASTOR'S, the UNION SQUARE, PROCTOR'S, KOSTER & BIAL'S, the PLEASURE PALACE, the LONDON, SAM T. JACK'S, the OLYMPIC, the HARLEM MUSIC HALL, and MINER'S BOWERY and EIGHTH AVENUE.....Performances in German were given at the GERMANIA, and performances in Hebrew at the THALIA and WINDSOR.....At the KNICKERBOCKER THEATRE, on Oct. 10, Viola Allen made her first metropolitan appearance as a star in "The Christian," a drama, in a prologue and four acts, by Hall Caine, founded upon his own novel bearing that title. A large audience set the seal of popular approval upon the play and the performance.....Joseph Jefferson began on Oct. 10 an engagement at the FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE, presenting as his first offering "The Rivals." He is this season supported by a far more competent company than he has recently been wont to engage, and there is little doubt that the improvement will be appreciated.....The Royal Italian Opera Co., which won some renown in this city last Spring, began an engagement at the CASINO on Oct. 10, again presenting Puccini's "La Boheme." This work was also given 11, 14 and matinee 18, and the double bill, including "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci," was the offering 12, 13 and evening of 15.....The Mordaunt & Block Stock Co., having completed its brief visit to other cities, returned to the COLUMBUS THEATRE on Oct. 10, and presented "Leah, the Jewess," a new version, by Oliver J. Booth, of "Leah, the Forsaken."

.....Wm. Greet's English Company, presenting "The Sign of the Cross," began a fortnight's engagement at the FOURTEENTH STREET THEATRE on Oct. 10.....Israel Zangwill, lecturer, novelist and critic, made his first bow to an American audience afternoon of Oct. 11, at the LYCEUM THEATRE, where he delivered a lecture on "The Drama as a Fine Art." His displayed considerable epigrammatic wit in his discourse, but his vigorous denouncement of the contemporary drama, playwrights, managers and players aroused a small tempest of protests from representatives of all the classes assailed, each champion giving his written views in the columns of one of the daily journals. Mr. Zangwill, who is under the management of Major J. B. Pond, would do well to use another lecture during his American tour.....Major Pond did us a greater service during the week in presenting to us Mme. Annie Grey, a Scottish vocalist, who gave three song lecture-recitals at CHICKERING HALL. The first of these, on the afternoon of Oct. 10, had for its theme "The Lays, Lilts and Legends of Scotland." The second, evening of 12, treated of Robert Burns, and the third, evening of 14, had for its subject "The Gathering of the Clans," and furnished songs and recitations concerning the Jacobite rising in 1745. The lady has a serviceable contralto voice, but cannot rightfully claim high rank as a singer. She brought to her aid, however, keen intelligence and considerable knowledge. She rendered most of her songs with good expression, although in some cases change of tempo seemed desirable, but her historical lore proved throughout to be both instructive and entertaining. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Ogolvie Grey, who played the accompaniments of the songs upon the piano, except in some cases, in which Mme. Gray accompanied herself upon the Scottish harp.

THE THIRTEEN CLUB will give a benefit on Sunday evening, Nov. 13, at the Broadway Theatre, for Marvin R. Clark, the blind newspaper man. Mr. Clark has been blind for some years, and is now seriously sick as well, and is in genuine need of help. A programme will be made up of numerous dramatic and musical entertainers of the best class. Among the members of the committee in charge of the affair are Surrogate J. H. V. Arnold, Richard Watson Gilder, Joseph Jefferson, Henry Bischoff Jr., A. J. Dittenhoefer, Edward Lauterbach, William Brookfield, W. W. Niles, Frank Tilford, Thomas Nast, Robert Hoe, H. H. Brockway, H. R. Plimpton, Thomas Dunn English, Randolph Guggenheimer and R. E. A. Dorr.

THE ANNUAL ELECTION of the Lambs occurred Oct. 13, with the following result: Shepherd, Thomas B. Clarke; boy, De Wolf Hopper; corresponding secretary, John Drew; recording secretary, Thomas Manning; treasurer, E. Clifford Potter; librarian, Guy Phelps Dodge; council, Clay M. Greene, Augustus Thomas and Stuart Robson. Treasurer Potter's annual report shows that the club is in a remarkably prosperous condition, having a balance to its credit of $55,043.06.

PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—Charles Manley, in "Down on the Farm," is the attraction this week, opening Oct. 17. It is the first metropolitan performance of this four act rural comedy, which has been seen on the road for a number of seasons. Mr. Manley, as Seth Huckins, portrayed the rural character in good style, and Ethel Brougham was a robust "Little Rox." The rest of the cast included Walker Fletcher, John C. Leach, Ed. Morris, John H. Rapp, Geo. Morehead, Charles Marsh, Edwin F. Lloyd, A. Rubin, Frank Mitchell, Sid C. Lanneer, Mrs. Chas. Manley, Ann Kingsley and Catharine Datour. The Brilliant Quartet contributed several selections. Next week, A. Q. Scammon's "The Sleeping City."

MANHATTAN THEATRE.—"The Turtle" continues to be a magnet at this house, and the large business which rules proves that it has lost none of its drawing power. It began Oct. 17 its seventh week. On that date the fiftieth performance was celebrated by the distribution, as souvenirs, of inkstands. The souvenirs, which are as dainty as any which have ever been given out in this city, have a gilt base, prettily embossed and decorated in blue and white enamel, while as a cover for the glass ink bowl is a miniature gilt turtle, embossed with green enamel.

GARRICK THEATRE.—Charles Hoyt's farce, "A Day and a Night," started on its eighth and last week on Oct. 17. Its fiftieth performance, 19, will, as usual, be made a souvenir occasion. It will be followed 24 by Annie Russell, who will make her starring debut in "Catherine," a play from a French source, in which she will have the support of an unusually large number of metropolitan favorites.

WALLACK'S.—Alice Nielson, in "The Fortune Teller," is having a very profitable engagement at this house. She is now in the fourth week of her stay and has faced large audiences at every performance. The opera is of far more than ordinary merit and rarely are we offered a more diverting entertainment.

FIFTH AVENUE THEATRE.—Joseph Jefferson began on Oct. 17 the second week of his engagement, retaining as his offering "The Rivals." He drew good houses last week.

EMPIRE THEATRE.—John Drew is now in the fourth week of his engagement, and his new play, "The Liars," is helping him to make a new record in this house. His greatest financial success during previous engagements here was won through "Rosemary," but thus far his present offering has, it is claimed, yielded even better box office returns.

BROADWAY THEATRE.—Francis Wilson, in "The Little Corporal," entered on Oct. 17 upon the fifth week of his engagement. The public has given the work hearty and substantial endorsement.

HERALD SQUARE THEATRE.—"Hotel Topsy Turvy" began on Oct. 17 the third week of its run. It has been greatly improved since the opening night.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—"Sporting Life" is enjoying a prosperous career at this house, where on Oct. 17 it started upon the fourth week of its run. It is a stirring play, rich in incidents of strong interest, elaborately mounted and worthy of its good fortune. On the above date Wm. Courtleigh, of the Lyceum Co., assumed the role of Lord Woodstock.

MADISON SQUARE THEATRE.—The comedy company engaged by Charles Frohman for his theatre, and which here and elsewhere will bear the name of the house, made its first appearance here on Oct. 17, and gave the first metropolitan presentation of "On and Off," an adaptation in three acts from Alexandre Bisson's "Le Contrôleur des Wagons Lits" ("The Inspector of Sleeping Cars"). The company has been playing some road dates, and gave this farce its first American production on Oct. 3 at the Lafayette Square Opera House, Washington, D. C. Its story appears elsewhere in this issue. The adaptor, whose name is not given, has done his work well, for while there is still considerable Gallic flavor in his version, we can readily imagine that a close translation of the original would have been scarcely palatable here. In its present form, however, there is little or naught to offend the most fastidious of theatre goers, while the work retains all the merits of the French school. It is vivacious and witty, and the story is well conceived and deftly treated. Some of its situations are novel and take the audience quite by surprise, and the entertainment is so continuous that the farcical extravagance of its dialogue and situations never become wearisome. It is delightfully mirth provoking from start to finish and its effect is refreshing and invigorating. The extraneous blackmailing business scheme, one of the pleasant surprises of the play, is skillfully introduced and capitally handled, and the transposition of families at the breakfast table in the last act affords further surprise of a very entertaining sort, while it admirably serves its purpose. The company is excellent. Every member of it is well known, and almost all are metropolitan favorites. The performance was of unusual excellence, each member of the company being thoroughly well fitted, and the author's nice sense of proportion in the creation of his roles was carefully considered in their stage embodiment. E. M. Holland was primal of fun, and used every device of the comedian's art with the utmost skill. Facial expression, intelligent pantomime, rapid change of mood and of voice, celerity of motion and a fine sense of humor combined to make his performance as artistic as it was enjoyable. Fritz Williams was an excellent foil, and gave to his role that lightness of touch and bouyancy of spirit which always make his work so entertaining and praiseworthy. Amelia Bingham had all the seeming of a woman who might easily inspire love, and was in all respects worthy of praise. Further than this, individual mention is unnecessary, for it is sufficient to say no fault could be found in any member of the company, but, on the contrary, merit was everywhere conspicuous. The play evoked much hearty laughter, and must be credited with having won success at a bound. The cast: George Godfray, E. M. Holland; Alfred Godfray, Fritz Williams; Brumaire, Samuel Reed; Du Patty de Clam, Byron Douglas; Martel, James Kearney; Randolphe, Reuben Fax; Madeleine Godfray, Amelia Bingham; Madame Brumaire, Maggie Holloway Fisher; Madame Martel, Anita Rothe; Rosa Martel, Katherine Florence; Lisette, May Lambert; Julie, May Gallyer; Alice, Augusta Glose.

PLEASURE PALACE.—Manager Proctor's uptown continuous performance house is in the full tide of prosperity, due to its permanent policy of low prices and big shows. Monday, Oct. 17, afternoon and evening, a crowded auditorium gave a most cordial welcome to that admirable actress, Mme. Janauschek, who, on this occasion, made her vaudeville debut as well as an unqualified hit in Augustin Daly's adaptation of a German farce, entitled "Come Here," which enabled her to display her versatility to good effect. Able assistance was rendered her by Chas. Kent and Lawrence Merton. Milton and Dolly Nobles, who are always acceptable in farce and are prime favorites with the clientele of the house, presented "Why Walker Reformed." John W. Ransome treated the political topics of the day in a highly satirical manner. Mme. Flower vocalized to good effect, and was the recipient of many marks of approval. Hall and Stayley, musical burglars, gave a performance that met with favor. The Three Rossi Brothers, acrobatic grotesques, were heartily received, the other good numbers on the programme including the Seven Reed Birds, in "A Trolley Picnic;" the Review Comedy Four, in comedy and song; Bobby Ralston, the funny little man; Hall Merritt, mimic and monologuist; Eugene Neidert, expert bicyclist, and Nettie Fields, buck and wing dancer. Fred Watson, in his piano manipulations, secured, as he always does, rapt attention. The wargraph still continues to present up to date views of happenings at home and abroad, interspersed with pictures of a comical nature. Sunday's concerts packed the house both afternoon and evening, late comers being compelled to be satisfied with standing room. Robert Hilliard, Amelia Summerville, Caron and Herbert, and many other top liners are announced for next week.

LONDON THEATRE.—"Miss New York Jr.," Joseph Oppenheimer's attraction, opened here to a good house Monday evening, Oct. 17. This is its first week on the Bowery this season, but it received favorable comment in these columns during its presentation at a Harlem house. "Fun on the Royal Blue Line" furnishes a series of diversions, in which Sadie Leonard as the soubrette, Charles M. Crolius as a really funny countryman George Lawrence as the old maid, and John Connelly, Willie Barrows (a clever dancer), Frank M. Forrest, Joe Edwards, James Leonard, Olive Clayton, Doris Wilson, Nellie Hill, Annie Hill, Adele St. Alva, Muncie Florence, Ruth Clayton, Phœbe Wilson, May Herne, Bertha Norwood, Marie Ames and Blanche Guichard took part. The Hill Sisters were seen in the olio in their clever soft shoe dancing; the Craig Musical Trio rang bells and played on novel instruments; James and Sadie Leonard appeared in their comedy boxing act, and were liberally applauded for their lively work; Connelly and Edwards introduced Hibernian comedy, with some grossly vulgar dialogue; the Judges, in their feet balancing act, and Frank M. Forrest described vocally "Yankees in Cuba." The military burlesque showed plenty of life and color, and Sadie Leonard appeared in it as the bull fighter. Doris Wilson was a comely Estrella, and George Lawrence was another female creation. James Leonard, Frank M. Forrest, John Connelly, C. M. Crolius and Joe Edwards looked after the comedy in good shape. The costumes were handsome. Next week, "Zero."

SAM T. JACK'S THEATRE.—Good business is in order here continually, the attendance on Monday, Oct. 17, being up to the standard, and the show evidently pleased all beholders. The first part is prettily set, and the olio engages clever variety folk, including the Four Broadway Dancers, Paulo and Dika, Phillips and Robinson, Nizarras and Leone, Alice Warren, the Lorraines, Davenport Brothers and Joe Hardman. Living pictures and "Mock Turtle," a travesty on a current play, are incidental features. The burlesque, "A Warm Reception," engages Mattie Delmore, Emma Brown, Agnes Harron, Lillie Wood, Della Smilie, Maud McDonald, Helene Edouarde, Mlle. Serpolette, Lillian Daniels, Mamie Kent, Dorothy Edwards, Cora Cadiz, Grace Warren, Gussie Vivian, Jeanette Kennedy, Jennie Lamont, May Belle, Carrie Thomas, Lotta Lewis, Emma Mason, Geo. E. Beban, Maude King, Ed. Morris, Jas. Thompson, Mae Leslie, Rietta Richmond, May Ferrell, Nellie Johnston, Hazel Grant, Adelaide Fell, Nora Lovelace, Nellie Emerson.

STAR THEATRE.—Mildred Holland, starring as Fan Fan, in "Two Little Vagrants," attracted a packed house to this favorite resort Monday, Oct. 17. The long and profitable run of the piece, at a house just around the corner, served to advertise its merits, and the engagement is likely to be one of the best in the house season. The supporting company is excellent in all respects. The cast: George d'Armont, Maurice Drew; Captain Robert d'Albert, Edwin Meyer; M. St. Henri, John Fordham; Le Renard, Del La Barre; Muiot, Harry W. Collins; Fadart, Walter Cooke; Brisquet, Richard Morse; Sexton, Fred Farrell; Gendarme, C. H. Travers; Servant, John Arlington; Helen d'Armont, Ethel Brandon; Carmen St. Henri, Ada Curry; Claude, Delphine Perrault; Zephyrine, Anna Bodden; Sister Simplice, Katherine Vincent; Maid, Lillian Clare; Fan Fan, Mildred Holland. Next week, "On Land and Sea."

LYCEUM THEATRE.—E. H. Sothern is now in the eighth week of a successful engagement. He will continue to present "The Adventure of Lady Ursula" for the next ensuing two weeks, at the expiration of which time it will be withdrawn from his repertory for the remainder of this season, as Miss Harned will then temporarily retire from the stage. During the remainder of his engagement here he will be seen in "The Old Love and the New," a play which he presented elsewhere last season under the title of "A Shilling's Worth."

FOURTEENTH STREET THEATRE.—The second and last week of "The Sign of the Cross" began Monday, Oct. 17, with a big house in attendance.

TONY PASTOR'S THEATRE.—The advent of cool October weather had an invigorating effect upon the crowds which rushed to this house on Monday, Oct. 17, and the standing room jam was exceptional even at this house of always big attendance. Richard Harlow is billed as the feature. One of the big hits of the show fell to Carrie Scott, who blossomed out resplendent in new wardrobe. Her pickaninny assistant is a host in himself. Miss Scott is always in favor here, and seems to increase in popularity with each reappearance. O. K. Sato is a comedy juggler. His "foolishness" between tricks is funny and his juggling first class. He made a hit. Nellie Burt's "London success" was probably her dancing of the coon song, "Warmest Baby in the Bunch." She made fair headway with two songs not well suited to her, did better in the straight singing of a "coon" melody, and scored a positive hit when she got down to dancing while she sang the song first mentioned. She is agility personified, and it's a wonder where she gets the wind. Bingham, a ventriloquist, offered several novelties in that line and was applauded. Chas. B. Nelson and Mamie Millege offered their familiar comedy sketch effectively, and Hanley and Jarvis "made good" in their singing and talking act. Lew Bloom and Jane Cooper made one of the hits of the show with their clever comedy specialty, in which Miss Cooper's singing was especially applauded. The artistic musical specialty always expected from Lillie Western was, as usual, forthcoming, and her hit was immense. Mlle. Valesca, a beautiful woman, did an aerial ring act, with applause resulting; the Borani Brothers "disappeared." Billy Payne offered his musical monologue, Sheridan and Forrest did a comedy sketch, and Axtell and Howard, in acrobatic contortions, completed the bill.

MINER'S BOWERY THEATRE.—The Venetian Burlesquers, under the direction of Irwin Brothers, is the attraction this week, and provides a satisfactory entertainment, opening Oct. 17. Russell and Tillyne open the show in their grotesque acrobatic comedy act, with vocal trimmings. Their dances were well done. Harlan and Yost, in their parodies and repartee; the Sisters Carmontelle, in a lively act; Howard and Mack, in a hodge podge of funny songs and sayings; the Versatile Trio (Jack Marshall, Nellie Sylvester and Charles H. Weston), in "The Eccentric Visitor;" Newell and Shevett, in their novel act on the horizontal bars, and Rice and Eberlain, in illustrated songs, complete the strong bill. "The Street Fair" is the concluding part of the entertainment; it is founded on "War Bubbles," and shows the large company off to advantage. Winnie Richards is a dashing captain of U. S. N.; Nellie Sylvester is Nichette; Harry Yost, the theatrical manager; Jack Marshall and Bob Mack, a funny brace of Hebrews, and Hattie Carmontelle a jolly little coon. Ed. Russell, Charles Weston, Dick Leggett and Ed. Howard assist in supplying comedy characters. Belle Princeton, Katharine Shack, Eva Taylor, Edna Russell, Mae Carmontelle, Rose Doyle, Lottie Stewart, Jennie Crawford, Mamie Dillon, Lottie Williams, Jeanette Bently, Daisy Cobb, Kate Washburn, Tillie Nelson and Bertha Leslie complete the company. Fred. Irwin is manager; Charles E. Taylor, business manager; George H. Foster, musical director; Dick Leggett, stage manager. Next week, Irwin Brothers' Burlesquers.

THIRD AVENUE THEATRE.—A well filled house was in evidence Monday evening, Oct. 17, when "The Fire Patrol" was revived by the stock. Edward R. Mawson, as Jack Dallas and Mason Morgan, and Edgar Selwyn, as Dave Armstrong and Dick Merrifield, shared honors with Mabel France and Helen Holland. The scenic effects were fairly realistic. Wm. Yearance, as Allen Westford, was the polished villain, and Richard Lyle's "stagger act" was a humorous creation. Geo. Welch, Geo. Gans, A. N. Black, Frances Vivian, Bert Clark, Wm. Hopper, Howard Messimer, Della Clark and Emma Hayner completed the cast. The list of specialties included Foreman and West, who made a terrific hit; Pauline Moran, in vocal selections, and Oscar Dane, who gave a series of imitations of prominent actors and miscellaneous characters. Next week, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

CASINO.—This house was dark on Oct. 17, because of the sudden termination of the Royal Italian Opera Co.'s engagement, the singers refusing to continue unless back salaries were forthcoming. Mr. Blair, the proprietor and backer of the company, who, it appears, has lost heavily on the venture, was said to have refused an appeal for funds to pay the performers, and, as the receipts of the present engagement were woefully small, with no cheerful outlook for the future, the disbandment was the result. The Casino management is believed to be secured by a guarantee for the payment of a stipulated sum from Mr. Blair for rental, which obligation he will no doubt be compelled to meet. Messrs. Lederer and McClellan are making every effort to secure an attraction to fill in the time before their production of "A Dangerous Maid."

WEBER & FIELDS' BROADWAY MUSIC HALL.—There is no diminution in the business here, packed houses being the invariable rule. "Hurly Burly" continues on its mirthful way as popular a fun maker as ever. Charles J. Ross, Joseph Weber, Lou Fields, David Warfield, Peter F. Dailey, John T. Kelly, Fay Templeton, Mable Fenton, Lee Harrison and the Beaumont Sisters continue their good work in the burlesque, and Bessie Clayton is still a favorite in her dances. "Hurly Burly" began Oct. 17 its seventh week. In the olio the favorite "bum" juggler, Harrigan, and La Belle Wilma, sand painter, entertained.

GARDEN THEATRE.—Richard Mansfield, now in the third week of his engagement at this house, has in "Cyrano De Bergerac" a veritable treasure. It is a play in which his art has found its most felicitous expression, and which effectually refutes the slander that playwrights and players have become degenerate. "Cyrano De Bergerac" is a great play, the work of a master hand, and Mr. Mansfield's acting therein is worthy of the highest praise.

MINER'S EIGHTH AVENUE THEATRE.—Irwin Brothers' Burlesquers gave their first local performance of the season at this house, Monday, Oct. 17, when a big attendance gave frequent evidence of approval. Specialties start the ball rolling, Barry Thompson and Annie Carter opening the show with a comedy act, which is followed, for this week at least, by Scott and Wilson, in a new acrobatic act. The last mentioned team joined to replace the Sisters Valmore, who are out of the bill temporarily; Geo. Sidney and Goeman, offering a singing and talking act; the Street Arabs Quartet, including Walter Stockwell, Harry Quille, Edwin Stockwell and Will Slaght; Chas. Merrill, trick cycling, and vocal selections by Lillian Waltone complete the olio. "A Night at the Armory" is the concluding burlesque, which introduces Pauline Black as a shapely and efficient principal boy, prominent assistants being Marion Dunn, Annie Carter and Lillian Waltone, all of whom "shape up" well, and Louise Carver, who has an eccentric comedy role, which she carries to a hit. Barry Thompson, as a combination Irish comedian, takes prominence in the fun making through his composite mannerisms, which suggest Johnnie Ray, John Leonard, Joseph J. Sullivan, Harry Fisher, and nothing original. Geo. Sidney portrays a quiet Jew effectively. The costumes of the women are strikingly handsome, the chorus includes some pretty girls, the singing is far better than is usually heard in burlesque organizations, and the comedy, save when vulgar crops out, is effective. Altogether the show is a thoroughly good one. Fred Irwin is manager; W. L. Balauff, business manager; Homer Howard, stage manager; Frank Oppenheimer, musical director, and Harry Overton, electrician. Next week, the Venetian Burlesquers.

KNICKERBOCKER THEATRE.—Viola Allen entered on Oct. 17 upon the second week of her engagement with very bright prospects. She is a great favorite in this city, she has a play founded upon a book which has had many interested readers, and she has good support. In addition to these advantages her own efforts, greatly aided by those of Mr. Morgan, her leading man, have caused the public to think she has a good play, so her success seems well assured.

HUBER'S PALACE MUSEUM.—The feature of the curio hall display for Oct. 17-22 is a log racing contest, the participants exhibiting their expertness in a mammoth tank. Other features are Fannie Burdett, midget snake charmer; Miss Lotta, an Orang Outang; Mlle. Gracie's trained birds, and others. The stage show engages Bowen and Miles, Alexander Norton, Crawford and Simpson, Conway and Mack and Sunderland and Fooda. Business is excellent.

NUGENT'S SUNDAY CONCERT attracted another big house to the Star Theatre Oct. 16. The entertainment enlisted Harry Lacy, Frank Bush, Patrice, Jennie Yeamans, Emma Carus, John and Nellie McCarthey, Farrell and Taylor, Harry Edson and the wargraph.

R. A. OOVERDALE, formerly acting manager for Nellie McHenry, is now on the executive staff at Weber & Fields' Broadway Music Hall.

KEITH'S UNION SQUARE THEATRE.—Two fine houses were in attendance here on Monday, Oct. 17, when the new bill went into effect. The change in prices seems to have had an effect upon the number of forced standing room patrons, and late comers now can find a seat for their occupancy at a slight advance in price. The understanding seems to be that patrons are better satisfied with these conditions than when the entire lower floor was open to fifty cent invasion. The American biograph is in many respects the crowning feature of the current bill, the enterprise manifested in frequently changed and always interesting animated picture displays keeping the machine an always prominent factor in the show, in spite of its many months' sojourn. E. E. Rice's colored cake walkers fill the stage with both prose and poetry of motion, and the vaudeville section engages many other interesting bits. Chas. Kilpatrick, the monopede 'cyclist, reappears after three years' absence from local fields. He has added clay pigeon shooting from the wheel as a particularly new feature of his act, besides introduding many new tricks in the actual manipulation of the machine. His success was instantaneous, and rounds of applause punctuated the many strong points in his specialty. O'Brien and Havel introduced their acrobatic singing and dancing comedy sketch, with the usual pleasing results, their hit being one of the noteworthy things about the bill. The Macarte Sisters, a trio of skillful wire performers, likewise scored a strong success with their novel and well executed specialty. Dixon, Bowers and Dixon, a triplet of clever comedians, vocalists and dancers, put their slashing good act through innings which resulted in strong hits, and Stack and Wilton won much approval through their horizontal bar performance. John E. Camp, a comic vocalist; the Behrwell Trio, ring performers; the Gleesons, graceful and talented dancers; Willett and Thorn Comedy Co. in a farce; Fields and Salina, acrobatic comedy folk; Kitty Bingham, a vocalist of pleasing voice and appearance; Edward J. Boyle, blind musician; Antionette Cyr and Eddie Hill, juvenile vocalists, and McNish and Albro complete the bill. The last mentioned act deserves notice for especial effectiveness.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE.—Business at this popular resort rules big afternoons and nights, last week's attendance being very large, and on several occasions even standing room was not obtainable. For week of Oct. 17 General Manager J. Austin Fynes offers one of the most entertaining bills ever seen on the local continuous stage. It is strong, both in its recruits from the dramatic stage and in the vaudeville numbers, not a weak number being presented. The attendance at the opening performances on Monday was big. Top lining the bill was Robert Hilliard, assisted by Edwin Holland, John Wolfe and Little Alice, and presenting "The Littlest Girl." The play and players were justly accorded marked evidences of approval. Scarcely less entertaining was "Belinder Bailey's Boarders" in the hands of Barton Hill and Charles Willard, assisted by Chas. G. Stevens, Ella Sothern and Gracie Beebe. Mr. Hill and Mr. Willard have long been favorites on the dramatic stage, and their work, as well as that of their company, was highly appreciated. Amelia Sommerville, assisted by Miron Leffingwell and May Wheeler, presented "Kyd's Bride," and the hearty approval accorded the trio was proof of their good work. Max Eugene, the well known baritone singer, rendered a number of selections, and won great applause. Gerge Fuller Golden was as pleasing as ever in his monologue, and the Gypsy Quintette (including Chas. King, tenor singer) marked their debut in the continuous by becoming immediate favorites. Others on the bill were: The Three Vilona Sisters, musical act; Iler, Burke and McDonald, comedy acrobats; Leavitt and Nevello, jugglers; the Lundgrens, aerialists; Bertie Fowler, monologuist; Cadieux, wire performer; Clements, Marshall and Little Sunshine, in comedy and coon songs, and Berendo and Breen, club jugglers, all of whom met with decided favor. The ever popular wargraph completed the bill.

KOSTER & BIAL'S.—Good attendance is the rule at this resort, where the burlesque "In Gotham" continues to hold forth. It began Oct. 17 the fifth week of its stay, and on that date was introduced the first burlesque on "Cyrano de Bergerac" of the many which will doubtless appear. It is the work of Richard Carle, with music by Alfred C. Aarons, and is in three scenes. Doggerel takes the place, at times, of the Alexandrine verse of Rostand, and both Mr. Daly and Mr. Mansfield are introduced as characters in the burlesque. There is considerable fun making material in the work. The mock duel between Sir Andy and Christian Endeavor, while by no means new business, is amusing. Dick Bernard in the title role was funny, but suffered somewhat from nervousness. Richard Carle met all the requirements of the role of Christian Endeavor and helped in the general fun-making. Josephine Hall was the Roxiana Reehan. The cast: Sir Andy De Bootjack, Dick Bernard; Christian Endeavor, Richard Carle; Jacqueyon, William Sloan; Mount Flewey, Tony Sullivan; Augustin Dooley, Peter M. Lang; Richyard Manzfeld, Richard Guise; The Oldhenna, May Duryea; Mollie Owe, Nellie Butler; Roxiana Reehan, Josephine Hall. The olio included: The Six Senetts, grotesque comedians; Blanche Deliere, chanteuse eccentrique; Sisters Merkel, equilibrists, and the Avolos, xylophone experts, all popular holdovers.

AMERICAN THEATRE.—The usual crowded house, Oct. 17, marked the opening of the second week of the Castle Square Opera Co.'s presentation of "Aida." The patrons who last week saw Yvonne de Treville as Aida and Jos. F. Sheehan as Rhadames, had the opportunity of comparing their work with that of Effie Stewart and William Lavin, respectively. While neither of the first two mentioned suffered by comparison with the alternates, both Miss Stewart and Mr. Lavin gave a highly satisfactory account of themselves, and the rounds of hearty applause which was accorded them was justly earned. Otherwise the cast was the same as the opening date, 10, and the same good work was done by the company. The cast: Aida, Effie Stewart; King, S. P. Vernon; Amneris, Lizzie MacNichol; Rhadames, William Lavin; Ramfis, Herbert Witherspoon; Amonasro, Wm. G. Stewart; Messenger, Algernon Aspland. The alternates for the week will be: Aida, Miss De Treville; Rhadames, Mr. Sheehan; Amonasro, Mr. Chase, and Amneris, Grace Romaine. "Il Trovatore" will be the bill next week.

MURRAY HILL THEATRE.—"Pique" served as the offering on Oct. 17, and gave the Donnelly stock excellent opportunities for individual good work, of which they were by no means slow to avail themselves. All concerned gave so enjoyable a rendering of the roles assigned them that special mention is made unnecessary. The cast: Matthew Standish, William Redmund; Captain Arthur Standish, Robert Drouet; Doctor Gossitt, E. T. Stetson; Mr. Raymond Lessing, Emmett C. King; Sammy Dymple, Walter Allen; Thorsby Gyll, Charles D. Waldron; Raymoney Jim, Edwin Nicander; Pudder, H. O'Connor; Picker Bob, S. M. Kelly; Rattlin, Wm. Hickey; Captain Spears, William Stuart; Mabel Renfrew, Hannah May Ingham; Lucille Renfrew, Rose Beaudet; Mary Standish, Dorothy Donnelly; Aunt Dorothy, Mrs. Thos. Barry; Racket, Sandol Milliken; Mother Thames, Florence Evans; Sylvie, Lucia Gory; Little Arthur, Litule Nellie McCarthy. "Jim the Penman" is in preparation for next week.

BIJOU THEATRE.—Sam Bernard, in "The Marquis of Michigan," is continued as the attraction here to satisfactory returns. He began Oct. 17 his fifth week, and has yet three weeks to his credit.

Harlem.—At the Harlem Opera House "The Bride Elect" came for a week's stay Oct. 17. The house was packed from top to bottom, and the company should do a big business, as the demand for seats is very large. Next week, the Bostonians.

COLUMBUS.—The stock company continues for the present week, presenting "As You Like It." Mary Shaw appeared in the role of Rosalind, and was well received. Una Abell, Alberta Gallatin, Frank Aiken, Frank Mordaunt and Rose Parker won approval for their good work. The cast: The Duke, Frank E. Aiken; Frederick, Theo. DeVere; Amiens, Rose Parker; Jacques, Frank Mordaunt, Le Beau, Donald P Bowles; Charles, Geo. Stevens; Oliver, John T. Malone; Jaques, Theo DeVere; Orlando, Wm. G. Beach; Adam, Carl Ahrendt; Touchstone, Chas W. Bowser; Corin, Root Sutherland; Sylvius, D. P. Bowles; William, Andrew Stephens; Rosalind, Mary Shaw; Celia, Una Abell; Phebe, Violet Fand; Audrey, Alberta Gallatin.

METROPOLIS.—Business was not of the best during the past week, owing, no doubt, to the poor attraction "On Land and Sea," one of Dav's & Keogh's attractions was presented for the first time to a New York audience at this house 17, and was warmly received by a crowded house. The scenic effects and the company were good. The play is of a highly sensational order. The cast: John Massey George P. Tiffany; James Dunham, Henry Pierson; Jack Darrell, Joseph Rawley; Simeon Crawl, W. H. Harvey; Joe Perge, R. J. Moye; Tim Darcey, James T. McEnary; Gambia, John F. Loghney; Billy Blue, W. H. Smith; Captain Rhett, Harry Mathews; William Brief, Herbert Jones; Barney, Chas. A. Barrett; Joel King, J. W. Herbert; Little Gambia, Little Nelly Claire; Zada, Edith Ives; Lucy Massey, Louise Muller; Mrs. Cora Massey, Susie Willis; Sally Green, Alice Gilmore. Next week, "When London Sleeps."

OLYMPIC.—Joe Oppenheimer's Zero Co. opened its season at this house 17, to the best Monday night house of the season. The scenery has been brightened up and several additions made. The costumes are beautiful. The following specialty people are with the show: Rawson and Baisley, in a comic turn; Lew Ross, female impersonator; Werde and Erwood, dancers; Fish and Quigg, "the long and short of it;" Lillie Jerome, grotesque dancer; Mr And Mrs. Neuville, in their burlesque of "The Lady of Lyons," and Madden and McCarthy, Celtic entertainers. The performance concluded with a grand ballet and electrical climax, making a most effective finale. The business staff includes Joe Oppenheimer, proprietor; Jas. Reese, manager; S. Strauss, representative; C. Jacobson, musical director; L. Gross, stage carpenter; Ed. Medusky, electrician; Joe Madden, stage manager. Next week, Rentz-Santley Burlesque Co.

HARLEM MUSIC HALL.—Isham's Octoroons turned people away the last part of last week at this house. The bill for this week is a strong one, and was witnessed by the usual crowded house 17. It includes: J. K. Emmett and company, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sidman, Diana, the Three Westons, Fred. T. Herbert, Lottie Auber, Savilla and Stuart and Chas. Kenna.

HARLEM MUSEUM.—Things look bright for a week of good business. This week's people are: Rostel and Rossley, West and Bryant, Lynch and Lovely, Emile Miller, Lady Citirice, Prof. Banks, Nellie Howe and Etting Sisters.

Brooklyn.—"Uncle Dick," by Martha Morton, was presented at the Montauk Theatre Oct. 17, by Sol Smith Russell, when it was seen for the first time in this borough by a large audience. As Richard Sherman (Uncle Dick) Mr. Russell kept his audience in a roar, and was obliged to respond to repeated encores, and once responded with a speech. Fanny Addison Pitt, as Mrs. John Sherman, and Ethel Winthrop, as Elizabeth Well, divided honors with him. The play appears to be better adapted to Mr. Russell than any in which he has appeared for some time. Uncle Dick is a peculiar person of wealth, who tries to satisfy the ambitions of his poor relatives, and at the same time show them the folly of the goal they are trying to reach. Where they expected triumph and happiness they find only humiliation and discomfiture. Uncle Dick, whom they thought against them, was shown to be their best friend. Next week, Ada Rehan and company.

GRAND.—The other novelty is presented here by James O'Neil, in "When Greek Meets Greek." It was seen 17, for the first time in this borough, by a large audience. The play is in four acts, all of which are well put together and full of action. Mr. O'Neil has an excellent company. This bill will be repeated on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, and Friday and Saturday evenings the bill will be "Monte Cristo." Next week, the Rays, in "A Hot Old Time."

BIJOU.—When "In Old Kentucky" opened here 17 it had the appearance of a novel y, as it was clothed in an entirely new scenic outfit. From the first act to the last everything was brand new, and the mechanical effects and the paraphernalia, surpass anything yet shown here in this play. The company of players which Manager Litt has this season engaged for this piece is by far the best that has ever interpreted it. The original pickaninny brass band is still a distinct feature of the presentation, while another attractive feature is the stable of thoroughbreds, led by Queen Bess. That the show still holds favor with Brooklyn theatregoers was shown by the large and enthusiastic audience present on the opening night. Next week, "John Martin's Secret."

COLUMBIA.—The Bostonians are here this week in two of their greatest successes, opening 17 in "The Serenade," before a large audience. This bill will be repeated Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and Saturday matinee. At the Wednesday matinee and Thursday and Friday nights "Robin Hood" will be the bill. There is little to be said about either work, so familiar have they become. The company that presents these operas is as strong as any the

Bobby Ralston, the Brannigans, McClain and Cordelle, Jas. A. Reagan, Hodgkins and Leith, and their always favorite biograph. The roster for 17 and week includes: Louis Massen and Cora Tanner, in "Drifted Apart;" Press Eldridge, Mlle. Orbissany and her cockatoos, Josephine Gassman and pickaninnies, Stirk and Anita, J. H. NOTES —After the performance Friday night the members of "Me and Jack" Company were royally entertained at a social session given by Knights of Pythias. Several members of the company belong to the order. .....Arthur Deming's Minstrels closed its season in this city after the performance Oct. 15. The company had been on the road thirteen weeks, and, according to the statement made by its members, would still be had it not been for the former manager, Harry J. Clapham, of Owego, who abandoned the show on short notice a few days ago. Mr. Deming, who is personally well known and popular in Elmira, being a member of the local lodge of Elks, also attributes the cause of closing to Mr. Clapham's actions, and reiterates the statement made by the members of his company.....In THE CLIPPER of Oct. 8 it was stated that the Jean Renolds company, which was advertised to appear at the Globe Theatre week of 3, had been canceled. This statement was made owing to an announcement to that effect published in the local papers over Manager Eugene Johnson's name. According to a statement made by the local manager to the Elmira correspondent of THE CLIPPER the telegram sent to this paper over his signature, stating that the company opened 8, to big business, was penned by Manager Horace Grant, of the Renolds company, who neglected to state that no admission was charged. The company did not appear again until Saturday, owing, it is said, to the illness of Miss Renolds. On that day two performances were given, as stated in issue of Oct. 15.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston.—Notable among the changes of bills for the current week will be the production at the Columbia Theatre of Sutton Vane's melodrama, "John Martin's Secret," which will be presented under the management of Wm. Calder, and with a fully competent cast, and everything necessary in the way of special scenery and stage mechanism. It will be followed next week by "A Hired Girl." Last week, "Cumberland '61."

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—Maude Adams, in "The Little Minister," has undoubtedly scored a success of the most pronounced nature here. Audiences that have never been surpassed have thronged the auditorium, and the criticisms upon the merits of the work of the actress have been emphatically and unanimously in her praise. She is now in her fifth week, and seats for the sixth are already announced for Tuesday next.

BOSTON THEATRE.—"The White Heather," one of the finest spectacular and scenic productions staged in this city for many years, drew fine business to the Boston last week, and well it might, for it is rarely that our theatregoers have had an opportunity to enjoy such a combination of scenic adornment, intricate stage devices and thoroughly commendable rendition of roles as in this sterling play. It is worthy of every word that can be spoken in its praise, and that its run here will be a success in every way is an assured fact.

TREMONT THEATRE.—Frank Daniels, in "The Idol's Eye," drew excellent business here last week, and the closing week of his booking is billed for the presentation on an elaborate scale of the very powerful play, "The Wizard of the Nile," which will be produced with new costumes, scenery and a greatly enlarged chorus. Week of 24, Sol Smith Russell in Martha Morton's new comedy, "Uncle Dick." Week of 31 Ada Rehan and Daly's company will appear in "Cyrano de Bergerac."

BOSTON MUSEUM.—John J. McNally's last piece of farce comedy work, "A Reign of Error," has met with a reception here that must surely be quite gratifying to the author. It is on for another first night, and there is no doubt that the good business will continue. Oct. 31, return of "Jack and the Beanstalk."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The first week of the engagement of Thos E. Shea at Manager Magee's theatre was marked by a succession of audiences that fully tested the holding capacity of the structure. The talented actor was seen at his best in the nautical drama, "The Man-o'-War's Man," which was admirably cast and staged. For week of 17, he will appear in repertory, giving "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "The Bells" and "The Man-o'-War's Man" during the rest of his engagement Next week, "A Spring Chicken."

KEITH'S THEATRE.—The Knaben-Kapelle, or band of juvenile Hungarian instrumental musicians, have created a furore here, and no mistake. For musical players of their age their equals have never been seen in this city, and the perfection of their performances is simply wonderful. They remain here during the present week, and also on the programme are S. Miller Kent, Harry Woodruff, Rofix, Morton and Reville, Giacinta Della Rocca, Harra Edson, the Schrode Bros., Power and Hyde, the Brilliant Quartette, Sheen and Kennedy, Fred Brown and Tommy Haves.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE —A revival of Belasco & De Mille's four act play, "Men and Women," is announced by the management of this house, and will be staged week of 17 with the house company. Next week, "Cyrano de Bergerac." Last week, "Brother John."

PARK THEATRE.—There is no doubt as to the popularity of "The French Maid" here. It has drawn "like a yoke of oxen," and its pulling power does not appear to wane in the least It is still on, and, with Anna Held in the title role, together with a sterling support, led by Chas A. Bigelow, and "something new every week," it bids fair to have a successful career.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE.—A dramatized version of the opera of "Faust" is the bill for week of 17. It will be presented by the strength of the house stock, with Joseph Callahan, E. L. Snader, Mary Kent and Fanny McIntyre in the leads. Next week, "Romany Rye." Last week "Woman Against Woman."

NICKELODEON.—Ferrum-Gigus, who allows dynamite to be exploded on his head, is the main feature this week, although there is a long list of good attractions.

HOWARD ATHENÆUM.—The strength of the attraction here week of 17 will be fully demonstrated in the charms of Weber & Fields' vaudeville club of bright burlesquers, who will present the laughable burletta entitled "The Wayhighman and the Wee Minister." In the olio offered are Lizzie B. Raymond, McAvoy and May, John and Harry Dillon, Billy Van, Johnny Quigley, and a half dozen other versatile specialty people.

AUSTIN & STONE'S MUSEUM.—A kaleidoscopic tournament of varied entertainment is presented here for the present week, the category of novelties embracing, as a principal feature, O'Kabe's Japanais Fantastics, in the ranks of which is "Yum Yum," the young female who was born armless, but who can do wonders with her toes. The huge electrograph will show word pictures. Cattanach and McDowell will contest in wrestling exhibitions, and Mlle. Garetta's trained cockatoos will surprise all who see them. On the stage: Magee and Crimmins, Dick Plunkett, Gorman and Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Wright, Thompson Sisters, Wonderful Rodney, Harry Brennan, the Burroughs Livermore Family, Maude and Little Tony, Bertie Fitzgibbon, Whimsical Montello, Three Sisters Sheffield, Alice Warren, Finn and Mack, Prof. Igoe.

LYCEUM THEATRE —Rice & Barton's Extravaganza Company is booked here for week of 17, and will present vaudeville and burlesque. Their offerings will consist of "Maud of the Tenderloin" and "Naughty Coney Island." In the company are Rice and Eckhoff, Swan and Blanchard, the Princeton Sisters, Frankie Haines, Idylle Vyner, Mlle. Elsieta, Touhey and Mack, Eddie Miles, Daisy Raymond, and Rice and Barton.

GRAND THEATRE —The Parisian Widows' Burlesque Co. will be seen in the burletta, "A Night on Broadway." In the specialty line are the Manhattan Comedy Four, Cushman and Holcombe, Gilbert and Goldie, Boyce and Black, Dryden and Leslie, and the Burman Sisters.

NOTES —Business continues good at the Gypsy Camp. .....Manager Geo. W Magee announces the following attractions at the Grand Opera House during the three weeks succeeding the engagement of Thos. E. Shea: Edgar Selden's "A Spring Chicken," week of Oct. 24; Eddie Girard, in "Natural Gas," and "The Girl from Paris,".....'In Old Kentucky" and Robert Mantell will be seen at the Columbia Theatre in the near future..... During Andrew Mack's coming engagement at the Boston Museum he will be seen in two comedies.....'Jack and the Beanstalk" returns to the Boston Museum Oct. 31, with a number of changes in the cast of the principals among them Louise Hepner, as Jack; Marie Celeste, as Mistress Mary; Jessie Villers, as Mother Hubbard, and Harry Clay Blaney, as Old King Cole.....Maude Adams is playing a phenomenal engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre. Week of 31 will be the sixth of her booking, and seats therefor are already on sale. ..... What Happened to Jones" is running finely on the New England circuit.....The Vadis Sisters, noted as among the most daring aerialists of the present time, will be seen at the Howard Athenæum next week. .....Mr. and Mrs. Chas T Ellis are booked for Keith's Theatre week of 24, and will be seen in their new sketch, "An Artist's Dilemma," in which they have been very successful elsewhere.....The beginning of John T. Sullivan's stage career was in a minor role in "Michael Strogoff" in 1881. That was at the Boston Theatre, where he is now the leading man in "The White Heather" at that house..... With "The French Maid" at the Park and "The Girl from Paris" coming to the Grand Opera House, we ought to become somewhat Parisianised.

Fall River.—At the Academy of Music Corse Payton, in repertory, appeared to big business Oct. 10-15, with the S. R. O. sign in evidence Saturday matinee and night. "Shore Acres" comes 17, Brooke and his Chicago Marine Band (Star course) 18, Chauncey Olcott 19, "The Ballet Girl" 22, Isham's Octoroon's 24, 25, "What Happened to Jones" 28, Maud Hillman, in repertory, 31 and week.

CASTO THEATRE —Manager Haynes can find no fault with the liberal patronage and enthusiasm with which his shows are received as the second season progresses. The balance thus early is on the right side of the ledger, and the business steadily grows larger. Week of 17: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. T Ellis and company, the Van Arkens, Winstanley and Sullivan, Mattie Boorum, Leroy Millard, Ray Wilson, and the stock company supporting Mr Haynes in "That Rascal Tom." Cora Tanner and Louis Massen are headlines for week of 24.

RICH'S THEATRE.—Barrett's Gawloolah Burlettists gave poor satisfaction to poor business 10-12. A remarkably clever singing and dancing aggregation. Grant's Southern Plantation and Specialty Co., held the boards 13-15, to fairly good business. The attraction ranks among the best colored shows ever seen here, and fully merited the capacity. The house is dark 17-19. Al. Reeves' Big Burlesque Co. comes 20-22.

NICKELODEON MUSEE.—At Manager Sheedy's attractive resort Louis Bedford's Kentucky Minstrels is the attraction for the current week, and no doubt will repeat their former successes. Week of 24, the Four Burtons, Hamlin and Hamlin, Wm. Wienefeld, the Daniels and the Allyns. Business good.

FLINT MUSEUM.—The entertainers at Manager Pollock's house for week of 17 are Joe and Jennie McKenna re-engaged, James Hays, Flossie Moore, Frank Phelan, Mamie Walker, Gladys Richardson, Annie Benoit, Daly and Trainer, and John Cannon. Business is at the standard.

NOTES.—Wm. J. Conghlin, treasurer of Rich's Theatre, is visiting surrounding cities, booking high-class burlesque for his cosy playhouse.....Ben. J. Miles, stage manager at the Casto, goes to his home at Walpole, 19, to stage and appear in a home entertainment for the benefit of the public library.....Etta Reed and Camile Gautier, of the Corse Payton Co., were the recipients of floral offerings last week from admiring friends.....James H. Robinson, of the Buffalo Bill Show, has returned home, and will join the forces of the Academy of Music advertising staff.....Chas. E. Bloomer was in town last week after a very pleasant visit to his friend, Eben Plympton.....J. M. Harrington, formerly advertising agent of the Pawtucket Opera House, is at home on the sick list.

Lowell.—At the Opera House "The Ballet Girl," at advanced prices, came Oct. 10, to fair sized house. Chauncey Olcott completely filled the house to see "Sweet Inniscarra," 13. "What Happened to Jones" pleased a large audience 13 "The Heart of Maryland" did good business 14. "A Stranger in New York" came 15, to good house. Booked: "Cumberland, '61" 17, 18, Melbourne McDowell, in "Antony and Cleopatra," 20-22.

CASINO.—Business at this house fairly good. Bookings for week of 17: Madam Golbrick, Holmes and Clayton, John Naylon, Kitty Diamond, Sadie Sampson, Sam Diamond and Fred Bowen.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

Washington.—The business done last week at our first class playhouses was remarkable for its contrasts. De Wolf Hopper's receipts easily exceeded five figures, while that of "The Cuckoo" fell far short of four. Not during the present season have the houses which greeted the former been so packed, while the other extreme was reached in the case of the latter attraction. Our remaining first class houses had fair business, to greet a new aspirant for stellar honors in a brand new play. Only one of our second class houses had up to the end of last week been open, and as a consequence it had excellent business. This week, however, another second class house is open, and there will probably be strong competition from this time on to the close of the season. Our variety combination and vandeville houses did their usual big business, the capacity of the houses being reached during the entire week.

RAFLEY'S NATIONAL THEATRE had the De Wolf Hopper Opera Co., in Sousa's "The Charlatan," for the first time here, to phenomenal business, the limit of the capacity being reached at each performance. This week will probably be another "red letter" one in the history of the house, as Charles Frohman's Empire Theatre Stock Co. is playing Paul Potter's drama, "The Conquerors." Della Fox, in "The Little Host," Oct. 24-29.

LEAVITT & DUMONT'S COLUMBIA THEATRE had Burr McIntosh, in "The War Correspondent," the star making his debut and the play its first presentation. Both were in a good measure successful, the star's personality aiding him greatly, while the play seemed a remarkably well fitting vehicle for introducing him. It is a play entirely devoid of melodramatic "blood and thunder" business, an interesting story well told, with bright dialogue, pleasing situations, and telling climaxes, and should succeed on its merits alone. This week, Stuart Robson, in "The Meddler." The Brothers Byrne 24-29

NIXON & ZIMMERMAN'S LAFAYETTE SQUARE THEATRE had Smith & Rice's Co., in "The Cuckoo," to such poor business that it is quite probable that it will never again be seen upon our stage. The engagement was played to practically empty benches. The company was an excellent one and contained several Washington favorites, but there was absolutely nothing in the play to attract or interest any one "The Old Coat" will be substituted during the remainder of the company's tour. This week marks the opening of the season of the International Grand Opera Co., presenting "Carmen," "La Boheme," "Faust," "Il Pagliacci" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" "Romeo and Juliet" and "Il Trovatore." The roster of the new company is as follows: Sopranos—Clementine De Vere, Salina Cronold, Nodda Morrison. Mary Helen Howe and Mary Roebuck. Contraltos and mezzos—Eleanore Broadfoot, Linda Engel and Amelia Fields; tenors—Salvo Panbianchi, George Mitchell, Thomas McQueen and Henry Gunson; baritones—Virgilio Bellati, H. Winfred Goff and Quints Zani; bassos—Augusto Dado. Forrest D. Carr and Earl P. Banks. Musical director, Signor R. Sapio, with a chorus of forty and a complete orchestra. Jefferson De Angelis, in "The Jolly Musketeer," 24-29.

RAFLEY'S ACADEMY OF MUSIC had Williams and Walker's Senegambian Carnival, a performance of unusual merit by a company composed entirely of clever colored people. The business was excellent. This week, "When London Sleeps," "The Prisoner of Zenda" 24-29

O. H. BUTLER'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE opens this week for the first time this season, under new management, at popular prices, 15, 25 and 50c. Davis & Keogh's spectacular drama, "Lost in Siberia," is the opening attraction. "The Finish of Mr. Fresh" 24-29.

KERNAN'S LYCEUM THEATRE had the Rentz-Santley Company last week, to crowded and well pleased houses at each of its twice a day performances. This week Jermon's Black Crook Extravaganza Company. Rice & Barton's Big Gaiety Company 24-29.

GRIEVE'S BIJOU THEATRE is still doing a "land office" business twice daily with an excellent vaudeville bill. This week Jennie Yeamans heads the list, followed by the De Graus, Sisters Nelson, Bryant and Saville, Stewart and Gillen, Geo. E. Austin, Reilly and Hughes, Charles and Jennie Welch, Georgie Howard and the Bijou Burlesque Company.

GASSENHEIMER'S HOTEL LAWRENCE CONCERT HALL is nightly crowded to witness an excellent vaudeville performance. This week the new faces are Kennedy and Cole, Little Bijou Evans, Master Marshall, Prof. Morrella and the Howard Sisters.

CIRCUS GROUNDS, FOURTEENTH AND V STREETS —Sipe & Blake's Dog, Pony and Monkey Show this week. An engagement here last season was so satisfactory that excellent business is assured on the return.

A BILL of sale of all the paraphernalia of the Williams & Walker Senegambia Carnival Co. was recorded last week, and later the same was replevened by one of the managers. The result of the affair was the closing of the company's tour, 15, under the management of Lederer & McConnell. Other parties have offered to be responsible for a continuance of the organization on the road, but no arrangement had been concluded up to the time of the writing of this letter.

MINNESOTA.

Minneapolis.—At the Metropolitan Opera House Walker Whitesides appears Oct. 16-19. Dorothy Morton returns with her opera company for the rest of the week. She drew satisfactory houses 9-12, and Kellar was exceedingly well received 13-15.

BIJOU OPERA HOUSE.—Vaudeville will hold full swing 16-22. "What Happened to Jones" will be divulged the following week. "Casey's Wife" received fair encouragement 9-15.

PALACE DIME MUSEUM.—The attractions week of 17 are: Henry Lines, Anderson, whittler; the Glass Blowers, Tom Burns, Ellis and Gullan, Fountain and Evers, Jack Shields, Shorty Harris, De Mar Sisters, Van Brothers and D. C. Broderick. Business good.

Duluth.—At the Lyceum "The Commodore" came Oct. 10, for the first time here. The audience was large, and the play was well staged and fairly well acted. All the principal people were called before the curtain after the first and third acts. Booked: "Uncle Tom's Cabin" 22, "The Dazzler" 24, Walter Whitesides 25, 26. Manager Williams has a number of attractions booked for November.

PARLOR THEATRE.—The business for the past week was big. New features for week of 17 are: Mary Morgan, Harry Budworth and Nellie Brimmer, Violet Earle, Geo. B Gardner, Martha Smith, Clarence Leonard, Mamie Castle and Wm. J. Wells. The new farce for the week is called "Who Said Indians?"

St. Paul.—At the Metropolitan Opera House Kellar, magician, gave an admirable performance, to good sized audiences, Oct. 10-12. The Dorothy Morton Opera Co. sang "Fra Diavolo" 13-15, to fair business. They will sing "The Beggar Student" 16-19. Walker Whiteside comes 20-22, in "The Red Cockade," and matinee 22 in "Eugene Aram."

GRAND.—The vaudeville combination had big business week of 9. For week of 16, "What Happened to Jones." Week of 23, "Muldoon's Picnic."

LOUISIANA.

New Orleans.—Notwithstanding the warm weather and fake fever scare large audiences predominate nightly at the local theatres.

HOPKINS' ST. CHARLES THEATRE is drawing immense houses to continuous performances. The stock company presented "Young Mrs. Winthrop" last week, having in rehearsal for next week "Ferncliffe." The new vaudeville last week included Provo and Papinta, the myraid dancer. This lady is certainly a wonderful dancer, and with her mirror, calcium and mechanical effects has proven a powerful drawing card. Baby Lewis and Atkinson, the human orchestra, still form big favorites. Next week Barney Fagan, Miss Byson and Pete Baker will be the new vaudeville people.

THE ACADEMY is being repaired, and is expected to open within the next few weeks.

THE FRENCH OPERA HOUSE has been completed, and will open about Nov. 15. From the present outlook a most prosperous season is expected.

THE NEW TULANE will open its doors Oct. 17, with Nat Goodwin, in "Nathan Hale," as the attraction. Mr. Goodwin has always been a big favorite in the Crescent City, and will undoubtedly do a big business.

THE CRESCENT, with "At Coney Island" as this week's attraction, has been doing an immense business, turning them away on the opening night fully half hour before the rise of the curtain. The show gave entire satisfaction throughout the week. Next week, Al G. Field's Minstrel Co. Such favorites as Arthur Rigby, Tommie Donnelly, Dan Quinlan, Al. G. Field and others are in the company, and it is safe to say that Field will not worry about fever or complain of box office receipts

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Dion Boucicault's beautiful play, "The Jilt," by the Greenwald Stock Co., has been doing a fairly good business, but not what the company deserves, for they are conscientious, painstaking, and deserve more patronage from the local theatre patrons. Next week, "Led Astray."

WENGER'S GARDEN is advertised for rent, owing to the high price license. This, however, will not go into effect until Jan. 1.

NOTES.—The local friends and admirers of John Queen are glad to see him advanced where he belongs, opposite premier end to Geo. Wilson.....The local lodge of Elks will give a big social at their rooms on Thursday, at which Al. G. Field and his company will attend as guests .....Dame Rumor has it that Wenger's Garden is being sought after by a well known music hall firm of New York City.

NEW JERSEY.

Newark.—Last week was the liviest, generally, of the season thus far. Each of the five houses played to good business. Manager Ottolengui, of the Newark Theatre, presents wholesome entertainment this week, in "Way Down East." The remarkable record achieved by this rural piece has preceded it and aroused much curiosity. A big audience was well pleased with the performance Monday night, and it is unnecessary to predict a good week. An extra matinee will occur Wednesday, 19. "The Bride Elect" was a tremendous success here last week. Large, enthusiastic audiences visited the theatre every night Dan Daly, in "The Belle of New York," 24 and week.

JACOBS'.—W. H. West's elaborate minstrel show is very much in evidence here this week. The charming music and funny sayings were thoroughly appreciated by a good house Monday night. "Going to the Races" proved to be a very strong card last week, and drew large audiences at each performance. "At Piney Ridge" is booked to appear 24 and week.

COLUMBIA.—The stock company is giving further evidence of their versatility this week in "The Stowaway." This thrilling melodrama attracted a good attendance Monday night, and Joseph Totten as Dickey Dials was heartily applauded. Virginia Jackson made a charming Chucky, the newsboy, and Mr. Brinker as Tom Ingins, Mr. Neil as Etherington, Miss Flaven as Florence, and Miss Bateman as Althea Dale were most acceptable. "A Celebrated Case" was well rendered to good audiences last week. "The Lost Paradise" will be put on next week.

WALDMANN'S OPERA HOUSE.—Bryant & Watson's Burlesquers brought a good house on the opening night, 17 A novel sketch by Watson and Dupree, some new songs sung by Mildred Murray and the comedy work of Dick and Kitty Kumins were well received and the Monroe Sisters, Leslie and Curdy, Perry and Burns, made up a good bill The Vaudeville Club played to fairly good business last week. May Howard's show will be here week of 24.

WALDMANN'S NEW THEATRE.—Manager Waldmann presents a strong bill for the current week in Hopkins' Trans-Oceanics. The opening performance brought together a good audience Monday night. 17, and the week will be a successful one. Caron and Herbert made their usual hit, and the Nawns rendered their artistic sketch with good success. Polk and Kollins displayed much skill on the trapeze, and Kara's juggling act was a revelation. Foy and Clark made a lot of eccentric fun, and Earl and Wilson, and Charlotte Ray filled the musical end of the programme, both vocal and instrumental, with good effect. The triple alliance, Leroy, Fox and Powell, played a good week ending 15. Sam Devere's company will appear 24 and week.

EGBERT'S MUSIC HALL.—Manager Egbert has arranged the following programme for the present week: Laura Wyble, Babe Moore, Minnie Russell, Edith Stuart, Florence Beech, Lillie Arington, and Egbert and Mahoney in illustrated songs.

PROCTOR AUDITORIUM.—Large audiences attended the Sunday concert here 16. The following programme was arranged for by Manager Healey: McWalters and Tyson, May Lane, Fostell and Emmett, Baker and Randell, Joe A. Hardman, Little and Pritzkow, Debow, and Corcoran and Hastings.

NOTE.—A new fire ordinance, pertaining to the theatres, went into effect here, Monday night, 17. The law provides that a member of the department shall be stationed at each house during every performance.

Jersey City.—Robert B. Mantell, an ever welcome visitor, is at the Academy, opening for week of Oct. 17. A large and well pleased attendance on Monday evening enjoyed his finished intepretation of "Monbars," in the play of that title. On 20-22 "A Secret Warrant" will be presented and on 21 "Othello" will be the offering. Next week, Thos E Shea, in "The Man-o'-War's Man." Business last week, with "In Old Kentucky," was of the standard size—very large. The buck dancing on night of 14 brought out the colored element in strong force.

BON TON.—Although Messrs. Weber & Fields are not able to be with us in the flesh they offer one of their usual strong attractions in place of themselves. "The Jalaty Duchess," with an olio attractive in every way, and a bevy of f

QUERIES ANSWERED.

NO REPLIES BY MAIL OR TELEGRAPH.

ADDRESSES OR WHEREABOUTS NOT GIVEN. ALL IN QUEST OF SUCH SHOULD WRITE TO THOSE WHOM THEY SEEK, IN CARE OF THE CLIPPER POST OFFICE. ALL LETTERS WILL BE ADVERTISED ONE WEEK ONLY. IF THE ROUTE OF ANY THEATRICAL COMPANY IS SOUGHT, REFER TO OUR LIST OF ROUTES ON ANOTHER PAGE. WE CANNOT SEND ROUTES BY MAIL OR TELEGRAPH.

THEATRICAL.

M. I. N. D., Scranton.—A is wrong. His objection to paying his wager is not based on a technicality, but on a quibble. So long as the play was produced, which is not denied it matters not in this connection whether or not it was the ordinary stage version, or a new arrangement. But in this case it was doubtless presented in its original form, for "The Belle's Stratagem" is a comedy in three acts, and not in five acts as A contends, and the line upon the programme "for this occasion only," doubtless referred to the performance of the play, and not to the number of acts.

G. R. W., Milwaukee.—"The Belle of New York" played the Davidson Theatre, Milwaukee, Feb. 28-March 2, 1898. Miss Ransin was a member of the company during the entire tour, and doubtless appeared with it at that time, unless illness prevented. We have no record that she was ill, or absent from the cast, nor have we any specific record of her appearance. The files of daily papers should give you the information.

G. V.—1. The demand will depend upon the character of the act and upon its merit. There is a fair demand for a good monologue act of a sort suited for vaudeville houses. 2. Yes, if the act was all right. 3. It is impossible to quote salary without knowing the nature of the act or its merit.

B. T. JR., Glen Falls.—We have not heard of any contemplated tour of the play you mention.

H. M.—Wm. H. West's Minstrels, which is this week in Newark, N. J.

B. AND T., Fairfield.—The Collector of Internal Revenue for this city has informed us that the combination contract for use of theatre is not such a contract as requires a stamp under the War Tax law, but is only an agreement, which requires no stamp.

W. T. B., Brooklyn.—The whereabouts of the party is unknown to us. Address letter in our care and we will advertise it.

YOUNG RAPID.—Mrs. John Drew died Aug. 31, 1897.

BROOKLYN.—The show is still on the road, and we have not learned when it will close season. See route list in this issue.

MRS. F. E., Philadelphia.—We have had no intelligence of the death of the party, and upon inquiry can learn nothing concerning him.

L. W., New Haven.—Address letter in care of THE CLIPPER.

H. & R., Chicago.—1. We think the act is good enough to warrant your trying to secure engagements. 2. Yes.

PROF. A., Chicago.—We have correspondents in all of the cities you mention and all of the amusement houses therein, of which we have knowledge, will be found mentioned each week in THE CLIPPER in letters from those points.

N. P. R., Biddeford.—You will find such a list in Donaldson's Guide. Address C. S. Lawrence, 88 and 90 Centre Street, this city.

MRS. E. L. J., Lincoln.—See answer to W. T. B. in this issue.

S. C. W., Columbus.—See route list in this issue.

F. E., Detroit.—See reply to N. P. R. in this issue.

H. B.—The parties are unknown to us, but if you will address a letter in our care we will advertise it.

A SUBSCRIBER, Newburg.—We never in answer to queries, furnish information concerning the domestic affairs of professionals.

N. E. O. B., South Haven.—We do not sell supplies of any kind. We only publish and sell THE CLIPPER. Address C. S. Lawrence, 88 and 90 Centre Street, New York City.

MRS. R.—We have no knowledge of the whereabouts of the party, but will advertise a letter addressed in our care.

B. F., Newark.—1. About fifteen dollars each per week. 2. Advertise in THE CLIPPER. See rates at the head of this column. 3. We cannot furnish scale of prices for such work.

T. F., Stevensville.—The parties are unknown to us. Address letter in our care and we will advertise it.

A. L. K., Brooklyn.—You will most likely obtain what you desire by advertising in THE CLIPPER. See rates at head of this column.

B. AND W., Fulton.—You will be required to pay a War Tax of ten dollars in each State in which you play, or at that ratio reckoned from the first of each month to July 1 following. You may pay the tax to any collector of internal revenue.

A. D. F., Toledo.—It is always difficult for an amateur to obtain a footing on the professional stage, but you could probably secure an engagement with some company upon the terms you mention. We cannot assist you, however, in obtaining an engagement.

G. J. W., Ionia.—Sousa's Band was routed to play Owosso, Mich., on Oct. 5, 1892, and, presumably, played there, although we have no record of the performance.

PERPLEXED STAGE MANAGER.—It is impossible to decide your dispute without full knowledge of the contract. If the contract fixed a time limit for payment and that limit has been passed, or if it required a certain number of performances each year, Mr. B. will probably find he has lost his rights through his own neglect. If, on the other hand, no such conditions are imposed, he might claim the right to reproduce the play and pay the remainder of the purchase money by royalties under the terms of the contract. Where so large a sum is involved it is not likely that the dispute can be settled without a law suit, so we advise you to consult a lawyer at once.

J. M. W., Chicago.—We never, in answer to queries, furnish information concerning the age of professionals.

E. McE., Cincinnati.—We think he can if he conducts his business properly.

E. E. N., New Bern.—Address the party in care of THE CLIPPER, as he has claimed all his letters.

E. R. R., Dubuque.—As merit in a player is largely a matter of personal opinion, we never indulge in comparisons of that sort.

W. AND P.—Donaldson's Guide will give you some of the information you desire. Address C. S. Lawrence, 88 and 90 Centre street, this city.

G. W.—1. May Irwin has not used the animated song sheet. It has been used by Anna Held and others. 2. You probably mean bill boards. 3. See answers under heading miscellaneous.

A. MCE., Franklin.—The following is a list of Charles B. Blaney's plays: "A Railroad Ticket," "A Baggage Check," "A Summer Blizzard," "A Boy Wanted," "The Electrician," "A Hired Girl," "A Female Drummer."

H. W., Chicago.—Prof. Roach, Haymarket Building, Chicago, Ill.

CARDS.

J. T. W., Washington.—B was right. It was not necessary that he should have called special attention to the fact that he had split his openers as by so doing he would have exposed his hand; all that was requisite was for him to lay the jack aside, or place it in its proper place in the discard pile, so that he could readily refer to it in case of dispute.

W. W. K., Lewistown.—A euchre counts two points, and a man who plays alone and takes but three tricks counts one only. Only one man can go alone in the same hand in euchre.

R. R., Coney Island.—If the agreement before play was as you state—that the "loser of the first game shall pay for the cards, and nothing else," then the winner's claim is absurd.

A. AND B.—If a deal is made out of turn it is good, provided it is not discovered before the trump has been turned and the eldest hand has led.

F. C. J. Kingston.—Yes; any straight flush is what some persons choose to designate as a "royal" or "tiger" flush.

W. H. E., New York City.—Only one meld can be made at one time. A player can meld 80 kings, take a trick, and meld again, always melding only after taking a trick.

W. M. S., Philadelphia.—A is out, and does not need to take another trick.

F. J. P., Bath.—In the play 8, 6, 7, 6 there is no run for the last card, the second six.

BASEBALL, CRICKET, ETC.

G. W. W., Providence.—In the case of a base runner put out by being struck by a fair hit ball the ball is not considered in play until it is held by the pitcher standing in his position, and the umpire has called play.

H. C. S., Charleston.—After the first inning the first striker in each inning is the batsman whose name follows that of the last man who has completed his time at bat in the preceding inning.

C. E. S., Philadelphia.—March 5, 1897.

ATHLETIC.

K. A. W., Scranton.—The winner, B, was entitled to receive one dollar, being twenty-five cents from each of the four players; he had nothing to do with the agreement between A and C, who must settle the same between them.

RING.

D. H., New York City.—The fight between Dooney Harris and Patsy Marley took place on Smith's farm, near Gwynned Station, on the North Pennsylvania Railroad, and outside the limits of Philadelphia, Pa., May 4, 1864, and was for $1,000. Harris won in 1h. 35m., seventy rounds being contested. Harris was seconded by Barney Aaron and Jimmy Elliott, Marley by Kit Burns and Johnny Monaghan. Dan Kerrigan was referee.

W. K. & Co., New York.—The fight between John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain took place at Richburg, Miss., July 8, 1889 and was won by Sullivan. John L. was born in Boston, Mass., Oct. 15, 1858.

E. W., Jackson.—James J. Corbett is the more scientific boxer of the two mentioned.

WHEELING.

C. P. G., New York City.—Tom Linton was the leader at the close of the first hour in the six days' bicycle race at Madison Square Garden, Dec. 7-12, 1896, soon after which period he retired from the race. He did not try for a twenty-four hours' record during its progress.

MISCELLANEOUS.

H. G., Chicago.—Your query was answered in THE CLIPPER dated Oct. 15.

R. C. Z., New York City.—The letter referred to has been called for.

MR. W.—The correct wording is "We sat by the river, you and I," "You and me" is incorrect. The song is old, and we do not recall the name of its author or composer.

MATTHEWS, Providence.—The Maine was rated as a second class battleship, as is also the Texas. The Montgomery, cruiser No. 9.

C. W., New York City.—The Sporting Life, London, Eng., publishes an annual entitled The Sporting Life Companion, of pocket size, and containing sporting records. Address 148 Fleet Street, London, Eng.

F. A. M., New York City.—Through lack of practical knowledge we are not qualified to decide. Would advise you to apply for information to some one who possesses that knowledge—a livery stable keeper, for instance.

G. E. H., Hagerstown.—See Fair List in THE CLIPPER of July 23.

Chess.

To Correspondents.

BRO. GALBREATH.—Your latest "puzzle" puzzled us for a time, but it soon appeared that to make the position and its solution go on part passu a white P on K R 6 was necessary, and so gave it.

SIDNEY P. JOHNSTON.—Much obliged by your candid and forcible letter. Of course we have nothing to do with the "consultation" branch of the matter, beyond the public expression of our views. The nominations were made in the simple sincerity of our belief; and we will still hope you may find cause to change your mind.

Notes, E. Kemeny—Much condensed.

(a) Maintains the advantage of first move.

(b) Better than Q × P; for then R to Kt sq and R × Kt P would give Black the superior game.

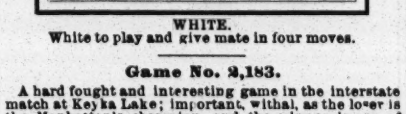
(c) Aggressive, and gives some attack; but enables White to get rid of the doubled P.

(d) Forces Kt away, but leaves his Q P weak.

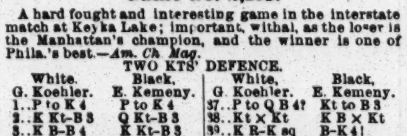
(?) Much better was P to Kt 4 at once. After the ex. of Ps, White might occupy the open 8 or Kt file, and at next move P to Kt 4 was again in order. His 37.. looks quite safe, yet gives Black a decided advantage.

(!) A powerful move, to which White has no satisfactory reply. Black threatens P to Q R 4, and 5, will obtain command of the open R file with a winning game. White had hardly any better play than the 42.. mate.

(e) Perhaps his only move, but it gives Black an opportunity to win brilliantly, thus:



at K 8, K R, K Kt 2, Q 5, K R 5, B 5, Q 3, B 4, Kt 5, Q R 3.

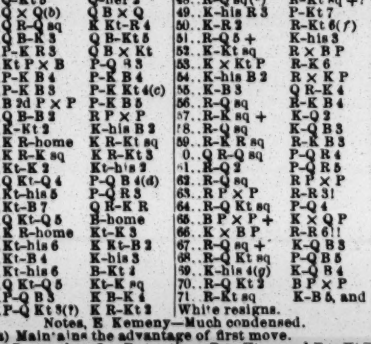


at K R 3, K Kt, Q R, K B 2, 3, K 4, Q B 4, Kt 3, R 2.

Move made—Black 44.. K to Kt 6 + !!

(*) We give the position as an instructive end game problem:

WHITE (Mr. Koehler).



BLACK (Mr. Kemeny).

Black has a move, which he acknowledges he overlooked by which he can speedily win by force.

(f) He should play B...P (Q), R × R, and K to Q 5, winning speedily. The text play makes the win difficult.

(g) If P × P, K to B 4; and eventually R to Q B 6 and K × P; and Kt P cannot be stopped.

Solutions.

Of Enigma No. 2,179.—1..K to his B 2!! The judges' award is in exceedingly laudatory terms.

Problem 2,179 awaits solvers; and with the more reason, as it was awarded the post of honor in September La Strategie.

Enigma 2,180, Part I.—1..B to Q sq!; 2..B to his 3(d); 3..P to B 7 dis +; 4..Q to her R 4, compelling 4..B × P, mate. (d) This B plays a game of "basket ball;" see what he catches. The problem is a most elegant and pleasing composition.....In re Part II, Bro. Engberg kindly writes us that the author has discovered a mate in nineteen. Whether Mr. Wuernberg intends to bring it up to the announced standard, or have it remain as a suimate in nineteen, we do not know.

Of course Problem 2,180 lies over for a while.

American Chess Magazine.

It was once said of Deutsche Schachzeitung that it never was excelled by any chess magazine except when some fortunate is ne outstrone all previous efforts. This is strikingly true of A. C. M. for September current. It is the crowning boast and glory of this peerless magazine, which is doing such yeoman service for the game. We can only touch a few salient points. Portraits of Mrs. Fagan and Miss Brothers, of fourteen "American Champions," for '98; "American Chess Editors," Emil Kemeny, good! the six leaders of "Chess in Texas," games and problems, way up as always. "How to Start a Chess Club and Keep it Going," is the piece de resistance. We have been asked about this more than a hundred times or rather more than that, and now comes Bro. Reichhelm to the rescue answering all inquirers past, present and to come, with an exhaustive fullness which our crowded space has wholly forbidden. Just see 4½ of these large doub. col pp. Bro. R. has done the amateur chess world an essential service.

The Cable Match.

Availing ourselves of a most cordial and brotherly invitation, we here add somewhat to our former article on this absorbing topic.

The first idea is not new, but we should express it about thus. What is imperative now is a body of good players, who at this present time are playing good chess and lots of it—winning chess. What has been said about coming to Boston or New York or Philadelphia and "cramming" just before the event, like a sophomore for examination, is apt and to the point; it would be worse than useless. Nothing short of coming and staying long enough and playing games enough in a large variety of styles to prove a capacity for making at least an even score with any two of the well known best of the cities named.

We all know the generous offer made by Barry, Pillsbury, Showalter, et als, to any one ambitious to bid for a place on the team; but who is going to come 1,000 miles and be at the expense of staying long enough to amount to anything—uncertain of success, after all? No one. Men will must be taken for what they are known to be at the present time, not what they were two, five, ten years ago. We have an abiding faith that the leaders of the clubs named will agree on the ten men who can fill the bill. If another club were to be added to the council, we should say Chicago.

"We have but one lamp by which our feet are guided" in this matter, and that lamp is—LOYALTY TO AMERICAN CHESS. We would not for ourselves and should be sorry to see or hear it from any one else let any possible local or personal consideration swerve our course from this the guiding pole star of so sound and just a principle.

This leads us to review our recent nominations for the team; and after holding them up in every light available, we can see no reason for changing our opinion in a single case.

Chess Among Ladies.

There has been no more pleasing report from English chess for many a day than the current one of the amateur tourneys of Southern Counties' Ch. Association at Salisbury. In Class I. with a field of eleven, Messrs. J. H. Blake, the eminent problematist, and M. Ward came off a tie with 7½; W. H. Gunston 7; Mr. Bellingham 6; Dr. M. Blieden and R. Loman, 5½ each; the rest, less.

Class II had twelve entrants. The glory of this branch of the festivities was the entrance of three ladies, Mrs. Fagan, Miss Finn and Lady Thomas. Mrs. Fagan won the first prize with the excellent score of 9 out of 11; Miss Finn balancing her score on 5½; Lady Thomas getting 3—not up to her proper standard. The Field says: "Mrs. Fagan, who kept the lead throughout, achieved a deserved victory; for, as far as we were able to judge from casually watching the games in this contest, the lady was certainly the best player." Mr. J. N. Smith came 2d, with 8; G. A. Thomas 3d 7½; B. M. Smith and F. Mellnish, tied on 7. In the "Ladies' Section," six entrants, Miss Brothers a new name here) won the 1st prize.

Thanks to The Tribune, we have the pleasure of presenting thus promptly the game between Miss Finn and Mrs. Fagan.

News of the Game.

Chas Lawson, who got so badly beaten in London, has not been heard from since. His friends expected him in Sweden in the early Fall.....Harry Freedman, after making two successive promises to meet H. F. Shearer to post a forfeit, fluked, and in consequence, the checker playing public in Scotland are commencing to find out his true status.....Frank Dunne, the eminent English checker author and player, has this to say about the "great compiler:" "I find this variation in Spayth's Checker Player, so that Mr. Veitch has been anticipated in the proposed correction by the Buffalo veteran—or somebody else; for Spayth gives no credit to any one for play in his book, collated from newspapers and magazines, to much of which he himself has no claim whatever." We heartily concur in Bro. Dunne's "tribute" to Spayth.....A Kear proposes to issue a reprint of Drummond's third edition about Jan. 1, 1899.

Fall overcoats and light wraps were in order with the five thousand or so race goers who visited the course on Thursday afternoon, 13, the brown October air being decidedly chilly in the Borough of the Bronx. A good card was presented, however, and consequently the patrons paid little attention to the weather conditions, being continuously occupied in the effort to pick winners and get their cash on. In this the general public were fairly successful, too, as in three of the half dozen events programmed the horse carrying the bulk of the money betted finished in front. This was notably not the case, however, in the Westchester Highweight Handicap, at six and a half furlongs, for which Bendoran and Rhinelander were made equal favorites, but which was very cleverly won by George Keene, against which the odds ruled at 9 to 2, and which won in surprising fashion by a length, while the favorites failed to secure a place. The other stake event gracing the card was the Hunter Handicap, for three year old fillies, which furnished a capital race, being finally won in a driving finish by Kenmore Queen by half a length, the favorite, Martha H, not being among the first four. Jockeys Maher and Spencer each won two events, while the former also landed two seconds. Summary:

Handicap, for two year olds and upward, by subscription of $10 each, $5 forfeit to the winner, $600 added, of which $100 to second and $50 to third, last five and a half furlongs of the Eclipse course.

Outdoor Recreation League.

An example of the good work thus early done by this metropolitan league was shown on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 15, when the initial competitive meeting in athletics and gymnastics was held at Hudson Bank Gymnasium, Eleventh Avenue and Fifty-second Street, this city. The weather was delightful, although a high, cool wind prevailed, and as no admission fee was charged, the residents of the district crowded to the space devoted to the use of spectators. Entries of large and small lads were numerous, and the events decided furnished abundant sport, while the comparative proficiency exhibited by boys who had had the benefit of so little instruction quite surprised the experts present. The star in the junior division of competitors was easily Bobbie Murphy, who finished first in three events, but, as the rules provided that no one contestant could receive more than two first prizes, he allowed the prize for the "two twenty" to go to J. Hughes, second in the race. In the senior division John J. Brady was first twice and second and third each thrice. Summary:

The Tigers' Handicap Sports.

The annual Fall handicap games of the members of the Princeton University Track Athletic Association were held on the track at Princeton, N. J., on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 15. The going was very heavy, while a stiff, cold wind swept over the grounds, lessening the usual number of spectators and greatly diminishing the customary attendance of undergraduates. Summary:

One hundred and fifty yards run.—Won by Woodbridge, '99, scratch; L. E. Johnson, 1902 2½ds., second; A. D. Ganss, Seminary, third. Time, 16s.

Four hundred and forty yards run.—Scratch event for freshmen—Won by A. Batchelder, L. E. Chamberlin second. S. W. Curtis third Time, 56⅘s.

Six hundred and sixty yards run.—Won by J F. Cregan, '99, scratch; J. K. Anderson, Seminary, 20yds., second; A. D. Ganss, Seminary, 18yds., third. Time, 1m. 20⅘s.

Pole vault—Won by P. A. Moore, 1902, the only contestant. Height, 9ft.

Running broad jump.—Won by K. Von Krug, 1901, 18in.; actual jump 19ft. 4in.; P. A. Moore, 1902, 12in., second, 17ft. 4in.; S. W. Curtiss, 1902, 5in., third. 17ft.

Running high jump.—Won by P. A. Moore, 1902, 7in., second, actual jump 5ft. 3in.; L. F. Johnson, 1902, 7in., second, 5ft. 1½in.; S. W. Curtiss, 1902, 4in., third, 5ft. 3in.

The Champion Woman Golfer.

Beatrix Hoyt, of the Shinnecock Hills Club, won the women's amteur championship of the United States Golf Association and the Robert Cox trophy, emblematic of the championship, on Saturday, Oct. 15, when the annual tournament closed on the Ardsley links. The final contest was between Miss Hoyt and Maude Wetmore, of Newport, R. I., the latter not finishing, and Miss Hoyt winning by 5 up and 3 to play, the score standing 72 to 81. This is the third year in succession that Miss Hoyt has won the championship, and only the most brilliant play enabled her to secure it on this occasion, as she was faced in the final round by a foewoman entirely worthy of her prowess. The championship cup, valued at $1,000, will be held for another twelvemonth by the Shinnecock Hills Club, while Miss Hoyt received a gold medal, and Miss Wetmore a silver medal, as personal prizes. The bronze medals for third and fourth go respectively to Carol Eidlitz and Francis O. Griscom.

THE Johns Hopkins Athletic Association, of Baltimore, Md., elected the following officers last week: President, W. H. Maddren; vice president, Thomas Fitzgerald; treasurers, Ronald Abercrombie and L. A. Reymann; secretaries, Z. M. Ballard and E. L. Palmer.

THE Lawrenceville School golf team vanquished that of the Trenton (N. J.) Country Club on the latter's links Oct. 14, the local team being whitewashed to the tune of 25 to 0.

Baltimore vs New York.

The Baltimore and New York teams indulged in a double header on Oct. 11, at Baltimore, Md., and each won a game. In the first contest the locals bunched five of the six safe hits credited to them in the second and fifth innings, and scored enough runs to enable them to win. Maul was batted with the greatest apparent ease, but was generally very effective when men were on the bases and a hit meant one or more runs. This was fully illustrated from the fact that the visitors made eleven safe hits and scored only one run; nine of them were stranded on one of the three bases. There appeared to be a vein of hard luck running through this contest, and the New Yorks struck it at the beginning, and stuck to it until the finish. They fielded just as brilliantly as did the home team, but were slower in running the bases. Davis, Joyce and Gleason played particularly well in their respective positions, Joyce accepting all of nine chances at third base. Doyle led in batting, making three safe hits out of four times at bat. The score:

When the second game was started Keeler and McGann, of the local team, were unable to play, and their places were taken by Hughes and Clarke, respectively. The New Yorks won this game, which was limited to six innings on account of darkness, by superior batting. In this contest, as in the preceding one, the visitors did the most batting. This time, however, they managed to make their hits count. The game was well contested for four innings, with Baltimore having a shade the best of it. In the fifth inning four singles a double bagger, a batsman being hit with a pitched ball and an error gave the New Yorks five runs and virtually settled the game. Doheny was hit in the ribs with a pitched ball in the fifth inning and had to retire. Seymour pitched the last two innings, and shut out the home team without a hit or a run. Davis and Joyce again carried off the fielding honors. The only long safe hit was a double bagger by Foster. The score:

Another double header was reeled off by these teams on Oct. 12, when honors were again divided, as in the case of the day before. "Si" Seymour, he with the erratic "south paw," wanted the satisfaction of defeating the Baltimores before the season ended. He succeeded, but it required fifteen innings before he accomplished the feat. The opening game was hotly contested from start to finish, the home team winning out by a nose after a hard run down the home stretch. It was a pitchers' battle, in which both men did clever work. The long safe hits were triple baggers by Joyce and McGraw and a two baser by Van Haltren. The score:

Seymour was not satisfied with the result of the first game and continued his act in the second, which was limited to six innings on account of darkness, and scored a victory. He pitched good ball in the opening game, but did still better in the second, inasmuch as he struck out seven of the home team and had them guessing most of the time. The New Yorks did not bat Nops' delivery to any great extent, but they managed to stretch several hits into extra bases at times when they helped in getting runs. The long safe hits were triple baggers by Davis, Seymour and Warner, and doubles by De Montreville and Clarke. The score:

Pittsburg vs. Cleveland.

There were two games played by these teams on Oct. 12, at Pittsburg, Pa., and they broke even. In the opening game the Clevelands could do virtually nothing with Leever's pitching, making only three safe hits, including a double bagger by McKean, while Young was an easy mark for the home team, he being batted safely fifteen times, including three triple baggers. Clark led his four hits including a triple bagger, while the other two triples fell to the lot of Gray and Fly, respectively. The locals put up a perfect fielding game, but the work of the visitors in that respect was decidedly off color. The score:

The Clevelands won the second game, which was called at the end of the fifth inning on account of darkness. In this game the visitors fielded in a faultless manner, which was quite a contrast to their work in the first game. In fact, they outplayed the locals at all points. Bates pitched a good game, and kept the hits made off him so well scattered that only two runs could be scored. Cronin was batted so freely in the third inning that he gave way to Rosebrough. Washington vs. Boston.

All doubts about the championship were put to rest when the Bostons defeated the Washingtons on Oct. 11, at Washington, D. C., and by this victory the team from the City of Culture will again carry off the pennant offered by the National League and American Association. The champions won hands down. They simply slugged the ball to all points of the compass, straightening out Mr. Baker's assortment of curves to the tune of nineteen safe hits, including a triple and three double baggers, every man on the visiting team except Yeager making two or more safe hits. In one respect only did the home team excel the Bostons, and that was in wretched fielding. Probably no corner lot nine ever put up a more miserable exhibition of fielding. Eleven errors garnished the official report, but there is no telling how many escaped that official's observation. Even Freeman, who had only one chance in right field, made a mess of it. The long safe hits were triple baggers by Baker and Tenney and doubles by Smith, Tenney, Stahl and Duffy. The score:

Now that the pennant is won the Bostons are not putting forth their best efforts to win. At least, they did not appear to do so on Oct. 12, when the Washingtons gave them such a severe drubbing in the final game of the season at Washington. Killen's pitching seemed to puzzle the champions considerably, as they made only five safe hits off him and scored but a single run. Klobedanz was easy to the home team, who pounded him good and hard from start to finish, Gettman leading. His four hits included a home run, while the other long safe hits were double baggers by Reitz and Lowe. The score:

Louisville vs. Cincinnati.

An even split was the portion allotted to each of these teams in the double header played on Oct. 12, at Louisville, Ky. In the opening game the Cincinnatis outplayed the home team in every department, and won with apparent ease. Damman kept the hits made off his delivery so well apart that they yielded only two runs. Dowling was batted safely at the right time, hits coming when they did the most good. Steinfeldt's batting and fielding were features. He accepted all of ten chances at second base and made three singles. The only long safe hit was a two baser by Powers. The score:

The Louisvilles reversed the above result in the second game, when they outplayed the visitors at all stages of the struggle. Magee kept the Cincinnatis guessing, allowing them only six safe hits from which they managed to get in a single run and thereby saved themselves from a shut out. Breitenstein was batted quite freely, but a curious thing happened in the third inning, when the locals batted him for three triple baggers and scored only one run. Steinfeldt again carried off the fielding honors for the visitors, he accepting all of ten chances, making twenty chances in the two games. Hoy did the best fielding for the Louisville. The long safe hits were triple baggers by Clarke, Hoy and Powers and doubles by McBride, Peitz and Irwin. The score:

At a benefit game tendered to the players of the Louisville team, played Oct. 16, at Louisville, Ky., it is said that Third Baseman Hans Wagner made a wonderful throw, the measurement of the distance being 134yds. 1ft. and 8in. Until Wagner's throw is properly authenticated it will not be accepted as the greatest throw on record. It is also claimed that Fred Clarke, the clever outfielder, made a circuit of the bases in 14⅘s., yet Clarke was beaten by six feet in a one hundred yards straightaway dash by a novice whose time was 10⅘s. Clarke's performance will also have to be authenticated.

THE ENGLISH TEAM'S TOUR.

The visiting English team concluded their tour Oct. 8, 10, at Chicago, Ill., rain then preventing their contest with a representative team of that city from being finished, and the game nominally resulted in a draw, although the home team had seven wickets down in their second inning, and needed to score 138 in order to escape an one inning defeat. The visitors won the toss for the first time in six successive games, and consequently decided to bat first on a true but rather slow pitch. Three of the best batsmen of the English team were retired with the total then standing at 43, but C. J. Burnup and V. T. Hill made a prolonged stand, which was repeated by B. J. T. Bosanquet and G. E. Winter, the quartet contributing 220, of which there were only twenty-nine singles. Bosanquet scored 91 by free and vigorous batting, although he gave two chances almost at the commencement of his inning. Hill hit hard for 69, and Burnup carefully compiled 38, the pair putting on 108 in partnership before they were separated. Winter also batted in fine form for his contribution of 22. The last four batsmen of the English team gave little trouble, C. Howell bringing the inning to a close for a total of 295, by making his third clever catch in the long field. Howell had been originally selected as one of the Chicago team, but failing to appear in time to bat on the second day, P. Williamson was substituted in his place. No fewer than eight of the Chicago team took turns in bowling, J. G. Davis and J. Cummings, who were the most successful, each taking three wickets at the same cost of runs. The fielding of the home team was for the most part good, but catches missed by S. Dixon and J. Cummings contributed materially to the visitors' total. The home team, in their first inning, made a total of 74, a large proportion of which were byes and leg byes. F. S. Beddow, who went in first, gave an excellent exhibition of sound defence, and for two hours and seventeen minutes defied the efforts of the visiting bowlers, and was not out at the conclusion of the inning, with 17 to his credit. Davis also batted in capital style for 16, being the only one able to make a stand with Beddow. Hill went on to bowl at the finish of this inning, and secured the last three wickets in his fourth over for no runs. Being in a minority of 221 the Chicago twelve had to follow on, and they batted better in their second inning E. R. Wilmot compiled 12 in excellent form, and S. Dixon and W. Balster showed strong defence in scoring 16 and 10, respectively, both being not out at the finish. The home team had made a total of 83 with seven wickets down, when rain caused all further play to be abandoned. V. T. Hill again did the best bowling, taking five wickets at the cost of 21 runs. GEORGIA.

Savannah.—At the Savannah Theatre Lionne Brockway was given a splendid reception when she appeared with the "1492" Co., Oct. 10. The standing room sign was hung out before the curtain went up, and Miss Brockway was presented with many baskets of flowers. After the second act Mr. Stuart, the star stepped before the curtain, and in a neat speech thanked the large audience for the manner his company was received. Coming: Wilson & Cleveland's Minstrels 17, "Remember the Maine" 19.

NEW TIVOLI MUSIC HALL.—Wily Williams had a good show last week and large houses were in order every night. Richie and Richie, Blanche Walworth, Welch and Stead, Ely and Harvey, and the burlesque "Claude Duval," were all successful. The other new faces for the week were Minnie Ross, Vera Harvey, Marjorie, Marie Henson and Margaret Holland. Major McGuire and Harry Archer are booked to open 17.

ALHAMBRA MUSIC HALL.—W. H. Trueheart's company continues to do a rushing business at this house. West and Thompson, Fisher and Wall, Ward and Raymond, Vella Henshaw, Zetta Reed, Alice Dillon, and Demaria and Orlando make up the bill. Manager Gilden is making more room in the theatre, and expects to do a large business during the encampment.

Macon.—At the Academy of Music "1492" played to fair returns Oct. 14, and will hold the boards matinee and night of 15. Al. G. Field's Minstrels came 10, 11. The usual large audience greeted them at each performance. Wilson & Cleveland's Minstrels is billed for 26. James, Kidder and Warde 27, "The Man from Mexico" 28. The house will be dark week of 17.....After the performance, 10, Al G. Field and his entire company were entertained by the local lodge of Elks. Mr. Field is a favorite in this city.

COLORADO.

Denver.—At the Tabor Grand Opera House, week of Oct. 9, "Sowing the Wind" played to packed houses. Week of 16, Herrmann the Great Co.

BROADWAY.—The house was closed last week. Week of 17, "Mistakes will Happen."

LYCEUM.—Week commencing 13, Harry Martell's Merry Makers, in "Wild Oats."

ALCAZAR WINTER GARDEN.—Week of 9, Gillihan and Delmore, Gordon Sisters, Isabel Henderson, Pearl Stanton, the Thurstons, Kalakratus, Evans and Maitland and Prof. Lazarus' orchestra. Business good.

Pueblo.—At the Grand forthcoming attractions: Hoyt's "A Milk White Flag" Oct 11, Mahara's Colored Minstrels 13, Chas. Dickson 5.....The Elks will give their annual entertainment at the Grand Opera House 21. They announce it as "A Burlesque Circus."

ILLINOIS.

Chicago.—This is Jubilee Week, and all proprietors of amusement places are especially enthusiastic in their thanks for the peace which brings jubilees and also brings an estimated 300,000 strangers into Chicago. This is the greatest occasion in Chicago since the World's Fair. There are not many changes of bills for the week. Modjeska comes to the Grand in repertory, and the stock companies make their weekly shift in the offerings. The Masonic Temple Roof Garden opens for the Winter, under Harry Earl's management, with vaudeville. The performers at the vaudeville houses, and the companies playing the popular priced circuit switch about as usual. The past seven days have been happy ones for all concerned, nearly all the box offices having long lines in front a good share of the time, and money being turned away in many cases. Two houses are reopened—the Lyceum and Clark Street Theatre.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The second week of Roland Reed's stay was devoted to the first performances of Madeline Lucette Ryley's new farce, "The Voyagers." This is a quiet sort of a comedy, with the cleverness of situation and brightness of dialogue bunched towards the end. It is mildly amusing rather than hilarious at all times, and Mr. Reed adjusts his performance in the role of Dr. Bodkin accordingly. Isadore Rush, as Agatha Bing, is perhaps at her best, and Robert Cotton was fairly good as Bodkin's artist friend, Ferrier. Modjeska's annual engagement is on. Most notable is the addition to her repertory of "Antony and Cleopatra." This will be given four performances the first week, "Mary Stuart" three, and "Macbeth" one.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—Julia Marlowe has burrowed still deeper into the hearts of Chicagoans by her "Countess Valeska," and she has always been a favorite here. Her friends discovered in her new emotional powers, which made the play interesting. Hobart Bosworth depicted the not too admirable Achen Von Londe with broad lines. Mrs. Sol Smith was in a familiar style of a role, and good as ever within its limitations. Nora Lamson made an appealing ingenue, and as for Donald Maclaren he sang the love song well. In spite of the weaknesses of the play Miss Marlowe's personality carried it through with such success that the business kept increasing from "very good" up to "S. R. O." during the week. It is given out that it establishes a record for the star. The piece is continued for the fortnight's engagement. "The Telephone Girl" follows.

MCVICKER'S.—"The Evil Eye," which savors strongly of a circus, opened in Chicago with big business and did quite well throughout the week. It is full of romping, the spectacular and the fantastic. The piece remains another week. "A Female Drummer," with Johnstone Bennett, is the next attraction.

POWERS.—"Secret Service," with its strong situations and quick action, continues to draw crowded houses. This is the fourth week of William Gillette and his company in this play of the civil war. The Sunday drama, by Welb & Wachsner's German Dramatic Company, is "Dorf und Stadt." Paula Wirth is the star.

DEARBORN.—The house has been packed every night. The stock this week presents Roland Reed's "The Woman Hater." Besides the biograph, the specialties are by James Thornton, Bonnie Thornton the Deltorellis, and Fleurette.

HOPKINS'.—"Blue Jeans" has been so popular that it is retained for Jubilee Week. It cannot do a much larger business unless an addition is built on the house. The biograph shows the launching of the Illinois and other scenes of interest. The vaudeville bill includes Belle Davis, octoroon singer; Mlle Rombella, sand picture artist; Prof. Leonidas' trained dogs and cats, W. H. Windom, the minstrel tenor, with his famous Blackstone Quartet; the Whitney Brothers, in a series of instrumental novelties, and the Kingsley Sisters, "rag time" pianists and singers of coon songs.

LINCOLN.—James A. Herne's domestic drama, "The Hearthstone," is presented by Tony Farrell, Julie Romaine, Jennie Leland and company. "The Heart of Chicago" did a good business. "An Enemy to the King" is coming next.

ALHAMBRA.—"Yon Yonson," with Ben Hendricks at the head of the cast, is here for the week succeeding "Chattanooga" which was well patronized. Next week, George W. Monroe and company.

ADELPHI.—"Daughters of the Poor," written by Scott Marble and produced by Davis & Keogh, was given its premier at Manager Barry's house 9. This is a melodrama which possesses interest, although it has the conventional villains and sub-villains, good hero and heroine and the rest. The plot is worked out with some skill. There is misery in intensely thick chunks at the outset, but this is dispelled at the end. The villains who attempt to kidnap the blind heroine are finally foiled, the heroine is rescued and the rich man marries her. The company is satisfactory, Charles M. Exler's specialty being particularly good. "Humanity" is now running. John L. Sullivan and company follow Sutton Vane's melodrama.

ACADEMY.—"A Guilty Mother" did only a fair business. "Chattanooga" is now running, to be succeeded by Hanlons' "Superba."

BIJOU.—Jule Walters and his play, which he now calls "How Hopper was Sidetracked," takes up the week, following "The Lost Paradise."

COURT THEATRE.—The stock produces "Always on Time," which follows after "The Bowery Girl."

LYCEUM.—The house reopens with changed policy, the Lorin J. Howard Company producing "Held by the Enemy." Next week it will put on "Trilby," and continue to have attractions of this character.

CLARK STREET THEATRE.—Ettinger & Dixon have concluded to tackle this house, and they open it with melodrama, at 10, 20, 30 cts. "The Victorian Cross" is the first attraction, and "Heroes of '98" the second.

MASONIC TEMPLE ROOF GARDEN.—After two weeks spent in refurbishing this house and preparing it for cold weather it is reopened for the Winter season, under the management of Harry Earl. The bill includes World's Trio, Truly Shattuck, Tom Carter, Gracey and Burnett, Gladys Van Lewis and Elliott, Loney Haskell, Fox and Foxie and the Red Hussar Orchestra. The admission remains twenty-five cents, matinees and fifty cents for evening performances. Refreshments are served at the tables, as before, although this branch is also under different management.

GREAT NORTHERN.—"Fashionable vaudeville is here to stay," Managers Salisbury and Tate continue to announce, and recent houses bear them out. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew are the features this week, in a sketch entitled "When Two Hearts Are Won." Others are Geo. and Ed Marble, Sadi, the Hichleys, John E. McWade, Willard Sims, Maude Courtney, Armanti, Casino Comedy Four, and the Seymours.

CHICAGO OPERA HOUSE.—A good bill and packed houses have gone together. This week's offering is the Four Cohans, Waterbury Bros. and Tenny, Jones, Grant and Jones, the Polo Brothers, Clarice Vance, Webb and Hasson, Elinore Sisters, Emmons-Emerson-Emmons, James McAvoy, Armstrong and O'Neill, Le Roy and Morris, Kosure and Chapiain, Charles S. Knight, Kosure Children, and Bessie Taylor.

OLYMPIC.—"Standing room only," and little of that, has been frequently the case. The current bill is headed by Felix Morris and his company, in "A Game of Cards." Others who appear are Barron's Dogs, the Three Lukens, Charley Case, O'Brien and Buckley, Baby Lund, Grant and Norton, Tom Mack, McBride and Dallen, Mlle. Chester, Pepetta and Rosetta, Layman, the Maginleys, Mathieu, Downey and Willard, and the Two Brownies.

HAYMARKET.—Crowds in plenty have been the recent rule. This week the following appear: Joseph Hart, Carrie De Mar, M. Rudinoff, Brothers Damm, Charles T. Aldrich, Burke, Andrus and Frisco, Ethel Levey, Lavender and Thompson, Valmore, Cunningham and Fagan, Harry Steele, the Connors Lalley Brothers, Pat Shea, Clifford and O'Dell, Mabelle Francisca and Santoro and Marlowe.

SAM T. JACK'S.—Miaco's City Club Co. has been highly successful for one week, and will put in another. The burlesques are "A Wild Night in Washington" and "The Divorce Court."

GAIETY.—Gus Hill's Vanity Fair Burlesque Co. and Miner & Van's company did fairly well.

SAVOY.—Rayman's Fat Women's Burlesquers is the current attraction.

CLARK STREET MUSEUM.—The tiny Ormsby Twins, weighing together 13lb at birth, and 2lb now, at two months, are the features. Walker's Colored Comedians and the Midway dancers are also to be seen.

WHITE'S LONDON MUSEE.—The following are booked at this house: Weeping Willow, Deborah, Circassian; New York Dutch Tattooer, the cake walk, war views and Midway dancers.

GOSSIP.—Brooke's Chicago Marine Band will give its Sunday afternoon concerts this Winter at the Grand instead of the Great Northern. The season opens Nov. 6.....Robert G. Ingersoll delivered his new lecture on "Superstition" at the Columbia, 16, under Harry G. Sommers' management.

Decatur.—At the Powers Grand, "A Pair of Jacks" Oct. 10, and "O'Hooligan's Wedding" 13, drew fairly good houses. Coming: "Heart of the Klondyke" 14, Murray and Mack 21, "My Friend From India" 28, "Humanity" 24, "Shantytown" 26, "A Guilty Mother" 28, "Blue Jacket" 31.

Bloomington.—At the Grand Opera House Weber & Fields' "Con-Curers" played to a good house Oct. 11. Ward and Vokes, in "The Governors," pleased a large and appreciative audience 13. Bookings: "Heart of the Klondyke" 17, "My Friend from India" 21, "Humanity" 25, Patricolo Concert Co. 28.

MISSOURI.

St. Louis.—Business last week was very good. The offerings were popular and the weather cool and inviting for theatregoing, hence the houses were well patronized.

OLYMPIC.—Nat C. Goodwin and Maxine Elliott, in "Nathan Hale," played to good business last week. The play, while not winning very favorable comments for its plot, was earnest and brimful of patriotism. The cast included, besides Miss Elliott and Mr. Goodwin, Messrs. Ingersoll, Oberle, O'Brien, Hall, Budd, and Misses Gertrude Elliott, Hattie Russell and Estelle Mortimer. Saturday night "An American Citizen" was presented. This week Ward and Vokes, in "The Governors," are here.

CENTURY.—Business has been very good here with Willie Collier, in "The Man from Mexico" as the attraction. It is a favorite and always makes money in St. Louis. This week Henry Miller is playing in "The Master," "A Marriage of Convenience" and "Heartsease."

COLUMBIA.—The Columbia offered a clever vaudeville bill last week, and it drew well. Harry Lee, in his impersonations, was featured. The other turns with one or two exceptions, were above the average. They were: Troubadour Trio, Marvelous Seymours, Olivette, John McWade, Jess Dandy, Mauds Courtney and Patti Armanti. This week the bill is: Pauline Hall, Henry Lee, Hugh Stanton, Constantine Sisters, Jess Dandy, Carr and McCloud, Wells and Loretto, and Ford and Francis.

GRAND.—The stock company did unusually last week in "A Social High Wayman." The piece was selected in furtherance of the manager's policy of giving successful plays never before seen at popular prices. The vaudeville was: Mason Mitchell, Annie St. Tel Forman and Howlett, Rehraas and Cole, and the biograph. This week the comedy, "Charley's Aunt," is on and drawing well. The vaudeville includes: Hawthorne Sisters, Raymond Musical Trio, Annie Suits, Kimball and Donovan, and the biograph.

IMPERIAL.—"Richard III" was given an ambitious production last week, which was deservedly well patronized.

HAVLIN'S.—"A Bunch of Keys" pleased the regular patrons of the house, who attended in good numbers last week. It was brought well up to date. This week "The Heart of Chicago" is here.

STANDARD.—"Vanity Fair" was here last week and gave, in Standard dialect, a warm show. It consisted of the two burlesques, "A Winter Carnival" and "Creme de Menthe." The vaudeville was good. This week, Clark Bros.' Royal Burlesquers. Next week Weber & Fields' "Pousse Cafe" Co. will be here.

NEWS.—Guy Lindsay and his pupils gave "Pygmalion and Galatea" at the Fourteenth Street night of Oct. 10. A farce, "Off the Stage," was also presented.....Miaco City Club's engagement two weeks ago, at the Standard resulted in an active exchange of courtesies. Mr. Miaco banqueted the entire company at Faust's one evening. Marsers Dick Burke and J. Donegan, of the house's management, were guests of honor. The result was that Saturday night Mr. Miaco was called before the curtain by Mr. Burke, who presented him, in behalf of himself and Mr. Donegan, with an elegant umbrella and cane.

Kansas City.—Henry Miller came Oct. 13, for three nights and a matinee, to big business. The shows presented were "Heartsease," "The Master" and "A Marriage of Convenience." Both Mr. Miller and his very excellent company were cordially received. On the opening night the end of the third act of "Heartsease" received seven curtain calls. All the plays were carefully put on. It was Mr. Miller's first appearance here since he has been starring, and if the just welcome accorded him is any sign, he can be sure of a permanent place in the hearts of local playgoers. His clever company now includes Arthur Elliott, C. Leslie Allen, Chas. B. Welles, Mabel Bert, Margaret Dale, Ellen Mortimer, and Laura Clement. The house will be dark until 24, when "The Old Coat" comes for a week.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Last week the Kelley & Mason Co., in "Who Is Who," had big Sunday business and a continuance of fair attendance throughout the week. Bert St. John plays the part formerly filled by Joe Kelly. Al. Mason, Abie Willard, Hallie Addis and the Whitney Sisters all do good work. This week Primrose & Dockstader's Minstrels and the week following Ward and Vokes, in their hit of last season "The Govenors."

ORPHEUM.—Sunday's business broke the record at this house last week, and business was good at all the other performances. John C. Rice and Sallie Cohen, in their excellent sketch, "Our Honeymoon," were easily the favorites. It is one of the best sketches we have ever had here, both Mr. Rice and Miss Cohen doing good work. Others were: Chas. Baron and his dogs in a funny act, Old Time "Billy Carter" and his banjo, Lew Rose, warbler and parodist; the Three Little Japs, in their acrobatic act; Countess Von Hatzfeldt in her songs, the Garnellas in their kid specialty, De Hollis and Valora in an amusing juggling act, and De Vaney and Allen in an old time black face turn. This week: The Tow-Zoon-In Arabs, Favor and St. Clair, Hines and Remington, Pianka, Eckert and Berg, the Three Barretts, and Nellie Maguire.

GILLIS OPERA HOUSE.—Commencing 16 and continuing four nights, Rusco & Holland's Big Minstrel Show comes. The week of 23, Davis & Keogh's "Daughters of the Poor."

NEWMARKET.—Alice Welles, Mr. Buckenberger, Marie Elmore, Prof. Hibbard, Tom Fey, Florence La Borde, John Mylie and Dollie Vernon. Business good.

CLIPPERINES.—Manager Judah and family enjoyed a week's fishing trip up North last week. Meyerfeldt, president of the Orpheum circuit, was in the city last week.....Prof. Ed. Doherty has purchased stock from the Bartholomew and La Pearl Shows. He will open at Keith's, New York City, with his dogs 24.....J. Strawn De Silva, who has been giving a series of readings in this country and Old Mexico for the last three years, has been appointed treasurer of the Coates Opera House, a position which he held eight or nine seasons ago.....C. A. Hibbard, wire walker, closed with McMahon's Circus at Carbondale, Kan. He will organize a specialty company here, under the name of Hibbard's Trans-Atlantic Star Specialty Co., and will start out in a couple of weeks.....Prof. Bert Prince and Frank Vogt start out from here this week on a trip around the world.....Howard and Alton passed through here last week en route to St. Louis.....J. H. Hingston and Harry Haley, of this city, have opened a local Lyceum Bureau.....Prof. John Behr and Ella Backus Behr have returned to the city. Prof. Behr will once more conduct the Kansas City Symphony Orchestra, and Mrs. Behr will continue her concert work.

St. Joseph.—At Tootle's Theatre Hanlon's "Superba" packed the house Oct. 10-11. Modjeska had good business 13, and "A Milk White Flag" drew well 14. Primrose & Dockstader's Minstrels had big matinee opening 15, and the "S. R. O." sign is out for night performance. Clay Clement comes 18, Sousa's Band 31.

CRAWFORD'S THEATRE.—"Ole Olson" stood them up in all parts of the house 14. "A Bunch of Keys" is due 21, and Davis and Busby's U. T. C. 22.

WAGNER'S WONDERLAND.—Big business was the rule at every performance last week. Ahern and Patrick, old time favorites here, headed the bill, made a decided hit and are retained for another week. For week of 17 the stock company will produce "Unknown," and the new faces in specialties are Ella Carlington and Harry Castle.

Springfield.—At the Baldwin Theatre, night of Oct. 10, Clay Clement, in "A Southern Gentleman," played to good business. Richard & Pringle's Minstrels gave an excellent performance, to packed house, 14. "Ole Olson" is booked for 22, Evelyn Gordon Co., in repertory, at popular prices, 24-29.

TEXAS.

Galveston.—At the Grand Opera House Jules Grau's Comic Opera Co. closed a week's engagement Oct. 9, to excellent business. Chas. E. Blaney's "A Boy Wanted" Co., after a week's lay off here on account of having to cancel New Orleans, La., opened to the largest house of the season 10. The performance was most enthusiastically received. The posing of Hope Booth is claimed to be the most artistic ever witnessed in this house. Eva Tanguay and Hope Booth joined the company here.

NEMEYER'S MASCOT THEATRE.—Last week: Joe Fox and Dashington Carroll, Faedora, Ethel Forrest Alvin, Mell Reilly, Bert Luke, Chas. Gates, Jno. R. Scanlan, J. Sprague and May Smith. The stock presented the drama "A Son's Devotion." Manager Niemeyer is making several alterations which will add greatly to the appearance of the house. Business continues good.

BANK EXCHANGE THEATRE.—Last week the evening entertainment opened with Tom Kelly's Comedy Statue Blanche. Lizzie Mitchell, Mme Rinaldi, Daisy Gordon, Tom Kelly, Rose Glenn, Minnie Marion, Grace Hartland, Pete Elma, Joe Irving, Julia Long and M. Carpenter. Business good.

San Antonio.—At the Grand Opera House, Oct. 11, 12, matinee 12, "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Grau's Opera Co., for one week, opening 17.

WASHINGTON THEATRE.—People: Geo. S. De Haven, Ella Howard, Ella Ashton, Minnie Hanson, John Bragg, H. Barnes, E. L. Craig, Minnie Harrison, Madge Mack and Rose Durran. Business very satisfactory.

Austin.—Peter's Comedy Co. opened a week's success at Hancock's Oct. 3. Their run was good, putting on a list of comedies full of fun and keeping the house in a roar of laughter for a week. Everything was up to date and it is only regretted that they cannot stay with us longer. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be here 18. "Down in Dixie" is coming.

CANADA.

Montreal.—During half of the week just passed considerable rain fell, and the weather was disagreeably cold, but notwithstanding this there was no great falling off at the houses opened. It cannot be said that the week's programme was an artistic success, the dramas offered at both the Queen's and Francais being not up to the usual standard. "The Girl from Paris" is booked for the Academy for week beginning Oct. 17, and not for 10-15, as previously stated. "Jack and the Beanstalk" follows week of 24.

FRANCAIS.—The house stock made the most of "Mr. Potter of Texas," 10-15. Mr. Potter was fairly well delineated by Hallet Thompson, as was Ida Potter by Charlotte Dean, and Lord Lincoln by Walton Townsend. A word of praise is due Esther Moore for her Lady Vaughan. The vaudeville: Vermette and Dion, Francelli and Lewis and Lucien and Belle. "For Fair Virginia" and Ranza and Arno, 17-22.

QUEEN'S.—"The Deacon's Daughter" 10-12, by Kathrine Robertson, fell short of the presentation last season by the late Lillian Kennedy. "She Could Not Marry Three," by the same people, was produced 13-15. In this there was some good character work by Messrs. Kennedy and Boone. The attendance here is gradually swelling, and Manager Sparrow is taking great pains to please. During past week the intermissions were enlivened in the parlors by 'cello solos by Louis Chaubaneau. "Nancy Hanks" 17-22.

ROYAL.—The entertainment supplied by Would, Garnella and Mack, under the name of "Town Topics," was clean and wholesome, and its drawing powers were excellent. Roeber-Crane Co. comes 17. Representative Le Claire states that Manager J. B. Sparrow's burlesques will have only those of the very cleanest description at this resort. Mr. Le Claire intimates that the season will be a burlesque one, interspersed occasionally with drama or farce comedy.

SOHMER PARK.—This place is now snugly closed in. The bill on Sunday, 16: Show by the "Town Topics" Co.

NOTES.—The Francais looked exceedingly attractive on 13, when the members of the National A. A. A. (champions of the lacrosse arena) attended.....An orchestral arrangement by Leader Geo. Marshall entitled "A Trip to New York," was well received during the week.... There will be a huge entertainment in the Windsor Hall 20-21, in which leading city talent will participate, in aid of the Infants' Home.

Toronto.—At the Grand Opera House, Oct. 10-12, "The Girl from Paris" came to good business. Julia Arthur, in "A Lady of Quality," came to a large advance sale 13-15. Week of 17 the house will be dark.

TORONTO OPERA HOUSE.—Joe Ott, "In Looking for Trouble," had a very good business 10-15. Lewis Morrison in "Faust," 17-22.

PRINCESS THEATRE.—The Cummings Stock Co., in "Trilby," put up a first class performance last week to very large houses. Week of 17, "Gloriana."

AUDITORIUM.—"The Darktown Swells" did fairly good business last week.

MASSEY MUSIC HALL.—The Seidl Orchestra, under the direction of Herr Schmitt, assisted by Sara Anderson, appears here under the patronage of his Hon. the Lieutenant Governor and Miss Mowat.

THE MUTUAL RINK.—"The Wheelmen Burlesque Circus" promises to put up a good amateur show.

London.—At the Grand, week of Oct. 10, five different companies appeared, and good business was had by all. Julia Arthur, in "A Lady of Quality" 10, made her second visit to London. "Side Tracked" 11, packed both galleries. "A Female Drummer" 12, and "A Girl from Paris," 13, both drew splendid houses. "What Happened to Jones" (Canadian company) had two large houses 15. Booked: Joe Ott 18, John L. Sullivan 22.....Vella McLeod, who has been playing Juno Joyce, in "A Bachelor's Honeymoon," has been succeeded by Edith Atherton. Mrs. McLeod, who controls the company, will still remain with the show in a managerial capacity.

WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee.—At the Alhambra Theatre strong vaudeville attractions drew very well all last week. The opening night's business was excellent. Leading features: Shonert and Governale, Margaret Ferguson, Farron, Crescent Comedy Four, Flood Bros. Next week, Hanlons' "Superba." The show bids fair to break the record of the house.

BIJOU THEATRE.—"What Happened to Jones?" had good houses all last week. Geo. C. Boniface and Anna Belmont the favorites. Next week, "The Commodore," followed by "The Evil Eye."

DAVIDSON THEATRE.—"Men and Women," by the Salisbury Stock Co., drew full houses last week. Miss Welch, a prominent society woman of St. Louis, was in the cast last week. Week of 16, the stock company presents "Alabama." Sunday, 23, only, special matinee and night, "The Ironmaster." Week of 30, Julia Marlowe, in "Countess Valeska."

TROCADERO THEATRE.—Business still continues first class. People for week 16: Maddox and Beach, Carlton and Terry, the Deagons, Odell and Perry, Ben Mowatt Trio, Willis Clark, Dick Brown, Baroness van Tilsen, Lottie Swan, Helen Clare, Cora Swan, Etta Carlisle, Minnie Young, Miss Le Roy, living pictures and Chas. Reese's Burlesque Bruisers.

PABST THEATRE.—The stock company played to good houses in "City and Village" and "Under Treatment" two performances past week. Sunday, 16, "Helga's Hochzeit;" Tue day, 18, Burton Holmes' lectures; Wednesday, 19, the stock company "Fugendfreade."

CHAS. HORWITZ of St. Louis, spent past week with friends in this city.....Chas. K. Harris, popular song writer of this city, left Thursday on an Eastern trip.

Eau Claire.—"Yon Yonson" pleased a large audience Oct. 13. "The Commodore" did good business 14. Coming: Wm. Owen 18-20, John Dillon 21, Stetson's "Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. 25.

CONNECTICUT.

New Haven.—With the exception of the continuous houses theatricals were a little quiet in this city last week, James O'Neill being the only legitimate attraction playing this city during that period. The business done at the two theatres devoted to continuous vaudeville has been eminently satisfactory, and the managements are correspondingly happy.

HYPERION.—With the exception of local entertainments this house was dark all the week except Oct. 15, when James O'Neill and company presented "When Greek Meets Greek" to fair returns. Coming: J. K. Hackett and company, under the management of Daniel Frohman, in "The Tree of Knowledge" 20; Klaw & Erlanger's "Jack and the Beanstalk" 21, "A Brace of Partridges," under the management of Charles Frohman, 22.

FOLI'S WONDERLAND THEATRE.—Packed to the doors was last week's result here. This week: Servais Le Roy, Mlle. Le Roy, Lillian Greevie, William Friend, Mlle. Olion, Emma Krause, Margaret Ross, the Dutch Fickaninnies, Howley and Leslie, Armstrong Brothers, Harding and Ah Sid, and Hady Lessik and the biograph.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Business here showed a decided improvement, and last week was entirely satisfactory. This week: The Valdis Sisters, Hilda Thomas and Frank Barry, Ward and Curran, Ralnlle, Bicknell Sisters, De Graf, De Maros, with his trained pony and baboon; Vivian De Witt, Harry Hoare and Master Condon.

Hartford.—Week of Oct. 10 was generally dull, with no apparent reason. The weather was good, there being only one rainy night.

PARSON'S.—"Jack and the Beanstalk" was as great a favorite as last season. Isham's Octoroons, who appeared here 11, 12, were below the standard of bookings for this house, and did poor business. Next week the offerings should draw good houses. First comes Hoyt's "A Stranger in New York," for two nights and matinee, 18, 19; "A Brace of Partridges" 21, James K. Hackett and the Lyceum Stock Company 22, presenting "The Tree of Knowledge." Waite Opera Company will round out the month with daily matinees.

OPERA HOUSE.—"Cuba's Vow" 13-15, and David Higgins, in "At Piney Ridge," 10-12, had business that was barely satisfactory. "At Piney Ridge" was deserving of full houses as it was given by a company above the average. "The Butterfly Burlesquers" 17-19, "Sporty Widows" Extravaganza Co. 20, "Cumberland, '61," at advanced prices, 2 & 3.

NASH'S GAIETY continues to hold its own with its excellent vaudeville bill.

NOTES.—The Hartford Opera House staff for the season of 1898-99 is as follows: H. H. Jennings and E. M. Graves, proprietors and managers; Florence M. Loomis, treasurer; H. H. Jennings Jr., advance agent; Ernest B. Mitchell chief usher; G. G. Fuller, assistant advance agent; George Ladlin, stage carpenter; Albert Hopeman, properties; George Lamb, bill poster; Frank Cowley, office.....William and Henry Terries, of London, sons of the late William Terriss, were guests at the home of William B. Smith, of the Frohman forces, over Sunday.....Wm. P. Cahill, formerly of Jacques and Poli's houses, Waterbury, is now connected with the staff of the Hartford Opera House.

Waterbury.—The Waite Comedy Co. played a most successful week at the Jacques, Oct. 10-16. Alfred Kelcey was well received, pleasing crowded houses at every performance. The Jacques has been most successful this season as a low priced house, the S. R. O. sign being called into play several times since the opening. Bookings: The Rays, in "A Hot Old Time," 21-22; "The Wheel of Fortune" 24-26, Vaudeville 27-29, "Dewey's Reception in McFadden's Alley" 31-Nov. 2.

POLI'S THEATRE.—Business appears to be first class. "John Martin's Secret" 12, had good business, and Jas. O'Neill, in his new play, "When Greek Meets Greek," was welcomed by a large audience. Mr. O'Neill is to return later in the month, when he intends to put on "Monte Cristo," which has always been a great drawing card in this place. To arrive: "Cumberland '61" 22, "The Tree of Knowledge" 24, May Irwin 26, Chauncey Olcott 28, Jas. O'Neill 31, Robert Mantell Nov. 2, "The Heart of Maryland" 3. "Lost, Strayed or Stolen," booked for Oct. 15, canceled.

Miscellaneous.

CLIFF W. GRANT writes: "My 'Streets of Cairo' Oriental Show is still playing to standing room only everywhere we pitch our immense spread of canvas. We have been playing street fairs in Ohio for the past five weeks. In Warren, O., last week, we showed to twenty thousand people in three days. My company is made up as follows: Two Arabian sword fighters, two Grecian musicians, troupe of six Japs, two Hindoo fakirs, ten Algerian dancing girls, one camel, one elephant, the cochese coochee dancing bear, Prof. Sickling's troupe of dogs, and a band of twelve pieces. I am preparing to make a business trip to New York, after which I will start South, having signed contracts for six weeks in Havana, Cuba. A good portion of my present company have signed with me for next season, for my Northwestern trip."

AT BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Sept. 10, Charles E. White, Special Pinkerton Detective and Manager of Commissary Department, with Pawnee Bill's Wild West, was presented with a gold hunting-case watch and an umbrella by the members of that organization. Mr. White retiring to assume the management of Gus Hill's "McFadden's Row of Flats" co. H. G. Willson made the presentation speech and was applauded by the entire company of two hundred people. This was Mr. White's third season with Major Lillie.

MADISON'S

Budget is published "right on the spot." I am known as a Vaudeville writer par excellence, and my best work goes right into the Budget. It is published every three months, and costs one dollar per copy. The second number is just out and is the greatest aid ever offered to performers looking for "new stuff." It contains six of my famous parodies, among them being "Get Your Money's Worth" "Just Behind the Times" and "The Warmest Baby in the Bunch" (Who's the Biggest Hero in the Bunch). Madison's

BUDGET

Contains additionally, a brand new monologue that is really up to date and funny; also a magnificent assortment of bright jokes, gags and stories, suitable for all kinds of sketch teams. Remember, all the above for One Dollar, and your money cheerfully returned if not absolutely satisfied. Read what others think of the Budget—"More than pleased with Budget No. 2 We have made a pronounced hit with your parody, 'Warmest Baby in the Bunch,' and take on an average two bows and encores every night, as we finish our sketch with it. Wishing you your deserved success, we remain," Christie and Delmon (Columbia Theatre, Minneapolis, Oct 12, 1898).

"BEST EVER"

Writes Frank O. French. Madison's Budget is also endorsed by Tony Pastor, Dick and Alice McAvoy, Tom McIntosh, Alf. Gibson, Rochefort and May, Fred Niblo, Claude Alvienne, Guy Bros.' Minstrels, Murray and Mack, Harry Shunk, the Rosars, Jack Symonds, Wm. J. Wells and scores of others. Send for Budget, No 2 today. For any ambitious performer it is the greatest dollar's worth on earth. JAMES MADISON, 134 East 79th St, New York.

GOOD NEWS Madison's Mammoth Monologue—now ready—will be sold at the standard price of one dollar. It contains an elegant solution of "real fun," and is just the thing for single turn performers. Guaranteed satisfactory by the "old reliable." JAMES MADISON, 134 East 79th Street, New York.

As CLANCY,
With "McSORLEY'S TWINS."

JOHN W. EARLY,

The Great Baritone, with Haverly's Minstrels, says he has been closing the first part (following ten singers) with the beautiful ballad by FRED J. HAMILL, entitled

MY MARY DEAR,

AND SAYS IT NEVER FAILS TO GET HIM A BIG RECALL.

Miss Truly Shattuck,

WITH HURTIG & SEAMON'S ROWERY BURLESQUERS, also writes she is meeting with splendid success singing

MY MARY DEAR.

COL. J. H. HAVERLY, speaking of the song while in Chicago, with his company, said: "It takes one back to the old Frank Howard days. It's beautiful, and a typical minstrel ballad."
All ballad singers using this song are requested to send their names, and any first part or ballad singer that has not received a copy, send at once to

OLYMPIA MUSIC CO., 259 Wabash Av., Chicago.

In order to be able to turn out a high class and uniformly excellent line of posters a printing house must have GOOD ARTISTS. They must be first class men, experienced and devoted to their art, and they must understand the peculiar treatment that a poster requires. Without good artists no printing office can make good posters.
But, while artists are essential, there are other requirements just as important. It is absolutely necessary to have fine new modern presses. The pressmen also must be artists, and the whole working force, from the superintendents and heads of departments down to the stone handlers, must have a tremendous capacity for "taking pains."

THE DONALDSON LITHO. CO.

Has fine artists, modern equipment, splendid pressmen and the most careful and experienced force of hands in America. This is one of the reasons that

JUST A FEW WORDS ABOUT BERGEN BEACH

RESIDENCE OF JAS. McINTYRE, OF McINTYRE & HEATH, AT BERGEN BEACH.

Nearly all members of the profession look forward to the time when they shall own a home of their own. We wish to point out to you why it would be to your advantage to consider buying Lots at Bergen Beach. Five years ago we bought this property, consisting of about 300 acres on the shores of Jamaica Bay. Since that time we have spent nearly half a million dollars in improving and beautifying it, and today it is one of the handsomest and most accessible places within the boundaries of Greater New York. In less than one hour you can reach Bergen Beach from N. Y. end of Brooklyn Bridge, or from any ferry by trolley cars, without change, for one fare, five cents. Cars run all night and all the year round, so that it is possible to play at any N. Y. or Brooklyn Theatre and be home at a reasonable time.

Good Fishing, Boating, Bathing and Wheeling. While the residence portion of the property is as quiet and excluded as could be desired, and is carefully restricted, the near proximity of the board walk, with its Band Concerts, well appointed Theatre, and vaudeville performances on the Pier, prevent the place ever getting tiresome and dull, and this point should be well considered by professionals seeking a home. After a few weeks most suburban places become so dull that you are only too glad to get away from them.

That lots bought here will constantly increase in value is a certainty. As part of the water front of the great City of New York, its future is beyond question. That Bergen Beach is appreciated as a home site by those connected with the theatrical profession is shown by the fact that the following well known performers have purchased lots, and have either built or intend building homes here:

JAMES McINTYRE (Of McIntyre and Heath), RICHARD G. KNOWLES, SHERIDAN and FORREST,

MAZUZ and MAZETTE, THE BROWNINGS, HARRY DEAVES and Others.

We have only a small number of the lots left, and we want to sell them to professionals because they have intelligence enough to appreciate the place, and because we understand them and they understand us. THEREFORE, to PROFESSIONALS ONLY we make this Special offer:

We will sell one or more lots for $10 down and ONE DOLLAR A WEEK until paid for. Price of lots $200 up. Titles guaranteed by the N. Y. Title Guarantee Co. Building loans procured for lot owners wishing to build. Don't miss this opportunity of owning a home of your own in N. Y. City. If you cannot get out to Bergen Beach let us select you one or more good lots. Call or write for further particulars.

"NOTHING TOO LARGE OR TOO SMALL FOR US."

NEW SONGS That are really new—new in idea, expression and theme—are those taught free at D. MULLER'S NEW BUREAU, 47 W. Twenty-eighth Street. The songs are too numerous to mention the entire list. A few of them are:

"There's No One Too Poor to Be Kind."
"So Frenchy and So Nice" (rather naughty).
"If You Want to Go, Ma Honey, Why You Can" (Coon).
"The New Little Baby Upstairs" (not exactly proper).
"I Never Can Love You Again" (Great).

Most of our songs are too good to mail. The best way to get them is to come to the office for them. We want to get acquainted with you anyhow. If you are out of town write for our songs and our "chatty" catalogue. But if you are in town call at the office. It has been fitted up for your comfort and convenience. Make it your headquarters. A pianist is constantly there.

NOTICE TO MANAGERS AND PERFORMERS.

THE MONTE CARLO MILLIONAIRES,

SIM WILLIAMS AND ADAMS JOE

In Their New Act, "THE EBONY SWELLS,"

ARE WITH THE BRYANT & WATSON AUSTRALIAN BEAUTIES CO., AND THE PRESS NOTICES WILL INFORM YOU HOW WE ARE GETTING ALONG.

MANAGERS NOTICE! We have been informed that two persons calling themselves Williams and Adams engaged some performers, leading them to believe they were Williams and Adams, "The Monte Carlo Millionaires;" took them to Portland, Maine, week of Sept. 12, beat them out of their salary, also beating many of the people of the town. WE KNOW NOTHING ABOUT THESE PEOPLE, and we will give any assistance towards prosecuting them if any of the people that were beat can call them to account. WILLIAMS AND ADAMS will notify managers and performers in due time through THE CLIPPER when we take out our own company. A few of the many notices we have received; limited space forbids us putting them all in:

CINCINNATI ENQUIRER, Sept. 13: Williams and Adams are presenting ONE OF THE BEST BLACK FACE ACTS EVER SEEN AT THE PEOPLE'S. They dress the very finest, sing rag time songs as they should be sung, and dance elegantly. THEIR ACT IS A RATTLING GOOD ONE FROM START TO FINISH.

INDIANAPOLIS JOURNAL, Oct. 11: Williams and Adams, as the Ebony Swells, did the thing so naturally that there was much doubt as to their Caucasian origin.

LOUISVILLE COMMERCIAL, Oct. 4: Williams and Adams do a crackerjack black face act, THE BEST EVER SEEN IN THIS CITY. Their costumes were fine, and it was a pleasure to see such a finished and artistic specialty.

Best Wishes for success to Clifford and Huth and "A High Born Lady."

THE NOVELTY OF THE AGE,

3 THE ELECTROS 3

THE GREATEST COMEDY ELECTRICAL MUSICAL ACT EVER PRODUCED.

Opening with the greatest STORM SCENE EVER PRESENTED before the public, also the GREAT ELECTRICAL FINISH, UP TO THE TIMES witty bright and with comedy. MANAGERS WISHING TO BOOK THIS NOVELTY, ADDRESS THE ELECTROS, CHICAGO, ILL., Care AUDITORIUM HOTEL Annex.

ANDREW MACK'S SONGS,

Sung by him in his New Success,

"THE RACCED EARL,"

ARE NOW READY.

THEY ARE AS FOLLOWS:

"My Sweet Maid."

A beautiful ballad with a waltz chorus. The words full of pretty sentiment—the melody saturated with catchiness and swing.

"Mack's Lullaby."

Adreamily beautiful composition in Mr. Mack's best vein. Wondrously appealing in its melodic beauty and poetic sentiments. Lullabies have been known since Adam's day, but none more charming than this one.

"Oh! Lonely Heart."

A high class ballad for those who want a really effective concert song. Equally as good as "Oh, Promise Me," and should be in the repertoire of every ballad singer.

"If You Love as I Love."

A waltz song par excellence. Suitable for any singing act where a striking ditty is needed. Full of meat. Nothing mawkish or ultra sentimental but a good, wholesome, meritorious song.

"Little Band of Gold."

The quintessence of merit, beauty and construction in song. Breathes the spirit of love and poetry in its words, and contains a wealth of suitable expression in its melody.

"The Princess of Mulberry Bend."

The waltz song hit of the year. An irresistible melody, wedded to a strikingly original set of words. The song hit of the acts of Nellie Hawthorne, Harry Leighton, New York Trio, Bessie Gordon, Geo. H. Diamond, Geo. Gaskin, Empire Comedy 4, and many more. Get it sure.

We will send copies to REAL professional singers on receipt of card or programme, and stamps. Amateurs and counterfeits ignored. When in town, call in and see us. Always something new and suitable. Pianists always in.

HOWLEY, HAVILAND & CO. (The Hit Incubator,) 1,260-66 B'dway, New York City.

THEY ARE HATCHED!!

LOOK AT THIS BUNCH OF HITS.

"Teach Our Baby That I'm Dead," Billy Windom's Big Hit; "For Freedom and Humanity," Big Patriotic Hit; "Way Down in the Old Palmetto State," Southern Ballad; "Meet Me On the Other Shore," a Pronounced Success; "Kiss and Say Good Night," A Sure Winner; "After the Struggle's O'er," Patriotic Waltz Song, by E. Nattes; "Nora Nolan," Waltz Refrain, by Nestor and Bennett; sung with tremendous success by Lizzie B. Raymond, Annie Hart, Maud Raymond, Burns and Nina, and Mae Raymond. "You're Worn Out Face Too Long," Rag Chorus, by Burgheim and Bennett, sung with big success by Williams and Walker, Williamson and Stone, Cole and Johnson, the Grants, Montgomery and Stone; also sung in Blaney's Female Drummer Co., May Howard's Co., Gus Hill's Tammany Tigers Co., Hanson and Drew of McDoodle's Flat's Company.

NEW INSTRUMENTAL.

"White House," March Two Step, by Sam Bennett; "Our Army and Navy Forever," Two Step, by Sam Bennett. Professionals kindly enclose 10c. with card or programme for the orchestra parts of any of the above songs. Orchestra leaders kindly enclose 10c for orchestra parts of any of the instrumental pieces. Full band parts can be obtained from Carl Fisher, 4th Ave., New York City. When in Chicago or New York, kindly call at our professional parlors, where we have a pianist in attendance who will be pleased to teach any of our songs to you. Thanking you one and all for past favors, we remain yours,

"MISSING FROM THE RANKS,"

The strongest song story of many seasons, and an unqualified winner for verses of pathetic descriptive ballads, is now ready, as are also "A Broken Vow—A Blighted Life," "Could I But Dream of Her Again," "Good Night, Little Shoes," "My Love For You Will Live Forever," "He Was A Friend Worth Having," and "I've Come to Say Farewell, Sweetheart," all the above being the compositions of

CHARLES MILLER

(And Music by JAS. P. DEGNAN),

The well known composer of "When Your Love Grows Cold," etc. Real professional singers can get them for card or programme, and stamp. Counterfeits and amateurs ignored. When in town, come in and look over our other new ones.

Comparing the sizes of toilet soaps with Ivory Soap, the Ivory Soap should cost four times as much as the toilet soaps. It is exactly the reverse, and when you buy Ivory Soap you pay about one-fourth as much for it.

The best people use Ivory Soap for their toilet and bath; because of its purity, the effect upon the skin is beneficial.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.
